FARM REVIVAL PLAN OFFERED BY ROOSEVELT

U. S. Board's Deals Are Hit.

G. O. P. TARIFF IS UNDER FIRE

Crowd of 10,000 Cheers Speech At Topeka.

The full text of Gov. Roosevelt's address will be found on page 8.

State Capitol, Topeka, Kans., Sept. 14 (A.P.).—Under a blazing Kansas sun, Franklin D. Roosevelt today outlined a program calling for "national planning in agriculture," and declared the Republican administrations in which President Hoover has participated have "failed utterly" in farm relief.

The Democratic presidential nominee coupled with the program several emergency measures and was applauded when he proposed that "the speculative activities of the Farm Board must and shall come to an end."

The crowd cheered enthusiastically as he appeared on the platform, and his address was frequently interrupted by applause and shouts as he spoke slowly and deliberately.

Raps G. O. P. Tariffs.

Six points upon which he said most of the "reasonable leaders" of agriculture had agreed in their efforts to "restore agriculture to economic equality with other industries within the United States" were cheered by the crowd. He said the "claim that the Republican discriminatory tariff methods are a benefit to the farmer is a cynical and pitiless fraud," and that more Republican tariffs might be expected from "the present Republican leadership."

Mr. Roosevelt spoke from a platform erected atop the steps of the State Capitol to a crowd estimated at more than 10,000 persons.

As permanent steps in his program, the New York Governor proposed:

Reorganization of the Agricultural Department to supply the administrative machinery needed to build a program of national planning.

Planning in Agriculture.

Formulation of a definite policy looking to the planned use of land, including mapping and classification of land to determine which is best suited for agricultural production and which for trees.

National leadership in the reduction and more equitable distribution of taxes, including a national movement to reorganize local government to direct the elimination of some of the tax burden from farms.

His emergency proposals called for refinancing farm mortgages "to relieve the burden of excessive interest charges and the grim threat of foreclosure."

"Specifically," he said, "I am prepared to insist that Federal credit be extended to banks, insurance or loan companies, or other corporations or individuals which hold farm mortgages among their assets—but that these credits must be made on the

IN LEAD

RICHARD B. RUSSELL, JR., OF GEORGIA.

CRISP FACING 2-TO-1 DEFEAT BY RUSSELL

Young Governor of Georgia Held Sure Victor in Race for Senate.

Atlanta, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—Georgia's country precincts tonight had piled up a large unofficial lead for Gov. Richard B. Russell, jr., over his opponent for the senatorial nomination, Representative Charles R. Crisp.

On the face of incomplete returns from 118 counties in today's Democratic primary, Russell had 214 unit votes and Crisp 100.

There are 159 counties in the State and under the Georgia county unit system 206 of the total 410 unit votes are necessary for nomination.

Indication that the 34-year-old executive's lead would be increased with reports from the larger cities, where the polls remained open until 7 o'clock, were given by the first returns in Fulton County (Atlanta) Here 26 out of 60 precincts gave Russell a popular vote of 7,570 against 3,470 for Crisp.

Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture, appeared to be sweeping the State for the governor's nomination in a seven-cornered contest after 110 counties had made unofficial reports.

Talmadge then had 230 unit votes while Abit Nix, an attorney of Athens, was his nearest rival with 32.

Thomas W. Hardwick, former governor and former United States senator, was running third with 16 unit votes. John N. Holder had 10, and John I. Kelley and H. B. Edwards 4 each. Hoke O'Kelley, the seventh candidate, was leading in no counties at this stage of the compilation.

J. Ralston Cargill, of Columbus, had a substantial lead over B. T. Castellow, of Cuthbert, for Congress from the Third District.

Scattered returns from the Sixth Congressional District gave Carl Vinson, incumbent, a lead over Judge R. Earlcamp, of Dublin. Vinson is chairman of the House naval affairs committee.

German and Dutch Girls In Try to Swim Channel

Cape Gris Nez, France, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—A German girl, Loe Koch, and a Dutch girl, F. Brouwer, started simultaneously tonight to swim the English Channel.

It was the Brouwer girl's second attempt. They hoped to reach Dover together.

Hutchinsons Ready To Quit Greenland

Family Cheerful, With Two Possible Outlets Open to Them.

Angmagsalik, Greenland, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—George R. Hutchinson's family and flying crew were cheerful tonight in the assurance they will not have to spend a winter on the frozen Greenland shore where their attempted transatlantic flight ended in disaster. At least two possible ways to reach civilization were open to them.

The British trawler Lord Talbot, which picked up the Hutchinson party in a rocky fjord south of here yesterday, is stopping over in this port and can take them to Reykjavik, Iceland, or to Aberdeen, Scotland.

Owners of he Lord Talbot, in Aberdeen, Scotland, said it was to arrive there in about three weeks.

The second possibility was for them to ask the Danish ship Soekongen, now within 100 miles of this port, to pick them up. Einar Mikkiesen, the Danish explorer, is aboard the vessel.

French Troop Train Plunge Kills 120 Men

Oran, Algeria, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—A troop train carrying 500 officers and members of the famous French Foreign Legion plunged into a ravine near Tlemcen today, and the Havas News Agency said probably 120 legionnaires had been killed, and another 150 seriously injured.

The train left the track in the mountainous district between Zelboun and Turenne, and plunged 250 feet to the bottom of the ravine. The

PAPEN OUSTING PLAN BLOCKED

Hindenburg Refuses to Comply With Reichstag Demand.

Berlin, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—President Paul von Hindenburg announced emphatically tonight that he intends to pay no attention to the motion of nonconfidence in the Von Papen cabinet voted by the Reichstag Monday.

The president set forth his position in a letter to Hermann Goering, National Socialist speaker of the Reichstag, who had asked him to oust the government of Chancellor Franz von Papen.

"Decisions taken by the Reichstag after presentation of a decree of dissolution are unconstitutional and hence void," said the presidential secretary in a communication to the speaker. "The president does not intend to draw any consequences from these decisions."

Nazis More Isolated.

This means, it was explained, that the aged field marshal does not expect the chancellor to resign nor to rescind the emergency decrees legalizing his program to effect economic rehabilitation and to relieve unemployment. These decrees also were voted down by the Reichstag.

Adolf Hitler's Nazis found themselves increasingly isolated in their interpretation that the nonconfidence vote was legal. This interpretation was based on the contention that the vote was taken before the chancellor had an opportunity properly to present his dissolution decree.

A meeting of the Reichstag committee on parliamentary rights was delayed for two hours while attempts were made to persuade the Nazis to surrender their contention.

National Training of Children.

The president appointed Gen. Edwin von Stuelpnagel to organize a government project to assemble children for training on a national basis and without party propaganda.

The purpose of this move is to counteract the campaigns of several political parties to absorb children into their sports clubs. Whether military training would be involved in the government program was not made clear.

After a long debate, the Reichstag committee on parliamentary rights decided to constitute itself a commission of inquiry into the entire controversy over the legality of the decree of dissolution. This action was taken with the support of the Nazis and the Communists.

Cuban Good-Will Fliers Reach Capital of Mexico

Mexico City, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—Six Cuban good-will fliers, traveling in three planes, reached Mexico City today in the course of their tour of three American capitals, Guatemala City, Mexico City and Washington.

ROME ANXIOUS AS SEA FLIERS FAIL TO ARRIVE

American Nurse Sighted at Sea, but Is Unseen Over Europe.

MAY HAVE LOST WAY IN ECLIPSE OF MOON

Girl and Two Men Started From New York Tuesday in Bold Hop.

Rome (Thursday), Sept. 15 (A.P.). Apprehension grew apace at Ciampino Airport today as dawn approached without recent word of the transatlantic plane American Nurse, which left New York bound for Rome Tuesday morning.

At 4:16 a. m. today (10:16 p. m. Wednesday, Eastern standard time) the plane had been out exactly 40 hours.

The last authentic reports of her were made by the liner France at 4:50 p. m., Greenwich time, or more than ten hours before. At that time the plane had traveled 2,800 miles at a speed of a little less than 100 miles an hour.

Some authorities felt she could last 43 hours before her gas gave out, but others placed the limit at 40 hours.

Mediterranean Sea Feared.

As the forty-first hour passed, a tired and sleepy group became tense at the airport. It was realized that at the most only an hour or two of gas remained in the craft.

There was no anxiety on the score of missing reports of progress, since the American Nurse would in any event have touched Europe in hours of darkness. The anxiety was over the possibility the ship had given out of gas in the Mediterranean area.

At 5:30 a. m. (11:30 p. m., Wednesday, Eastern standard time) daylight had come and the airport lights were extinguished at Ciampino, and welcoming authorities went to Littorio Airfield, north of Rome, where most fliers usually land in daylight hours.

Authorities held to some measure of optimism over the fact that three steamships had reported the American Nurse over the Atlantic.

Moon Eclipse Handicap.

An eclipse of the moon occurred early last evening, making the route of the fliers over the Mediterranean extremely dark, and it was believed possible they may have lost their way. Sighting of the plane would be extremely difficult in this darkness, and the plane's lack of radio eliminated any method of contact.

The report that the American Nurse had been sighted over Sardinia at 9 p. m. (3 p. m., Eastern standard time) was dispelled by information from carabinieri headquarters on three of

Mrs. Gann Says Hoover Defeat Would Be Crisis

Salem, Mass., Sept. 14 (A.P.).—Mrs. Dolly Curtis Gann, sister of Vice President Curtis, tonight told a meeting of the Essex County Women's Republican Club that to displace President Hoover "at this critical juncture would be a real calamity, not only to our own country but to the whole world."

Mrs. Gann reviewed President Hoover's career and summarized the activities of his administration, as a result of which, she said, he had become not only the leader of the United States but of the whole world.

PUPIL LIMIT PLACED FOR WESTERN HIGH

Only Those Living West of Connecticut Avenue May Enroll; Jam Averted.

After being told by Acting Superintendent of Schools Stephen E. Kramer that Western High School will be forced to operate on a half-time basis if 100 additional pupils are enrolled, the Board of Education, at its meeting yesterday, decided to limit enrollment in the school to persons living west of Connecticut avenue.

This rule has been in operation in the past, but several exceptions have been allowed. From now on, however, no exception will be countenanced, the board decided. This means that all public school students living east of Connecticut avenue will be obliged to enter schools in their own residential areas.

Dr. Kramer told the board that the present enrollment at Western is 1,800. This enrollment will permit only 75 or 100 additional pupils, he said. He reported that there is ample room in other high schools and that when the new Roosevelt High School is properly organized there should be room there also.

The assistant superintendent estimated that if enrollment in Western is limited to residents west of Con-

4 Bystanders Shot In Gangster Chase

Chicago Loop in Panic as Suspects Open Fire on Police Car.

Chicago, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—Caught in the cross-fire of a pistol fight between an automobile load of suspected robbers and pursuing police late today four men bystanders were shot down and thousands of Loop workers were thrown into panic. The battle began in front of a theater in the heart of the Loop district when an automobile police detail sought to halt a machine carrying seven men for questioning.

Sending their car through the crowded streets at terrific speed the suspects sent volley after volley of pistol slugs in the direction of the pursuing police car. The crowded thoroughfares were quickly cleared of pedestrians, who scurried to cover in stores and hallways, leaving the victims sprawled about the sidewalk.

An intervening street car gave the hoodlums opportunity to elude police. Their automobile, crashed into a light post, was found abandoned at Peoria and Taylor streets, 2 miles away on the west side.

Massie Case Reopening Held Possible by Kelley

Honolulu, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—Prosecutor John C. Kelley said today the case against four men charged with assault upon Mrs. Thalia Massie September 12, 1931, will be reopened if reports of detectives warrant.

Mrs. Massie's husband, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie; her mother, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, and two naval enlisted men were convicted and served one hour imprisonment for the slaying of a fifth man, Joseph Kahahawai, also accused of assaulting Mrs. Massie. A jury last May found them guilty of manslaughter.

PRESIDENT SEES RUIN IN BONUS; HITS GARNER FOR PASSAGE IN HOUSE

Legion Body Is Against Censure.

VOTE ON CASH IS DUE TODAY

Repeal Is Backed And Canceling Of Debts Hit.

Portland, Oreg., Sept. 14 (A.P.).—An authoritative legion source said tonight the resolutions committee of the American Legion had rejected a proposal offered by the Pennsylvania delegation censuring President Hoover for evicting the bonus marchers from Washington, D. C., by use of troops. The informant, who refused to permit the use of his name, said a milder substitute for this resolution likewise was rejected. The decision, it was said, was reached in an executive session of the committee and the members were pledged to secrecy until the resolutions committee reports tomorrow.

It was said that only one vote—that of Pennsylvania—could be mustered in the committee for the resolution. In order to bring out a minority report three votes are required.

Before the resolutions committee went into executive session, George Brown, Pennsylvania member, expressed the opinion that the "rank and file of the legionnaires present at the convention probably would pass a resolution condemning the treatment of the bonus army if given an opportunity."

Held of Great Importance.

George Howitt, of Wisconsin, chairman of the resolutions committee, said after the group meeting it was felt "that the matter was of such great importance that it should first be announced at the convention before being made public."

One of the resolutions approved by the committee would provide for a committee to cooperate with a joint congressional committee studying veteran legislation.

Full and immediate cash payment of the soldier bonus was recommended today by the legislative committee of the American Legion but debate and a vote on the subject by the annual convention was delayed until tomorrow. The committee announced it could not make a full report on all resolutions before it until then.

The legislative committee announced it had voted 21 to 9 in favor

Eviction of Bonus Army Is Branded Cossackism

Salt Lake City, Utah, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—The Utah State Federation of Labor adopted resolutions today characterizing the eviction of bonus marchers from Washington as "governmental Cossackism" and charging President Hoover with "deliberate misrepresentation" in public statements with reference to wage reductions.

It also passed a resolution advocating formation of a political bloc of organized farmers, school teachers, war veterans and labor forces.

Statement of Hoover On Payment of Bonus

The full text of President Hoover's statement on payment of the soldiers' bonus follows:

It is due to the country and to the veterans that there should be no misunderstanding of my position upon payment of the face value of the adjusted service certificates prior to maturity, as recommended in the resolutions pending before the convention at Portland. I have consistently opposed it. In public interest I must continue to oppose it.

I have the duty not alone to see that justice and a sympathetic attitude is taken by this Nation toward the 4,000,000 veterans and their families, but also to exert myself for justice to the other 21,000,000 families to whom consummation of this proposal at this time would be a calamity. Cash payment of face value of certificates today would require an appropriation from the Treasury of

ROW OVER CALLING TROOPS DWINDLES

Glassford and City Heads in Parley; Sidetrack Issue; Arms Seen, Jury Told.

An apparent truce has been agreed upon by Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police, and the District Commissioners with regard to differences as to who asked for Federal troops to quell bonus army riots here last July.

Only police business was discussed at a two-hour conference yesterday between Gen. Glassford and his superiors, it was announced. Meanwhile, another bonus aftermath was continuing with presentation of evidence before a District grand jury by the Justice Department as to the presence of dynamite and detonating apparatus in billets here of the bonus seekers.

Sergt. George L. Brown, of Rockville, Md., holder of numerous decorations for valor in the World War, testified he saw dynamite, exploding apparatus and firearms in the camp at Third street and Pennsylvania avenue. Brown was unable to testify last week, when other bonus marchers told the grand jurors of seeing firearms in the bonus camps; he was under treatment at Mount Alto Veterans Hospital.

The Rockville veteran previously has been engaged in governmental blasting operations, said Acting United States Attorney John W. Pihelly yesterday, and therefore is familiar with explosives. Brown has made affidavit to Assistant Attorney General Nugent Dodds that he saw Cites Threat Of Fiat Money.

FIRMLY RAPS PATMAN PLAN

Says Welfare of Country Must Come First.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

Warning that a new Treasury raid by the organized veterans at this time would most certainly retard business recovery and extend the tide of human suffering throughout the country, President Hoover served notice last night that he would resist such damage with all of the strength and influence at his command.

He characterized the Patman proposal, approved by the House in the last session of Congress, as "an act of moral bankruptcy," and attributed the passage of that measure directly to the "leadership of the Democratic vice presidential candidate." Without naming Speaker Garner, the President denounced the fiat money program involved in the Democratic bonus measure last session as a threat of "widespread ruin to the entire country and to every one of our citizens."

Much More to Lose.

"Let us not forget," he added, "that while we have lost much in this depression, we still have much more to lose. And our whole future may be said to depend upon early recovery."

The statement was released at the White House about three hours after the American Legion convention at Portland, Oreg., had adopted the immediate payment bonus resolution in committee.

"In my judgment, the enactment of any such proposal into legislation would be a deadly blow to the welfare of the Nation," the President said in concluding his review of the bonus fight in the last Congress. "I was elected to protect and promote the interests of all the people. As long as I am President I shall continue to do so and to oppose with all of the strength and influence at my command any demand that runs cuonter to the common welfare."

Levy Upon Whole Nation.

As in his veto message eighteen months ago rejecting the bill authorizing 50 per cent cash loans on the bonus certificates, the President acknowledged the country's obligation to those veterans who suffered actual disabilities from their war service, but beyond these just demands, he added, veteran payments become a "levy" upon the entire Nation.

"The welfare of the Nation as a whole must take precedence over the demands of any particular group."

Many former soldiers who have lent their names and influence passively

3 Are Saved By Girl When Cabman Dies

When the driver of a taxicab fell dead at the wheel of his machine yesterday afternoon, three passengers owed their escape from injury to the quick thinking of Miss Julia Judith, of 5740 Third street northwest.

Miss Judith, in company with Miss Anna M. Lappe, Mrs. C. J. Lappe and Miss Louise Lappe, all of the Third street address, hired the cab of Joseph L. McCauley, 31 years old, of 235 Fourteenth street northeast.

They asked to be driven downtown. Miss Judith rode in front with McCauley. Scarcely had they left the house, than the driver slumped forward slightly in his seat. For some distance he appeared to be struggling to hold the machine under control.

As the car neared Fifth and Oglethorpe streets northwest, McCauley collapsed across the seat. Miss Judith, with quick presence of mind, switched off the ignition and pulled on the hand brake.

Passersby aided in helping get McCauley from the machine. Emergency Hospital ambulance was called. McCauley was pronounced dead from a heart attack.

Ouimet Is Among 8 Survivors After Rally in U. S. Amateur

By DAVE HERMAN
(Post Staff Correspondent).

Five Farms, Baltimore, Md., Sept. 14.—On the eighteenth green this afternoon the old master of golf, Francis Ouimet, fresh from a record-breaking assault on the course in his morning match, drew forth his magic putter and rammed home a 25-footer for a birdie three.

It was this coup de grace that enabled the Boston expert and defending champion in the present national amateur struggle to turn back the gallant bid of 22-year-old Sidney Noyes, of Ardsley, N. Y., by a 1-up margin, and weather the storm of an attack that for a time had him on the brink of defeat.

Ouimet's triumph over the former Yale golf captain, coming with dramatic suddenness, followed his sensational conquest of the erstwhile District of Columbia star, George Voigt, by 6 and 5, and shot him into the quarter finals along with two other former amateur kings, Chick Evans and Jesse Guilford; Ross Summerville, four times Canadian titleholder; Bill Blaney, of Massachusetts, an unheralded and unsung golfer; Johnny Fischer, the medalist; Maurice McCarthy, of New York, former Georgetown U. star, and Johnny Goodman, Omaha, Nebr., ace, were the other survivors.

The day was devoid of any starting upsets although Ouimet's escape from the wilderness of defeat, Gus Moreland's setback at the hands of the dark horse, Bill Blaney, by 1 up on the twenty-second hole and Ross Sommerville's victory over Jack Westland, 3 and 2, after the 1931 finalist had crushed Johnny Lehman, 7 and 6, provided the big talk among golfers tonight.

Johnny Goodman, continuing his consistently fine playing, exploded

Body of Madame X in Life And Death of Bern Found

Dorothy Millette's Corpse Discovered in Sacramento River Slough as Will Is Produced, Bequeathing Entire Fortune to Jean Harlow.

Sacramento, Calif., Sept. 14 (A.P.). Authorities announced tonight that the body of a woman found in a Sacramento River slough near Walnut Grove today had been definitely identified as that of Dorothy Millette, missing "mystery woman" in the life of Paul Bern, film producer, who committed suicide in Hollywood.

Discovery of the body came almost at the same time that Irene Harrison, Bern's secretary, produced a will of the film executive in Los Angeles bequeathing his entire fortune to his bride of two months, Jean Harlow, screen star.

The will, authorities said, displaced what they described as two informal testaments of Bern, previously made, in which he provided for Miss Millette and members of the Bern family.

After Bern's suicide it developed that Miss Millette had been his companion for many years prior to his marriage and that she had been known as "Mrs. Paul Bern."

Coroner James Garlick said identification of the body was made certain through comparison of the clothing with that found in Miss Millette's stateroom on the river steamer Delta King, from which she disappeared the night of September 6. Bern shot and killed himself in the Beverly Hills gift-home to his bride the day before Miss Millette disappeared.

A jacket found in the stateroom was of the "same peculiarly loose woven material as the dress on the body," Garlick said. The label on the dress was "Spectators Sports Inc."

Underclothing on the body bore the label, "I. Magnin, Seattle—California." The coroner said this was further evidence in support of the identification, as Miss Millette was

WASHINGTON NAMES CONGRESS VETERANS

Senator Jones Renominated; Democratic Vote Substantially Higher.

Seattle, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—Nomination of congressional candidates long familiar to the Washington electorate and a substantial increase in the number of Democratic voters marked the State primaries yesterday.

Of the veterans, Senator Wesley L. Jones won the Republican nomination to succeed himself on the basis of returns from 1,867 precincts out of 2,682, by a vote of 84,968 to 54,713 over Adam Beeler, his only opponent. He will be opposed by Homer T. Bone, Tacoma attorney, who polled 70,347 votes in the Democratic primary.

Three other candidates brought the total vote in the Democratic senatorial race to 127,183 in the 1,867 precincts, whereas four years ago the total Democratic vote for the State was 42,531. The Republican vote in 1928 was 294,022. Comparative figures for other presidential years were not available.

Congressional Results.

In the First Congressional District, former Representative John F. Miller defeated Ralph Horr, incumbent, for the Republican nomination. Horr defeated Miller two years ago. In 453 precincts out of 461 in the district, Miller got 22,464 votes to 16,089 for Horr. Marion A. Stoncheck is the Democratic nominee.

Representative Lindley H. Hadley led Payson Peterson 11,407 votes to 9,577 in 297 precincts, out of 449 in the Second District. Conrad C. Wallgreen led the Democratic race with 4,229 votes. His nearest competitor, Charles A. Turner, had 3,592.

In the Third District, Albert Johnson, veteran representative, was unopposed in the Republican primaries. Martin F. Smith led Donald G. Abel 6,555 votes to 5,284 in 280 precincts out of 457 in the Democratic contest.

Representative John W. Summers distanced the field in the Fourth District, running up 11,776 votes in 453 precincts. Knute Hill and James L. Mitchell were running close for the Democratic nomination, Hill having 4,354 votes and Mitchell 4,137.

Representative Sam B. Hull, Democrat, was unopposed in the Fifth.

Races for Governorship.

The race for the Republican nomination in the new Sixth District was close, with John T. McCutcheon taking the lead from Emery Asbury when 194 precincts out of 357 were reported. McCutcheon had 6,866 votes, Asbury 6,370 and Rex S. Roudebush, 4,204.

Wesley Lloyd won the Democratic nomination, polling 11,601 votes.

In the Democratic contest for the gubernatorial nomination, Clarence D. Martin, Mayor of Cheney, polled 47,554 votes in 1,955 precincts. His closest competitor was William H. Pemberton, with a total of 41,223.

John A. Gellatly, lieutenant governor, won the Republican nomination for governor over Roland H. Hartley, who was seeking a third term.

A bandmaster, Vic Meyers, of Seattle, who was defeated recently in a race for mayor of that city, led the parade for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, with 13,799 votes from 1,240 precincts. J. M. Wilson, of Seattle, had 11,544.

Prison Is Daringly Fled By Whittemore Gangster

Comstock, N. Y., Sept. 14 (U.P.).—Wired under an automobile owned by the warden and driven by a trusty, Leon Kraemer, member of the notorious Whittemore gang, escaped from Great Meadow Prison August 23, it was learned today.

The car was driven out of the prison during the daytime by Thomas Burke, trusty, who escaped with Kraemer. As a driver of prison cars and for Warden Joseph H. Wilson's family, Burke was permitted outside the prison and his absence was not noted for about three hours. Later it was found that Kraemer had escaped with him.

PRESIDENT ATTACKS PAYMENT OF BONUS

to the advancement of the Treasury-raiding program do not realize the magnitude of veteran costs today, nor the influence of such tremendous payments upon the national economic structure," Mr. Hoover suggested. Sketching the record of bonus legislation, he pointed out that the adjusted compensation certificates, not due until 1945, require a sinking fund of $112,000,000 annually from the Federal budget. Under these provisions, $1,300,000,000 already has been set aside, all of which, and more, has been actually distributed to the veterans under the loan provisions of the 1931 legislation.

$2,000,000,000 More.

The new demand, as outlined in the American Legion's resolution at Portland, is for approximately $2,000,000,000 more to be paid on these certificates as quickly as the necessary legislation can be got through Congress.

"By paying the adjusted service certificates at their 1945 face value now, the Government would not only be paying all remaining thirteen annual instalments in advance, but would be paying the compound interest upon them in advance," Mr. Hoover said.

Meeting the American Legion's demands would involve the expenditure of $2,250,000,000 more than Congress anticipated in authorizing the 1945 payments. Worse, no funds now are available for any additional payments and they could not be raised through Government credits without grave danger to the stability of the dollar.

Cites Burden of Taxes.

"It cannot be raised by adding to the crushing burden of taxes which drain every family budget in our country today and weigh heavily on business struggling in the midst of depression," the President continued.

"It cannot be borrowed without impairment of the credit of the National Government and thus destroy that confidence upon which our whole system depends.

"It is unthinkable that the Government of the United States should resort to the printing press and the issuance of currency as provided in the bill which passed the House at the last session of Congress under the leadership of the Democratic vice presidential candidate. Such an act of moral bankruptcy would depreciate, and might ultimately destroy, the value of every dollar in the United States. It would cause the collapse of all confidence in our Government and would bring widespread ruin to the entire country and to everyone of our citizens."

Statement of President On Paying Soldiers' Bonus

about $2,300,000,000. No matter how, or in what form the payment to the veterans is imposed, it will come out of all these families, but, of more importance, it will indefinitely set back any hope of recovery for employment, agriculture or business and will impose infinite distress upon the whole country. We owe justice and generosity to the men who have served under our flag. Our people have tried to discharge that obligation. Regular expenditures on account of the veterans already constitute nearly a billion a year, or almost one-fourth of our whole Federal budget.

Every right-thinking man has the deepest sympathy for the veteran suffering from disability, for those out of work or for veterans on farms struggling with the adversities of the depression. No one who began life in the humble circumstances that I did, and who at the earliest and most impressionable age learned the meaning of poverty from actual experience, can be lacking in feeling and understanding of the problems and sufferings of these men and their families. I have seen war at first hand. I know the courage, the sacrifice of our soldiers.

But there are many million others in the same circumstances. They, too, must be entitled to consideration. Their employment and their farm recovery, as well as that of the veterans, can be secured only by the restoration of the normal economic life of the Nation. To that end we have been and are devoting our best efforts. Anything that stands in the way must be opposed. The welfare of the Nation as a whole must take precedence over the demands of any particular group.

I do not believe that the veterans generally really understand the adjusted service certificate law (so-called bonus law) which was proposed by themselves. In its simplest terms that law provides that an annual sum of about $112,000,000 is to be paid into a fund which, with compound interest, is calculated to amount to a total of $3,500,000,000, the face value of certificates to be distributed in 1945. Approximately $1,300,000,000 has been paid into this fund. Under the law of last year authorizing loans up to 50 per cent of the face amount of the certificates, if we take into consideration loans made through the veterans' life insurance fund which will have to be repaid, all this accumulated sum and more has already been distributed. If the Government distributed to the veterans the $112,000,000 annually from now on it would represent the Government's obligation. If these sums be kept in the fund the Government adds compound interest on each installment and gives a life insurance right. By paying the adjusted service certificates at their 1945 face value now the Government would not only be paying all remaining thirteen annual installments in advance but would be paying the compound interest upon them in advance.

This would, I am advised, add about $2,250,000,000 to the amount which the people of the United States acting through Congress, undertook, to pay when they gave the certificates.

No such sum is available. It can not be raised by adding to the crushing burden of taxes which drain every family budget in our country today and weigh heavily on business struggling in the midst of depression. It can not be borrowed without impairment of the credit of the National Government and thus destroy that confidence upon which our whole system depends.

Described as Unthinkable.

It is unthinkable that the Government of the United States should resort to the printing press and the issuance of fiat currency as provided in the bill which passed the House at the last session of Congress under the leadership of the Democratic vice presidential candidate. Such an act of moral bankruptcy would depreciate and might ultimately destroy the value of every dollar in the United States. It would cause the collapse of all confidence in our Government and would bring widespread ruin to the entire country and to every one of our citizens. Daniel Webster 100 years ago stated: "He who tampers with the currency robs labor of its bread. He panders, indeed, to greedy capital, which is keen-sighted, and may shift for itself; but he beggars labor, which is honest, unsuspecting, and too busy with the present to calculate for the future. The prosperity of the working class lives, moves and has its being in established credit, and a steady medium of payment." And the experience of every government in the world since that day has confirmed Webster's statement.

Let us not forget that while we have lost much in this depression, we still have much more to lose, and our whole future may be said to depend upon early recovery.

For many months the right-thinking men of both parties have been engaged in organizing and mobilizing the resources of the Nation to promote the economic recovery which is the one sure and effective means of restoring the standard of living of all of our people and rescuing millions of them from suffering and misery. The proposal to levy over two billions of dollars and to pay it to a particular group constitutes a fatal threat to the entire program of recovery, to the success of which all must look for their well-being, security and happiness. In my judgment the enactment of any such proposal into legislation would be a deadly blow at the welfare of the Nation. I was elected to protect and promote the interests of all of the people. As long as I am President I shall continue to do so and to oppose with all of the strength and influence at my command any demand that runs counter to the common welfare.

LEGION SESSION WILL VOTE TODAY ON BONUS CASH DEMAND

of the bonus and the Nebraska delegation, while not intending to bring out a minority report, made it known it would fight adoption of the majority report.

A majority of departments, in State conventions, already have voted in favor of immediate payment.

A resolution urging repeal of the Federal dry laws was approved by the tees approved a resolution denouncing adherence of the United States to the World Court and one opposing cancellation of European war debts.

The convention approved a resolution expressing vigorous opposition to official recognition of Soviet Russia.

The bonus resolution finally agreed upon was a consolidation of 43 separate proposals, 28 of them asking immediate payment, 13 containing qualifying clauses and 9 opposing immediate payment.

A compromise resolution submitted by Robert W. Reed, head of the Missouri delegation, proposing payment of the bonus "as soon as it can be done in safety to the financial structure of the Nation," was tabled by the committee. The action was taken, it was explained, on the grounds the legion could not commit itself on any plan of payment.

9 Units Against Payment.

Nine departments opposed the bonus in the committee hearing. They were Arizona, Connecticut, Delaware, Missouri, Nebraska, South Carolina, Vermont, Wyoming and the Hawaiian Islands.

Before bonus payment was brought to the floor for the vote of the 1,269 delegates to the convention, Brig. Gen. Frank Hines, Veterans' Bureau administrator, asked the legionnaires to study "with an open mind" expenditures for veterans' relief.

"Taxes now represent roughly $1 per acre for each acre of farm land in the United States," he said, and added, "there is already a tendency on the part of some of our legislators who have hitherto been our most loyal defenders to criticize further demands as unwarranted."

Hines pointed out that veterans appropriations have grown from $442,000,000 in 1932 to $927,000,000 this year.

Defense Increase Approved.

Demands for increase in the strength of the Army and Navy were enthusiastically approved by the convention in adopting the national defense committee's report.

"We believe," this report said, "that America will never seek a war and war will never seek a prepared America."

The resolution opposing recognition of Soviet Russia also recommended that recognition be withheld "for such further period of time as the Russian government maintains propaganda in this country, the purpose of which is to advocate the overthrow of our government by force and violence."

The resolution was presented by the Americanization committee. It was not debated.

The legislative committee defeated a resolution to put the Hawaiian Islands under military rule. It had been presented by the Washington delegation.

Gibbons Attacks Hurley.

Another resolution condemned the Griffin bill and "other legislation which would admit aliens to citizenship without the requirement of an oath to bear arms in defense of the Nation." Such legislation, the convention agreed, would be un-American and unpatriotic.

Floyd Gibbons, newspaperman and radio announcer, was cheered when he was introduced as a guest of the convention.

Referring to the talk of Secretary of War Hurley at a dinner here Monday night, Gibbons said motion picture and newspaper cameras made a record of the treatment of the bonus forces in Washington which contradict the "statements sworn on the sacred word of honor."

He said the film records proved the Army fired the billets of the veterans. Cheers, mingled with a few boos, punctuated his remarks.

Chicago Chosen for 1933.

Disarmament of the United States for economy, as a means to bring about world peace on as an example for other nations, was opposed by the national defense committee in its report.

"National defense," the report said, "* * * should be the last element of a nation's organization to be influenced by economic condition. National defense must be absolutely and always divorced from politics."

The report declared in favor of the Reserve Officers Training Corps and citizens' military training camps.

Chicago was chosen as the 1933 convention city.

seven and a half sticks of dynamite and a number of exploding caps in the bonus camp. He is holder of the Distinguished Service Medal, the French Legion of Honor, the Carnegie Medal of Valor and the Croix de Guerre.

Brown, the only witness yesterday, told the grand jury he advised the persons he saw with the explosives to do away with them, but he did not know what disposition was made of them. Brown served with Company K, of the 313th Infantry.

After the conference between the police head and the Commissioners, Gen. Glassford emerged with his usual smiling demeanor and told reporters:

"On entering the conference I suggested to Gen. Crosby that we defer any controversy in order to take care of police business, and he agreed." He would not comment further.

A number of newspapermen here have arranged a testimonial luncheon to be tendered Gen. Glassford at the National Press Club at noon tomorrow. The attendance is expected to include approximately 100 members of the large press corps in the Capital, many of them nationally prominent correspondents.

One of the sponsors of the luncheon to Gen. Glassford said last night it was a gesture of appreciation for his "courtesy and thoughtfulness in dealing with newspapermen during the bonus disorders last July and also for his courage and forbearance" since then.

known to have made purchases at the Magnin store in San Francisco shortly before she boarded the Sacramento-bound steamer there.

A black hat left in the steamer stateroom, which matched the jacket and dress, was also purchased at the Magnin store, the coroner said.

He said there were a few wisps of reddish brown hair on the head. The height, about 5 feet 3 inches, weight and general features answered the description of Miss Millette, the coroner said.

He announced an inquest would be held Friday night.

BROUSSARD BEATEN; LONG'S SLATE WINS

"Kingfish's" Senate Choice and Six House Candidates Are Nominated.

New Orleans, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—Standing on a mountain of ballots, Senator Huey P. Long raised his "Kingfish" banner over Louisiana tonight to claim victory for his indorsed candidate for the United States Senate and the House of Representatives.

The unofficial figures bore out his claims for the senatorial nominee and for six nominated for the House of Representatives, but the other two were in close grips with their opponents with a run-off primary indicated in one.

The deluge of ballots on the dominant issue of "Long and anti-Long" swept Senator Edwin S. Broussard out of the Senate, where he had served twelve years, and advanced Representative John H. Overton, a newcomer to national politics, as the Democratic nominee for that office. He will sit with his friend and benefactor, Long.

Republicans Inactive.

Republicans offered no opposition and nomination means election. The triumph for Long came from the country as well as the cities. With only 131 country precincts missing from the entire tabulation, Overton held a lead of 52,569, the unofficial vote standing: Overton, 172,439; Broussard, 119,870.

Broussard admitted the count against him and indicated in a statement that he might appeal to the Senate to investigate the election. Overton claimed an overwhelming victory and gave praise to Long for his support.

Although Representative Numa F. Montet claims renomination in the Third District with Long's support, the incomplete returns show him in a close race with Bennett J. Voorhies.

The Eighth District congressional seat, left vacant by Overton, may have to be settled in a run-off, as neither of the three candidates had mustered a majority on the incomplete, unofficial returns.

Feud With Leblanc.

Long's supported candidate, John R. Hunter, who also was Overton's law partner, trailed a few hundred votes behind Cleveland Dear, with R. F. Derouen running a poor third. The Eighth District vote from 226 of the 233 precincts gave Dear 15,466; Hunter, 14,355, and Derouen, 1,549.

The other six representatives up for reelection on Long's indorsement were nominated. They are J. O. Fernandez, of the First District; Paul Maloney, of the Second; John N. Sandlin, of the Fourth; Riley J. Wilson, of the Fifth; Bolivar E. Kemp, of the Sixth, and R. L. Derouen, of the Seventh.

Next to working for the victory of Overton, Long worked harder for the defeat of Dudley J. Leblanc for State public service commissioner. Nearly complete returns indicated he had succeeded in placing Wade O. Martin on the commission over Leblanc, perhaps Long's most powerful political enemy in the State. Returns from 500 of the 538 precincts give Martin 56,521; Leblanc, 53,023.

U.S. Debts Delayed By Three Nations

Notice of Postponement Is Sent by Poland, Latvia and Estonia.

(United Press.)

Three European nations yesterday advised the Treasury Department that they would not make debt payments due the United States December 15. Estonia, Poland and Latvia notified of their intention to postpone for a period of two years the payments of principal totaling $1,252,000.

Under the terms of debt agreements the notification by the three debtor nations was sufficient to secure the postponement without any action on the part of the United States Government. The payments postponed will bear interest at the rate of 3½ per cent annually, payable semiannually.

Foreign nations owing the largest sums have thus far failed to notify either the Treasury or State Departments of any intention to seek a postponement.

ROME ANXIOUS AS SEA FLIERS ARE UNREPORTED IN EUROPE

the island's provinces which said nothing had been seen or heard of the plane at 1:45 a. m. (7 o'clock, Eastern standard time, last night).

This meant that the last sighting of the plane probably was that of the liner France, which reported she had sighted a plane at 4:50 p. m. Greenwich time (11:50 a. m., Eastern standard time) flying eastward at 49.36 north latitude and 17.38 west longitude, or 400 miles southwest of Cape Fastnet, Ireland.

This would indicate that the American Nurse had flown 2,800 miles of the 4,200 between New York and Rome in 29 hours and 34 minutes, or a little less than 100 miles an hour. If she kept her course, she should have struck the French coast in the vicinity of Bordeaux around nightfall.

May Be Conserving Fuel.

This would also mean that the plane should not reach Rome in less than 44 hours. The takeoff was at 6:16 a. m. Tuesday. This allowed the American Nurse until 2:16 a. m., Eastern standard time, or 8:16 a. m., Rome time, before hope should be given up.

It was argued here that since the plane had no supercharger her gas should last at least 43 hours and possibly longer.

The airfield maintained all its lights throughout the night and kept crews ready for any emergency. Some officials speculated that the American Nurse might have slowed down to economize on gas.

At 2:10 a. m. (8:10 p. m., Eastern standard time) no communication of any sort about the plane had been received at the field.

Duce May Be Welcomer.

Giant searchlights played on the sky over Ciampino Airport all night to point out a safe landing spot for the airplane.

Gen. Italo Balbo, Italy's air minister, kept in close touch with the latest news that he might go to the airport, which is 9 miles southeast of Rome, to receive the fliers. There was a possibility that Premier Mussolini himself might appear, although such plans never are announced.

Gen. Balbo ordered extra illumination at all airports along the route the fliers were expected to follow. He decided that because of superior lighting facilities Ciampino, a military airport, would make a better landing place than the larger Littorio Field and so ordered that Littorio be kept dark in order that the fliers might make no mistake.

The moon went through a nearly complete eclipse overhead, but despite this the night was fairly clear in this area.

London Stays Optimistic.

London, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—The London transatlantic airplane, American Nurse, freighted with two men, a woman and a woodchuck, appeared virtually certain tonight to hit her destination, Rome, on the nose.

Miss Edna Newcomer, 28-year-old resident of Williamsport, Pa., had announced that she would bail out of the ship at Florence and descend in a parachute—this by way of tribute to Florence Nightingale, the most famous of nurses.

In addition to Miss Newcomer, those aboard the plane included William Ulbrich, of Mineola, N. Y., pilot; Dr. Leon M. Pisculli, of Yonkers, N. Y., commander of the expedition, and a woodchuck named Tail Wind.

The American Nurse was twice reported seen, the first time about 450 miles northwest of the Azores and the second a little more than 400 miles southwest of Cape Fastnet, Ireland.

The steamship Shburton reported sighting an airplane at 4:30 a. m. off the Azores and, although identification was not positive, it was virtually certain the plane was the American Nurse.

Shortly before noon (Eastern standard time) the master of the liner France reported by wireless to Valencia, Ireland, that he had seen an aircraft, presumably the American Nurse, southwest of Fastnet. The ship took off from New York at 8:16 p. m., Eastern standard time, Tuesday.

Democrats Ready For Vermont Fight

Senator Dale Renominated by G. O. P.; Prohibition Enters Primary.

Montpelier, Vt., Sept. 14 (A.P.).—A Democratic slate, unscathed by the effects of primary fray, tonight was ready to meet Republicans who won their nominations in yesterday's primary in the campaign which will precede the November election joust. The Republicans had several spirited contests although United States Senator Porter Dale (R.), was renominated without opposition.

Gov. Stanley C. Wilson was renominated by the Republicans as was Representative Ernest W. Gibson. With 239 of the State's 248 election districts reported, Lieutenant Governor Charles M. Smith, of Rutland, led William H. Wills of Bennington, by more than 1,000 votes.

The Democrats' slate was headed by Fred C. Martin, of Bennington, for United States senator; Joseph A. McNamara, of Burlington, for representative, and James P. Leamy, of Rutland, for governor.

Prohibition entered the fight between Gibson and Pierce. The former favored resubmission whereas Pierce, former speaker of the State House of Representatives, favored repeal.

POLICEMEN NAMED IN EFFICIENCY SHIFT

Fifteen Reassignments in Department to Become Effective Tomorrow.

The reassignment of fifteen members of the Police Department was ordered yesterday by Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, with a view to increasing efficiency.

Reorganization of branches of the department was discussed at a conference with the staff of inspectors, and the transfers were ordered to take effect at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning. According to the order, Capt. J. W. Pierson, of the Fifth Precinct, and Capt. H. H. Groves, of the Second Precinct, will exchange commands.

Capt. Richard H. Mansfield, who was promoted from a lieutenancy Tuesday, was assigned to command of the Ninth Precinct. The command has been vacant since the retirement of Capt. Michael J. Ready on June 1.

Lieut. Gustav Lauten, who has been acting captain of the precinct, was transferred to the Second Precinct. Detective Sergt. B. C. Kuehling, whose promotion to lieutenant becomes effective tomorrow, will fill the vacancy caused by Capt. Mansfield's promotion.

Other transfers to take effect tomorrow are:

Sergt. N. O. Holmes, designated as acting lieutenant, from the Tenth to the Eleven Precinct.

Sergt. A. S. Gohrer, from Fourth to First Precinct.

Private J. J. Ronayne, whose promotion to sergeant becomes effective tomorrow, from Fourth to First Precinct.

Private W. R. Enyeart, from the Detective Bureau to the Sixth Precinct.

Private G. J. Penturff, from Administrative Headquarters to Sixth Precinct.

Private G. R. Browning, from Sixth to Seventh Precinct.

Private J. P. Comisky, from Traffic Bureau to Administrative Headquarters.

300 Are Homeless In Big Ontario Fire

Sprague, Ont., Sept. 14 (A.P.).—Three hundred persons were left homeless by fire which leveled most of this town today after destroying 7,000,000 feet of lumber in the yards of the J. J. McFadden Lumber Co. Damage was estimated at $500,000 by McFadden.

The lumber company executive said all the homeless would be cared for. Late today the fire was brought under control and arrangements to accommodate those whose homes were destroyed were begun immediately. The entire business section of the village and 25 residences were wiped out.

ADAMS TOPS SENATE VOTING IN COLORADO

Leads Barnett for Democratic Nomination; Schuyler Choice of G. O. P.

Denver, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—Alva B. Adams, Pueblo banker, led John T. Barnett, Denver oil man, by 2,952 votes tonight for Democratic nomination for United States senator and appeared to be the victor in yesterday's Colorado primary.

With 1,298 precincts out of the State's total of 1,548 tabulated the count stood: Adams, 54,246; Barnett, 51,298. There were reports Barnett forces would contest several precincts in Adams' home county. The 250 unreported precincts were not expected to alter materially the standing.

Karl C. Schuyler, Denver attorney, was assured of the Republican nomination for United States senator over Nate C. Warren, State senator from Fort Collins. With 1,260 precincts reported, Schuyler had 56,861 and Warren 38,971.

Lieut. Gov. Edwin C. Johnson won the Democratic nomination for governor over Judge E. V. Holland, of Denver, carrying every one of the State's 63 counties. The vote of 1,298 precincts was: Johnson, 71,145; Holland, 26,132.

Parriott Is Victorious.

The victory of James D. Parriott, Denver city attorney, over Warren F. Bleecker, former legislator from Boulder, for the Republican nomination for governor, was just as convincing. With 1,258 precincts reported, the count stood: Parriott, 64,721; Bleecker, 29,672.

Colorado Democrats cast 47,000 votes in 1930 for three candidates for the United States Senate, including United States Senator Edward P. Costigan. Republicans cast 112,000 primary votes two years ago for two candidates. Yesterday there were 95,832 Republican votes and 105,540 Democratic votes on the basis of nearly complete returns.

In the First (Denver) congressional district, Lawrence Lewis, who barely failed of election two years ago, was leading a three-cornered race for the Democratic nomination. The vote: Lewis, 16,406; E. V. Dunklee, 11,223; Albert C. Craig, 6,712.

Timberlake Is Trailing.

Charles B. Timberlake, Republican, who has represented the Second District in Congress eighteen years, was running behind George H. Bradfield, of Greeley, for the nomination. With 359 precincts reported out of 459 in the district, the count was Bradfield, 15,411; Timberlake, 13,467.

In the Third District the veteran representative, Guy U. Hardy, easily won the Republican nomination from L. A. Poinsett. Hardy had 15,433 and Poinsett 6,121 in 323 out of 456 precincts.

John A. Marlin, of Pueblo, a former representative, was leading a three-way contest for the right to meet Hardy in November. The count: Martin, 11,978; Alfred Todd, of Lamar, 9,010; Carl L. Marold, of Las Animas, 3,129.

Edward T. Taylor, Democratic representative from the Fourth District, was without primary opposition, and will meet Richard C. Callen, former United States marshal, in the general election in November.

ROOSEVELT SPEECH LABELED HYPOCRISY

Two G.O.P. Campaign Chiefs Assail Farm Address as Lacking Plan.

New York, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—Two Republican campaign executives issued statements tonight at Eastern headquarters attacking Gov. Roosevelt's Topeka speech.

"Roosevelt's plan is strictly a Roosevelt plan—hooey and generalities; not a plan at all," said Charles W. Burkett, director of the national committee's agriculture committee.

"We farmers of the East have heard him before—we know his mental inability to think into any phase of farming.

"Here in the East he would lower the tariff; out among the Western farmers he claims to be for a tariff. * * *

"Hypocrisy—that's all I can say about this speech. It won't fool a single farmer. * * *

"Away from home he talks in generalities, and talk is cheap.

"We farmers know his party's tariff record—free wool when a farmer couldn't look a sheep in the face."

John W. Hutchison, in charge of the special activities division, said in part:

"Gov. Roosevelt's speech is characteristic of his fundamentally destructive campaign—denunciation of the other fellow's campaign and complete lack of any program of his own. * * *

"Feel good a little while, he tells the farmer, and then we will withdraw any protection we have set up, letting the dam burst."

Commenting on Gov. Roosevelt's speech at Topeka, Senator Dickinson (Republican), Iowa, said:

"It seems to me that Gov. Roosevelt has used a lot of old familiar phrases that have been under discussion for many years in agricultural circles, but has made no practical suggestions as to how a legislative program can be formulated for the consideration of Congress.

"So far as I can see there is nothing new in his suggestion for a legislative program. There has never been any dispute as to what should be done; the whole question is, how it can be done, and with reference to this latter, Gov. Roosevelt has not made a suggestion that would be of any assistance. He has followed his usual practice of making many suggestions without making a definite proposal. Glittering generalities will not bring farm relief at any time."

Senator Brookhart (Republican), Iowa, said: "His criticism of the Republican administration and its failure and even fraud on the farmer is well justified. The ends to be accomplished in his own plan are what is to be desired, but he has not given enough details for me in my own mind to determine whether it will be successful. His promise to consult farm leaders on these details is very encouraging."

Electric Power Output Shows Increase as Gains Are Reported in Steel and Other Lines; Movement of Workers Back to Jobs Continues.

(Associated Press.)

Business developments yesterday included:

New York—Electric Power output last week, 1,443,977,000 kilowatt hours, compared more favorably with the corresponding week in 1931 than any week since last March, the weekly tabulation by the National Electric Light Association showed. Last week's output decreased 8.7 per cent from the same week in 1931.

New York—Continental Can Co., Inc., announced that August sales showed "a substantial increase" over July, bringing expanded employment to many of its plants.

New York—Sinclair Refining Co., marketing subsidiary of Consolidated Oil Corporation, announced placement of an order with Babcock Wilcox Co., for 1,200,000 pounds of alloy steel tubes to be used for refinery construction and improvements.

East Liverpool, Ohio—The Homer Laughlin China Co. announced it had recalled 400 employes to its Newell, W. Va., plant to take care of winter orders. The plant had been idle since June 1.

Quincy, Ill.—The Excelsior Stove & Manufacturing Co. has resumed operation with 250 men back at work after a long lay-off.

ROOSEVELT OUTLINES FARM RECOVERY PLAN AT TOPEKA

condition that every reasonable assistance be given to the mortgagors where the loans are sound, with purpose of preventing foreclosure."

Tariff Readjustments.

The second immediate necessity, he said, was to provide a means of bringing about through governmental effort a substantial reduction in the difference between the prices of the things the farmer sells and those he buys. He added that one way to attack this was by the restoration of international trade through tariff readjustments.

He said the Democratic tariff policy consisted, in large measure, of negotiating agreements with individual countries permitting them to sell goods to this country in return for the privilege of selling American goods to them.

The Democratic nominee said "the present administration and the two previous administrations, in all of which the President was an important member, failed utterly to understand the farm problem as a national whole, or to plan for its relief." In addition, he continued, "they destroyed foreign markets for our exportable farm surplus" by tariff acts.

There was frequent applause as the Democratic contender outlined his program and a loud shout went up when his running-mate, John Nance Garner, of Texas, presented the New York Governor with the prediction that he would be the next President.

Roosevelt said that shortly after his inauguration in 1929 President Hoover called a special session of Congress and "went through the form of fulfilling his campaign promises by the passing of his agricultural marketing act and the Hawley-Smoot tariff."

"The decline of prices increased, a slump was apparent," he continued. "The cooperatives could not meet the situation. The Farm Board began its 'stabilizing' operations. This resulted in a tremendous undigested surplus overhanging the market; it put a millstone around the neck of the cooperatives. The effort resulted in squandering hundreds of millions of the taxpayers' money.

Goes to Denver Today.

"Now, after the harm has been done," he continued, "the President's acceptance speech of 1932 fully recognizes the futility of the stabilizing experiment and merely apologizes for the results. In order to avoid responsibility he claims that the Farm Board departed 'from its original purpose by making loans to farmers, cooperatives and preserve prices from panic.' It was his Farm Board, why did he permit such a departure?"

Before the speech, Mr. Roosevelt had received Gov. Harry H. Woodring of Kansas aboard his special train.

SOCIALIST CAMPAIGN AMBITIONS DEFINED

Thomas Says Goal Is Large Enough Vote to Compel Attention to Demands.

New York, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for President, tonight defined his campaign ambition as an attempt to amass a vote large enough to "compel either old party to heed our demands."

In an advance text of a radio address given out at his office, the tall, silver-haired Socialist answered what he said were the two most frequent objections he had heard to voting for him.

One was:

"You throw your vote away if you vote Socialist. The Socialists can't win."

The other:

"Socialism isn't practicable."

Difference Between Parties.

In reply to the first he said:

"What is it to win? Is it not to build a great socialist movement; to cast a vote that on our way to power will compel either old party to heed our demands. * * *

"It is only those who vote for what they don't want, and get it, who throw away their votes."

Thomas made a four-fold reply to the second objection.

"1. Private business is neither efficient nor honest in this last racketeering stage of capitalism. I have only to cite the record of bank failures, the amazing losses on Wall street and the episode of South American loans procured by supposedly respectable banks through open bribery. * * *

Bethlehem Steel Bonus.

"No political scandal has profited any single individual as much as the president of the Bethlehem Steel Co. got in a single year in a secret bonus. * * *

"2. Government, even now under capitalism, is not always corrupt and inefficient. The budgets of the United States, of New York State, and even of New York City is more honest and more revealing than the reports of most corporations to their own stockholders."

"3. The corruption and inefficiency which now characterizes both public and private business are a natural consequence of capitalism. Business has largely become a kind of glorified racketeering. * * *

"Al Capone acted in line with the best traditions of trust building in America. * * *

"4. Against this Socialism has to offer, first, a new ideal, and, second, a new plan of organization. * * * We offer the ideal of the cooperative Commonwealth. * * *

CURTIS MAY TRAIL ROOSEVELT IN TOUR

Maine Democratic Victory Stirs Both Parties to Greater Effort.

(Associated Press.)

Revitalization of the Republican presidential drive was sought yesterday in conferences which looked to the party's veteran campaigners for aggressive action following the Maine defeat.

Vice President Curtis mapped out a comprehensive campaign trip in the West, possibly through the areas now visited by Gov. Roosevelt.

Senator Dickinson, of Iowa," another party stalwart, reached the Capital and discussed the situation with administration leaders before going to Eastern campaign headquarters at New York.

Word went out that Senator Smoot, of Utah, dean of the party in Congress, would arrive next week.

The Democratic high command also was busy calling in the party leaders of Capitol Hill to help in the East while Gov. Roosevelt and James A. Farley, national chairman, tour the West. Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, went yesterday to New York headquarters. He will be joined by Senator Swanson, of Virginia, the chairman of the Democratic senatorial committee.

To all appearance the Maine Democratic victory has stirred both sides to greater effort, and the campaign seems to be going into a new high of activity.

Vice President Curtis will open his campaign at Fogelsville, Pa., on Saturday, addressing a grange picnic, with the agriculture problem his probable topic. After a brief swing through West Virginia and probably Kentucky and Tennessee, Curtis will turn westward.

The only speaking dates so far arranged are: September 26, Parkersburg; September 27, Charleston, both in West Virginia.

After a conference with Secretary Mills, Senator Dickinson expressed the belief that President Hoover would "continue to gain" in the Midwest regardless of the Maine result.

Immediately after his conference with Dickinson Secretary Mills conferred with President Hoover. Asked if he had discussed political affairs, Mills replied with a smile he would "prefer to call it statesmanship."

Houston Withdraws and Satterthwaite Is Made Congress Choice.

Dover, Del., Sept. 14 (A.P.).—Delaware Republicans in State convention today renominated C. Douglass Buck for a second term as governor, named a new candidate for the State's only seat in the House of Representatives and indorsed the administration of President Hoover.

The convention nominated the entire slate agreed upon by the winning faction of last Saturday's primary.

One development of the day was the withdrawal of Representative Robert G. Houston, as candidate for Congress. He is completing his fourth term in the House and withdrew when the leaders indicated they favored Attorney General Reuben Satterthwaite, jr., of Wilmington Houston's withdrawal cleared the way for Satterthwaite's nomination.

Lincoln, Nebr., Sept. 14 (A.P.).—Deets Pickett, research secretary of the Methodist Board of Temperance, tonight urged the Nebraska conference of that church to support candidates for Congress favorable to prohibition regardless of party.

Saying that the prohibition issue could not be found in the presidential contest, he advocated dealing with the question "when the voter casts his vote for senator or representative."

Pickett said the Democratic prohibition plank "was a definite attack upon representative government" and that "the same spirit seemed to animate the wet forces in the Republican national convention."

J. C. Penny, Chain-Store Head, Is to Back Hoover

(Associated Press.)

J. C. Penny, chain store operator and prominent prohibitionist, said yesterday he had informed President Hoover by letter he would support him in the campaign.

GEN. BLANCHE RULES CHILE; FLIERS FLEE

Loyal Troops Chase Airmen After Threats to Bomb President's Palace.

Santiago, Chile, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—Gen. Bartolome Blanche, commander in chief of the army, clung to the reins of government in Chile tonight despite a threat of Col. Arturo Mereno Menitz and his Chilean air force to bomb the presidential palace.

The colonel and his pilote fled the city today when Gen. Blanche announced he would retain the presidency with the support of the army.

Troops were sent to Bosque Airport, where the fliers were reported barricaded, but the quarry had flown away in the 70 airplanes they had stored there.

Gasoline Destroyed.

Next they went to Colina, and again on the arrival of troops were nowhere in sight. On the strength of reports the fliers had fled to Ovalle in their planes, the authorities there destroyed all the gasoline on hand.

When the rebel planes arrived and found themselves apparently trapped, communications were cut, and no word came to the capital tonight of the situation there.

The Chilean fleet left Valparaiso Harbor tonight supposedly to avoid aerial bombardment, but this could not be confirmed because of the extreme confusion in the capital. The government announced that fifteen loyal planes, however, had left Iquique for the south to combat the rebel planes.

Gen. Blanche stepped out as president once during the day before he had held the post 24 hours, and just as swiftly stepped back in.

Cabinet Personnel.

The rumor went around that former President Carlos Davila, who was ousted by a threat from Col. Merino to bomb the palace yesterday, was about to recover power. This appeared to be contradicted by Gen. Blanche's reassumption of the acting presidency. He had been placed in the position by the Mereno troops.

Acting President Blanche announced his cabinet tonight, with the exception of the labor and health portfolios, which remain unfilled, as follows:

Premier—Ernesto Barros Jarpa.
Finance—Francisco Mardones.
War—Gen. Luis Otero.
Marine—Admiral Jose Montalvo.
Justice—Juan Antonio Rios.
Foreign—Luis Barriga.
Lands, colonization and agriculture—Arturo Riveros.
Education—Luis David Cruz.
Industry—Gustavo Lira Mzano.

HAYDEN FAR AHEAD IN ARIZONA VOTING

Hunt Trails for Governor as Douglas Leads Democratic Primary for House.

Phoenix, Ariz., Sept. 14 (A.P.).—Arizona's Democratic representatives at Washington—Senator Carl Hayden and Representative Lewis W. Douglas—held commanding leads for renomination in primary election figures today, but 73-year-old Gov. George W. P. Hunt seemed likely to be defeated.

Returns from 361 of the State's 455 precincts, 252 complete, gave Hayden a lead of 5,943 over Harlow Akers, Phoenix attorney, his closest competitor. Douglas held a lead of 3,641 over his nearest rival, William Coxon.

Dr. B. B. Moeur, Tempe physician, who campaigned on a plea that the voters overturn the "machine" of the old political war horse, Gov. Hunt, seven times the State's chief executive, increasad his lead to 5,111 votes on the latest tabulation.

Gov. Hunt, however, refused to give up hope.

Democratic nomination for Arizona State offices usually means victory in the November general election. With a Democratic registration for this primary four times that of the Republicans, the nomination races of the latter were not considered seriously this year.

Latest totals today were:
Hayden, 23,339; Akers, 17,936.
Douglas, 18,330; Coxen, 14,689.
Moeur, 20,843; Hunt, 15,732.

The Democratic registration of 110,000 is the heaviest in the State's history, nearly 30,000 greater than two years ago. Approximately 30,000 voters registered as Republicans, or about 10,000 off from the 1930 figures.

For the 1928 general election, 78,223 Democrats were registered. The Republicans numbered 39,000.

THE FALL OF CONSTANTINOPLE

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?

NEW REPUBLIC HELD TOKYO AIM IN CHINA

Shanghai Says Area in North Endangered; Manchukuo Ceremony Held.

Shanghai, China, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—Reports of a Japanese plot to establish an independent republic in North China as a sister state to the Japanese-sponsored government of Manchukuo were broadcast today in Chinese press dispatches.

"The purpose of the plot," one dispatch said, "is not only to detach North China from the Chinese Republic, but also to divert world attention from Japanese activities in Manchuria.

Changchun, Manchuria (Thursday), Sept. 15 (A.P.).—Japan and the new Manchurian State of Manchukuo entered into a defensive alliance today which also carried with it Japanese recognition of the new government. The protocol was signed at 9:10 a. m. (10 p. m., Eastern standard time).

Extraordinary precautions were taken to insure the safety of Gen. Nobuyoshi Muto, special diplomatic representative of Tokyo and commander of the Japanese military forces throughout Manchuria, whose success in the field made possible the establishment of the new government in place of the old Chinese administration. The general signed the treaty for Tokyo, and Cheng Hsiao-Hsu, premier of Manchukuo, signed for his government.

Chanochun was not dressed up in honor of the ceremony. Neither banners nor posters were displayed. Japanese officials explained that the real ceremony would be held Sunday, the first anniversary of the beginning of the campaign which swept the Chinese from the province.

The treaty is brief, containing not more than 300 words. To accompany it, officials prepared a statement explaining the significance of the document and its implication of Japan's recognition of the Manchukuo regime.

The Tokyo foreign office has explained that Japan will undertake internal and external defense of Manchukuo under the pact, that a defensive alliance is set up and that each government guarantees respect for the territorial sovereignty of the other.

The palace of Henry Pu-Yi, former boy Emperor of China and now chief executive of the new state, was selected for the ceremony.

Burchell's Passing Mourned by Rotary

Members Hear Address on Handicap Air Derby Starting Here.

Members of the Washington Rotary Club meeting yesterday at their regular luncheon at the Willard expressed their deep sorrow over the death of N. Landon Burchell, a member of the club. Acting President William L. Radcliffe appointed Ralph W. Lee, the Rev. C. T. Warner and Frank P. Leetch to draft an appropriate resolution and forward it to the bereaved family.

Chester Warrington gave a talk on the results of the start of the transcontinental handicap air derby for the Cord trophy from Washington Airport.

Attention was called to the fact that the golf tournament of the "old fifth district" would be held at the Congressional Country Club a week from tomorrow. Some 60 or more Rotary Clubs in the old fifth district will be represented at this tournament by about 150 out-of-town Rotarians. The regular monthly Washington Club tournament, playing for the Brawner cup, will be consolidated this month with the larger tournament.

NICKEL PLATE ROAD PLANS NOTE DEPOSIT

Effort Made to Get Owners to Accept 25 Per Cent Partial Payment.

New York, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—W. L. Ross, president of the New York, Chicago & St. Louis (Nickel Plate) Railroad, today made formal announcement of the plan of meeting the maturity of its $20,000,000 of 3 per cent notes, due October 1, as suggested by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Mr. Ross urged noteholders to deposit their notes with the Guaranty Trust Co., as depositary under the plan, which calls for payment of 25 per cent of the principal amount of maturing notes in cash, and the remaining 75 per cent in new 6 per cent notes, to mature October 1 1935.

The road had sought a loan from the Reconstruction Finance Coorporation to pay off half of the October 1 maturity, but the Interstate Commerce Commission changed this plan to provide for a cash payment of only 25 per cent.

Mr. Ross pointed out that the plan would not be declared operative unless substantially all of the noteholders accept it, through depositing their securities.

BARD TO TELL PLAN FOR BILLBOARD ACT

Will Present His Outline at Conference Sessions Here Next Week.

Continuing the battle against unsightly billboards along the highways, Albert S. Bard, of New York, counsel of the National Council for the Protection of Roadside Beauty, will present an outline for a model billboard statute at a roadside improvement session of the Bicentennial Conference on Planning, Parks and Government, meeting here next week.

Mr. Bard, in his talk, will advocate the placing of all signs at least 50 feet from the rural highway boundaries, will recommend that larger signs be set back further than smaller ones, and that signs of more than 600 square feet be prohibited.

Other speakers are Mrs. Junius S. Morgan, of Princeton, N. J.; Earle S. Draper, of Charlotte, N. C.; Mrs. W. L. Lawton, chairman of the National Council for Protection of Roadside Beauty, and Mrs. Lavinia Engle, member of the Maryland House of Delegates. Mrs. Henry Ford, president of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, will discuss the essentials of a model wayside market.

Historic Flag Rite Conducted on Ship

Heirloom of LaVallette Family Put Aboard "Old Ironsides."

An historic American flag bearing thirteen stars and as many stripes, which had been the property of the family of LaVallette Barton, of Boston, since Revolutionary days, was presented to Commander Louis J. Gulliver, of the Constitution, by its owner yesterday at the navy yard.

In making the presentation Mr. Barton said the flag had long been an heirloom, valued highly by the descendants of Admiral Elia A. F. LaVallette, who was lieutenant commander of Old Ironsides in 1825 and who flew the flag from the masthead of the ship.

The flag will be encased in a suitable frame and kept with the collection of authentic relics being assembled aboard the Constitution.

Trucks Are Exonerated In Plight of Railroads

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 14 (A.P.). Pyke Johnson, of Washington, D. C., vice president of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, denied today that motor truck competition was responsible for the present plight of the railroads.

Johnson, in his address before the thirteenth annual meeting of the National Petroleum Association, said the motor truck owners paid an adequate share of highway costs. The trucks, he maintained, do not cause undue highway damage.

Blind Bargains

that exact their final payments on the highways

EVERYBODY is being tempted by "bargain" prices in the tire market. These tires are attractively cheap—until the final cost is added up by disaster on streets and highways.

The General Tire and Rubber Company condemns the practice of lowering quality to meet price. Tires are not stationary merchandise. Tires deal with human safety. Tires carry human beings at modern speeds of 60 miles an hour—that's 88 feet a second.

The gruesome casualty list will increase in direct proportion to the volume of unsafe, doubtful tires sold.

Tires Built for 25 Miles an Hour Should Not be Driven 40, 50 or 60

Driving at 60 or better on tires built for 25 miles an hour is dangerous business.

Tires are the biggest single factor in driving safety. Blowouts and skidding account for an appalling number of accidents.

Unhampered by the dictates of big volume buyers General always has been free to mold its own policy—strict adherence to absolute Top Quality. That policy has not changed.

17.6% Increase in Sales Proves That People Still Want Quality

Every effort is being made to blind the public to quality with blatant appeals of price and misleading claims.

Everybody is not yielding to this price temptation. Proof? 17.6% more Generals were bought in the first six months of 1932 than in that same period of last year. Can any other tire manufacturer say anything like that?

Generals always were worth their difference in price, even when that difference was measured in dollars. Now the low cost of rubber and other materials brings General's Top Quality within range of any motorist.

General's success proves the soundness of sticking to Top Quality. The 17.6% increase in sales proves that people want the exclusive advantages of patented no-breaker-strip construction—full-length plies from bead to bead—blowout-proof and skid-safe protection—the luxurious comfort of 30% less air pressure—and the economy of General's famous big mileage.

THE GENERAL TIRE & RUBBER CO., AKRON, OHIO

Here's the Final Price

152,732 persons killed in only 5 years of automobile accidents.

66,100 killed and injured by cars leaving road.

51,720 killed and injured by skidding.

$2,500,000,000 property loss each year—exceeding total cost of public school education.

That means a cost of $20 for every man, woman and child in the United States.

Caution

ROOSEVELT'S FARM PLAN.

Gov. Roosevelt's address at Topeka is a conscientious presentation of the farm problem. It is evident that he has wrestled with this perplexing question, as many other leaders have done in the last two decades. But farmers who search his remarks for concrete plans leading to a restoration of agricultural prosperity will be disappointed.

It is well known that Gov. Roosevelt is sympathetic with the farmer, and it may be granted that he is ready to do his utmost to aid agriculture. Yet that fact alone gives him no distinction. Many of the foremost statesmen in America have given their best thought and most of their energy to this problem without bringing about a solution. His inference that the present administration is not interested in farm relief is canceled by his statement that millions have been spent by the Government in an attempt to make the lot of the farmer less difficult.

The most confusing aspect of Gov. Roosevelt's plan for agriculture is his denunciation of the existing tariff law alongside of his demand for a more effective agricultural tariff. His plan would provide for the producer of staple surplus commodities "a tariff benefit over world prices which is equivalent to the benefit given by the tariff to industrial products". Would Gov. Roosevelt increase the agricultural duties in the Smoot-Hawley act? Most of the changes made in the 1930 revision were in the agricultural schedule, and most of the protests received from other countries were based on the increased protection allowed to agriculture. When Gov. Roosevelt advocates adequate tariff protection for agriculture he takes over a cardinal Republican policy.

The governor failed to make clear what method he would use to "make the tariff effective". Any benefits accruing from this source, he says, must be so applied that they will not stimulate further production. At the same time his plan would not make use of any "mechanism which would cause our European customers to retaliate on the ground of dumping." Apparently this means that he would not tolerate the sale of surplus commodities abroad at lower prices than they bring in the United States. Then what is to be done with the surpluses?

Another grave question arises. "The plan", says Mr. Roosevelt, "must not be coercive". Farmers must be induced to keep their output under control voluntarily, even when higher prices are available. No one has ever devised a means whereby that can be done, and Gov. Roosevelt offers no formula.

Regardless of what direct methods of relief are adopted, the governor demands a reduction of industrial tariffs so that other countries may sell more manufactured goods to the United States in exchange for American agricultural exports. What then becomes of the domestic market for farm products? If the United States imports a larger portion of its industrial needs there will be fewer jobs in this country, and consequently less demand for farm products. In comparison with his sales to American industrial cities the farmer's foreign market is inconsequential.

Gov. Roosevelt proposes to bring about this tariff revision by bargaining with individual foreign countries. In the place of equal treatment and fair dealing with all nations he would set up a system of discriminatory tariffs. This would result at once in protests from all countries discriminated against, and their demand for most favored nation treatment would block the scheme.

Roosevelt is familiar with farm problems, and he is trying in good faith to improve the farmers' lot in life. His proposals deserve further study in spite of their obvious defects. Nothing is to be gained by denouncing others, and Gov. Roosevelt may be criticised for failing to concede the good faith of others who have struggled with the farm problem.

THE BONUS QUESTION.

The American Legion has been fully advised of President Hoover's opposition to the bonus proposal. His public statement gives convincing reasons why he can not give his support to the plan to deal out $2,300,000,000 to veterans. The money is not due them. The payment would inflict injustice and hardship upon citizens who are just as deserving and just as hard-pressed as the veterans. The movement toward better times would be stopped, and unemployment would become worse. Finally, the credit of the Government would be injured, if not ruined, so that everybody in the country would suffer greater hardships than they have already endured.

It is the President's duty to give notice of his intention to protect the public against this bonus folly. He is in a place of official responsibility in which the welfare of all the people must rule his acts. A similar statement by Gov. Roosevelt, giving notice that he would oppose the bonus if elected President, would reassure the public. The bonus demand doubtless will continue, and it would be a public calamity if there should be in the White House a President who would sacrifice the welfare of all the people in order to please the veterans.

The Legion is about to demand the bonus, in spite of all warnings. An effort is made to inject the bonus question into the presidential campaign. Silence on Gov. Roosevelt's part would warrant the inference that he is either afraid to oppose the bonus, or actually favors it. In that case the question might become politically important, with Republicans charging that their opponents are determined to saddle the bonus upon the country. Gov. Roosevelt can remove this nonpartisan question from politics by following the example of President Hoover and giving notice that he is opposed to the bonus. Or, if he favors payment of the bonus, it is only fair to the voters that he should make his attitude known, so that they may have an opportunity to consider the fact among others in forming their judgment of candidates.

THE PAROLE SYSTEM.

The selection of parole officers in New York State was placed last fall under the civil service. This move, according to Sam A. Lewisohn, chairman of the commission to investigate prison administration, was a decided step forward. The supervision of parolees is now in the hands of educated, experienced men whose entire efforts are spent in re-educating and looking after prisoners to keep them from returning to criminal habits. By helping the prisoner find work, studying his home conditions and family difficulties, the causes that made him turn to crime are frequently removed.

As the parolee becomes adjusted to his work and home, the supervision is lightened, while if he tends to fall into bad habits and associations, every effort is made to get him into a new environment. If he still tends to revert to a life of crime, he is tagged as a deliberate offender and returned to jail. These cases, however, are not the rule. Of 3,000 men paroled in one district monthly, about twenty usually are returned as violators of their parole or by the courts.

Aside from giving the men a better chance to recreate their lives, by allowing them to go on parole when their minimum sentence is served and time taken off for good behavior, parole helps to reduce the tremendous cost of keeping them in jail. The prisons today are already overcrowded, and it costs from $2,000 to $4,000 per prisoner to construct new prisons.

More important than the economy, however, is the humanitarianism of the system. It was an old theory that when a prisoner had "paid his debt to society" he would be a better man. Parole does not coddle the prisoner, but when properly administered it studies the individual and endeavors to fit him into a place useful to himself and to society. Only by individual treatment can this be done.

THE AUTOMOBILE'S TOLL.

Since many automobile deaths are directly traceable to high speed, it might be useful for drivers to bear in mind the graphic comparison that sudden contact at 60 miles an hour produces the same results as driving off a ten-story building. If economy is more appealing to drivers, let them remember that a speed of 60 miles is three times as costly as 45 miles per hour.

Several exhaustive studies of the rising tide of motor accidents have recently been made. On one point all agree—that most of the fatal and minor accidents are due to reckless driving rather than mechanical defects, bad weather or road hazards. Though there were 500,000 fewer cars on the streets and highways of this country last year, deaths and injuries caused by motors increased.

The speeder, the weaving driver, the road hog cause most of the accidents. Pedestrians are, of course, to blame in many instances. They cross in the middle of the block, step out from behind parked cars looking the wrong way, and walk on country roads with their backs to oncoming traffic. Only in one case out of twenty is mechanical failure responsible for an accident. Defective brakes are the worst offenders, but lack of chains on slippery roads, defective headlights, and missing tail lights contribute their quota of trouble.

A remarkable disparity in the number of automobile fatalities is found in the statistics for various cities. A compilation by the Department of Commerce for 52 weeks ending September 3, showing the death rate from automobile accidents per 100,000 of population, credit New York with 17, New Orleans with 19, and San Francisco with 15. High on the blacklist is Washington, with a 36 rating; Richmond shows 40, Nashville 44, Pittsburgh 26, and Philadelphia slightly below 15. Baltimore's rating is 25.7.

Modern investigations are going into the various indirect and temperamental influences that govern drivers. An interesting fact was developed recently in a comparison of the characters of drivers who had accidents. It was revealed that one-fourth of all car operators who had serious collisions were "bad credit risks." Only about 6 per cent of the average population comes within this classification, yet a check showed that four times that percentage of accident drivers were listed on confidential bank lists as having poor credit and showing such characteristics as lack of consideration for others and recklessness.

It has grown to be a trite comparison to show that deaths from automobile accidents in the United States is greater for the same length of time than our losses in the World War. How to curb this toll of the modern death car is a problem. Revocation of driving permits is a suitable penalty for persistent traffic offenders, and it should be more rigidly applied.

BRAZIL'S TROUBLE GROWS.

Uncensored correspondence and dispatches from neighboring countries are gradually bringing news of the fratricidal strife in Brazil which show that it is assuming much larger proportions than are indicated by brief official statements. Experienced observers of Latin American affairs estimate that more than 100,000 troops of both sides are engaged in Brazil's civil war, a number never before equaled in South America.

It develops that, while the Sao Paulo uprising had been brewing for some time, the discovery of the State's intention to revolt frustrated the intended surprise attack on Rio de Janeiro. Instead, the dispatch of government troops to approach Sao Paulo from the south as well as directly overland from the north forced a division of rebel forces and put them on the defensive.

The mountainous character of the country dividing the states of Sao Paulo and Rio de Janeiro, however, has enabled the army of Governor de Toledo to defend his state against federal forces, and it is reported that government troops have suffered heavily in their attempts to storm these positions.

When the uprising occurred two months ago it was announced in Sao Paulo that the campaign of the constitutionalists to oust the provisional government and hold new elections would be joined by the states of Rio Grande do Sul and Minas Geraes, but this did not materialize. These states, in fact, have contributed men and supplies to assist the government troops.

So far the Brazilian navy has taken no part in the revolution beyond enforcing a blockade of Santos, the port of Sao Paulo, so that all vessels are avoiding this outlet of the great coffee and manufacturing state. An understanding is said to exist under which the Paulistas do not bombard the blockading vessels, and they in turn throw no shells into Santos. This understanding with the admiral in command is reported to have been facilitated by the dropping of bouquets on the decks of the battleships by rebel planes as a sample of their skill. Rebel leaders are still hopeful of winning over neighboring states to their cause, while impartial observers feel that the ultimate fate of the revolt will be determined by the decision of the navy to participate actively on one side or the other.

WAR IN DISGUISE.

War between Bolivia and Paraguay is an actuality in spite of the fact that neither country has declared war. For six days the fighting has continued at Fort Boqueron in the disputed Gran Chaco territory. Casualties have been heavy, although no definite reports of the number killed or wounded have been received. Bolivia is calling more troops to the colors. Paraguay recently sent strong reinforcements to the battlefront.

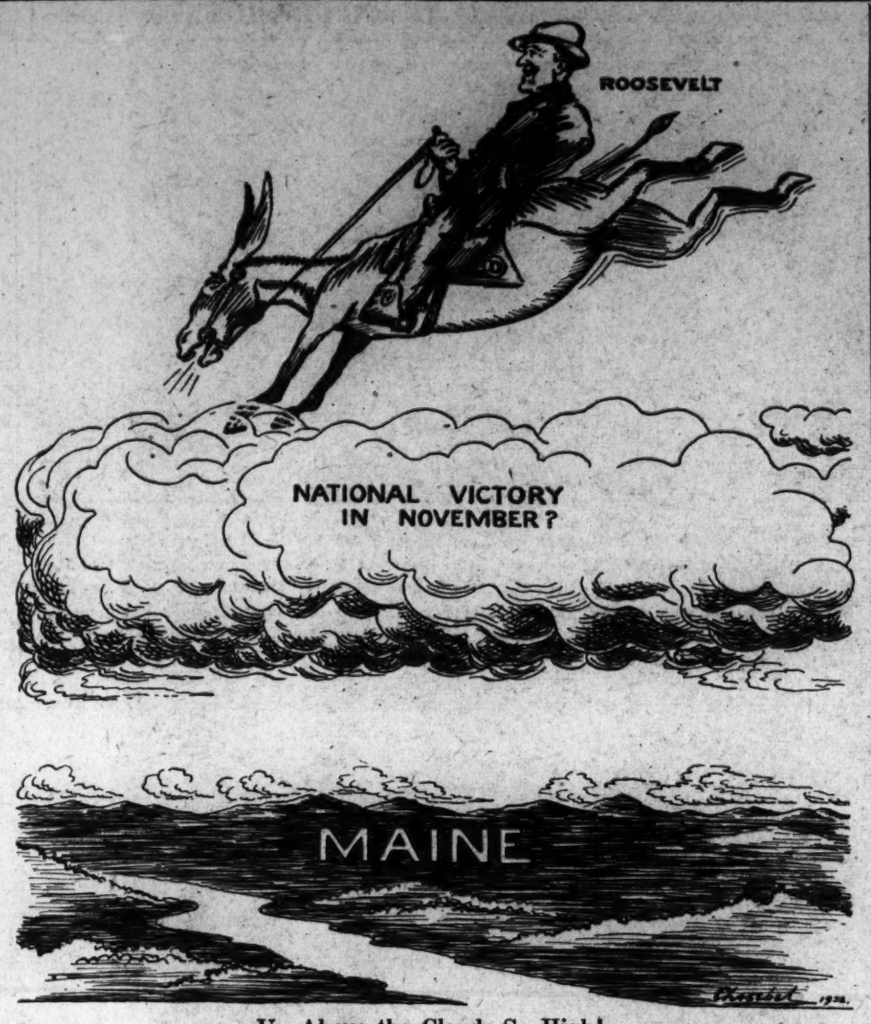
This is the second time within a year that the world has witnessed an outbreak of fighting on a major scale without the formality of declaring war. Japan drove the Chinese troops out of Manchuria and later engaged in a fierce battle with the Chinese at Shanghai. Yet neither country issued a declaration of war.

This reluctance to issue a declaration of war seems to be a result of the Kellogg-Briand pact, which outlaws war as an instrument of national policy. No government wishes to assume the responsibility of formally declaring war, even though it does not hesitate to engage in fighting to gain its ends. The League of Nations covenant and the Kellogg-Briand pact have aroused a powerful world-wide sentiment against any aggressor. Since a declaration of war might be construed in the public mind as contributory evidence of aggression, fighting goes on under false pretenses between belligerent governments.

The fighting between Bolivia and Paraguay illustrates once more how difficult it is to identify an aggressor. Each accuses the other of starting this war and each justifies its sacrifice of life on the ground that its territory was invaded by the foe. Hope of ending war by identifying the aggressor becomes dim indeed in a conflict of this kind. Probably the truth is that both countries are aggressors.

More tangible hope of preventing hostilities is contained in President Hoover's doctrine of refusing to recognize any territorial gains made as a result of war. That doctrine has been applied to the Gran Chaco dispute by the American republics. It has not prevented open hostilities, but it puts Bolivia and Paraguay on notice that they are wasting the blood of their young men in a hopeless cause. When the fighting is over the task of settling the dispute by pacific means will remain. If this doctrine can be strictly and universally applied it should become a powerful deterrent to war.

When Jouett Shouse and Senator Sheppard agree in chortling over Maine, who can say that Democrats are not united?



Up Above the Clouds So High!

POST HASTE.

State officials who heard Gov. Roosevelt's speech yesterday must have felt that it was largely implied criticism of them for not having done for agriculture in their States what he has done in New York.

Al Smith has canceled his political article for the Saturday Evening Post. He probably discovered, like many a new editor, that his own publication consumes ideas as fast as they grow.

Brazil refuses to alter our coffee deal, although her revolution has demoralized the market. She'll be sorry if we take to drinking tea.

The main political event of the moment certainly has the Democratic amplifiers and the Republican minimizers working overtime.

It is predicted that the new draft of a German constitution will omit the name republic. It is already out in practice as effectively as in several Latin-American autocracies.

What Washington wants is a street car combination that will give us a fair nickel fare.

Gov. Roosevelt not only backs Lieut. Gov. Lehman as his successor, but leaves him in charge for three weeks to give him some practice on the job.

Gov. Roosevelt, who says farmers' crops have lost $5,000,000,000 in buying power, is going to put it all back by restoring less than one-tenth that amount of farm exports.

There must have been an ill wind from the northeast yesterday. It didn't blow a single good josh to enliven the sober remarks of Senator Moses.

The bonus is now an inescapable issue, and Gov. Roosevelt might as well realize that he can't sidestep it for two months.

Chancellor von Papen may be able to kick out a Reichstag that opposes his government by a vote of 16 to 1, but he can't last against such odds.

China, which has been waiting for nearly a year for the league to fight her battles, threatens to go after the Japs. There are enough Chinamen to overrun and smother all the soldiers in Manchuria, but they probably won't try.

What about Maine? Well, what is there to say except that it was a sock which closed one G. O. P. eye, but opened the other?

DIFFICULT ART.

There is quite an art in gnawing the kernels off the cob and we've heard of gentlemen around town who profess they can give instructions if given a chance, says the Maryville, Mo., Forum.

The gentlemen scoff at the idea of using silver nobs to insert in the ends of the cob by which to hold the delicacy. They say to take a firm grasp with both hands and then start in at the word "go," being careful when arriving at the end of the cob not to get the other end of the cob behind the ear.

Some profess that their system is to take from two to three rows at one inning and gnaw lengthwise on the cob, whereas others say that if the cob is entirely buttered and salted the rotating motion gains more speed. Regardless of this, the experts point out that a person must have good front teeth which should meet squarely in order to get every kernel clean.

When a Disease Is Epidemic, the Only Safe Servants Are the Immune.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

YEARS ago the world was content with the ethical standards revealed by the slogan: "Let the buyer beware." Trickery was called shrewdness and the best liar got the most profit.

Even so late as Ben Franklin's time honesty was regarded as an unusual policy and advocated on the ground that it paid. The hero of fiction was described as "poor but honest" to distinguish him from ordinary paupers whose knavery was taken for granted.

Prosperity brought new standards. The poor who settled the West developed a new dignity. Equality and plenty nurtured self-respect. Schools and churches and opportunity combined to engender a universal ambition to "be somebody."

Predatory men exploited the country's resources and left their riches to a second generation that itched to be "in society."

And within the span of a century the land was filled with literate people who aspired to be gentlemen and gentlewomen.

Much of the striving was pathetic and vulgar, but the motive back of it was decent. People wished to be noble. And out of this ambition developed the conviction that decency is its own sufficient reward.

Small boys taught to be gentlemen because honest men and honesty was essential to their self-respect. The thief was an outcast and the grafter a social pariah. Public wrath and scorn destroyed the dishonest public official. Merchants adopted the one-price system. Advertising became honest. We were a land of respectacle, God-fearing people—ridiculous in many ways and by no means perfect, but fundamentally decent.

Then came another change.

The three forces that support virtue are religion, fear of the law or public opinion and pride in decency.

All three were robbed of their strength. Many agencies combined with ribald critics to weaken the influence of religion; failure to enforce prohibition developed almost universal contempt for law; public opinion, corrupted by rotten literature and movies and slowly adjusted to the fact of dishonor in public and private life, no longer was outraged by graft and crime; and pride ceased to require honor since public opinion no longer demanded it.

Now dishonesty and falsehood have broken us. Every hurt we suffer can be traced to trickery, deceit, false claims, sharp practice, dishonesty and dishonor.

Dishonor wrecked us and honor alone can save us. There is no hope in men who evade truth, warp facts, make false claims and falsely accuse their opponents.

If want of honor ruined us, men wanting in honor can not save us.

There is no hope for us except in honest thinking, honest speaking and honest doing. The one cure for corruption is an agency that is incorruptible.

Repeal Problem in Congress.

Philadelphia Public Ledger.

There will have to be decided wet victories to change the complexion of both houses before Congress will submit the question of repeal to the States. This was shown by the test votes at the last session. The members of either party are not bound by their national platforms or by the declarations of their presidential candidates. Several Democratic candidates in Southern districts have announced that if elected they will oppose repeal. Their platform declared straight out for repeal, while the Republican platform merely indorsed submission. Mr. Hoover and Mr. Roosevelt are both for repeal.

This can be made a clear-cut issue in the congressional elections only by placing the candidates on record in advance. The wet organization will oppose those who are not pledged for repeal. The drys will have to use the same weapon if they hope to block action for repeal by the new Congress.

"Governmental Saving."

Minneapolis Journal.

Mr. Garner's acceptance letter asserts:

"Every effort of the slim Democratic majority in the House to effect real governmental saving during the last session of Congress met the opposition of the administration."

One such effort to "effect real governmental saving," of course, was the Garner billion-dollar pork barrel scheme, which the President blocked. Another, which the President blocked, was Mr. Garner's insistence that an almost limitless flood of the taxpayers' money be poured into the pockets of every Tom, Dick and Harry seeking an "individual loan." Still another was the bonus grab.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Democrats Do Not Subscribe to Speeches of Curley and Daniels. They Do Not Help Their Party.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The utterances at the Portland convention of the American Legion by Mayor Curley, of Boston, and Josephus Daniels, of Raleigh, will be deeply regretted by all red-blooded Americans, irrespective of political affiliations. But since both of these gentlemen happen to be among the so-called leaders in the Democratic party their remarks will be especially deplored by millions of Democrats who do not subscribe to these hysterical outbursts.

While such pitiful and deplorable statements coming from men whom the Democratic party has honored will certainly not help the party under whose banner they claim to march, it should be remembered that neither of the major parties is free from individuals who are weighty liabilities rather than assets to their respective parties. That the Democratic party should not be measured by such men as Mayor Curley and Josephus Daniels is evident when we read the stirring and patriotic appeal of Al Smith in this week's issue of the Saturday Evening Post, on the same issue discussed at Denver by the two gentlemen referred to.

While each of the two major political parties naturally desires every vote it can possibly get, there is no mistaking the fact that this great country of ours would be much better off if our leaders on both sides would speak out boldly and firmly against the unsound principles enunciated by our lesser political aspirants.

A DEMOCRAT.

Taxpayer Says Gen. Glassford Did Not Sufficiently Consider Welfare of Washington.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I have read your editorial in The Post wherein you conclude with the statement that Chief of Police Glassford should resign. I heartily agree with that conclusion. I have maintained all along that he was responsible for the bonus mob staying here as long as it did. If he had considered the welfare of the people of Washington as much as he did his former buddies he would not have encouraged the latter's stay as he did. One would think that his salary was being paid by the bonus mob instead of the taxpayers of this city, of whom I happen to be one. If the District Commissioners have any backbone they will insist on Glassford's resignation.

Wasteful and Unnecessary Trolley Car Stop at P Street Bridge.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Washington is favored probably more than any other city in the number of stops made by street cars and by the courtesy of conductors in opening doors to let in people who could just as easily take the car following. Perhaps there are too many stops. One apparently unnecessary stop is that at the P Street Bridge near Twenty-second street. All cars bound for and coming from Alta Vista, Friendship Heights, Cabin John, Potomac Heights and Georgetown, probably several hundred a day, stop at either end of this bridge. It is not a stop, as nobody is allowed to get aboard or leave the car. Why is this? If the structure is unsafe, as is hinted, why isn't it attended to? Heavy automobiles speed across it. The street cars go full speed over other bridges of the system. And as stopping and starting cars uses considerable power, the transportation company would save considerable money by rectifying the matter; also, the traveling public would not be annoyed by what appears to be an unnecessary stop.

JUST FOLKS

FISHERMAN PHILOSOPHY.

A fisherman will rise at four and tiptoe softly from the door
And smile to see the morning sun come up with shafts of flame,
And with the sweet breeze at his throat, he'll sing the while he rows his boat
And takes the burdens of his sport as parcels of his game.
He'll never sit around and whine because he gets a tangled line,
Nor whimper that his lot is hard the day when bites are few;
But knowing where the big ones lurk, with brain and brawn he'll gladly work
And count the day well spent when he comes home with one or two.

A fisherman may weary grow, but seldom will he let you know,
Or count the trouble of his sport above the pleasure gained.
Should bait be lost or leader break, such slight annoyances he'll take,
As part of every angler's lot and easily explained.
No fisherman will sit and cry and all the hardships magnify,
Nor tell what drudgery it is to wade in stream or bay.
He'll even, safe at home at night, with smiles of rapturous delight
Recount the thrilling story of the fish that got away.

So let's be fishermen, I say, and count what blessings fall our way
And take the disappointments and the burdens as they come.
Let's look on pain and care and strife as incidents of human life,
And not sit sighing o'er our woes till everyone is glum.
Let's reckon in the angler's way the final total of the day,
The beauty seen, the friends we've met, the little joys we've claimed,
And though we come back home at night, both bruised and weary from the fight
Of goals we've tried in vain to reach, we need not be ashamed.

CHAPIN ENCOURAGED BY PRICE ADVANCES

Index of 100 Commodities Is 9 Per Cent Above Low Point, He Declares.

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Chapin of the Commerce Department yesterday said he was "much encouraged" by the recent upward movement of prices both at home and abroad.

In his first press conference as a member of President Hoover's Cabinet, Secretary Chapin said that since the low point reached late in May domestic prices have shown an almost continuous advance.

At the present time, he continued, an index of more than a hundred leading commodities is more than 9 per cent above its low point.

"Approximately 80 per cent of the commodities whose weekly price changes are being examined in the Department of Commerce," he said, "are now above their low point.

"Advances Exceedingly Rapid."

"Price advances of a substantial number of commodities have been exceedingly rapid and large.

"Further examination of this same group of commodities shows that textile products have registered the largest increase and are now 30 per cent above their low; food products have advanced 25 per cent, nonferrous metals 15 per cent, paint materials 11 per cent. Chemicals and paper and pulp products are the only groups which have not yet advanced.

"The increases in the price of individual commodities from their low points have ranged from 2 to 3 per cent in the case of oats, lumber and coke, to over 100 per cent for potatoes and packer hides.

Foreign Increases Noted.

Citing "a distinct change—which may or may not indicate a change in trend"—evident from the July foreign price statistics, he added:

"Prices in foreign countries have been tending steadily downward during most of the last three years, and in July of the 24 countries from which data are received only two reported prices higher than in the preceding month.

"But of the eighteen foreign countries for which July statistics are now available, eight show increases, two show no change and only five report decreases greater than half a per cent. The increases appear to have been fairly well distributed between agricultural and nonagricultural commodities.

"Reports reaching the department covering the month of August indicate a further strengthening of foreign prices."

Surpluses Are Obstacles.

Chapin added, "It should be appreciated that there is a formidable obstacle encountering any substantial international price recovery in the heavy accumulation of surpluses of standard world staples, such as copper, cotton, rubber, coffee, wheat, &c."

Regarding the emergency relief program, the Secretary expressed the hope that in the next there months "we are going to see real evidences" of the upturn. He was asked if manufacturing generally had responded to the increases in domestic commodity prices. While replying in the negative he gave the textile and shoe industries as examples of some of the industries which had responded to the upward commodity price trend.

Sinking of 4 Schooners Is Denied by Fishermen

Biloxi, Miss., Sept. 14 (A.P.).—Sinking of four fishing schooners anchored in Backbay today was quickly followed by a formal denial from headquarters of 1,500 striking shrimp fishermen that the group was responsible for the incident.

The fishermen's committee posted a $50 reward for the arrest and prosecution of anyone connected with the scuttling of the boats.

120 SOLDIERS KILLED IN WRECK OF TRAIN

wreck was believed to have been caused by a mushy roadbed, which had been affected by heavy rains recently.

The 500 troops were en route from Sidi Del Abbes, Algeria, to Oujda, Morocco, the territory made famous by Abd El Krim a few years ago during his stubborn resistance against French and Spanish troops in this area.

Thirty-one cars and a baggage wagon made the plunge down the ravine with the locomotive. From the wreckage came the heart-breaking cries and groans of the buried soldiers.

One of the two officers commanding the detachment was killed and most of the train crew were among the dead.

Rescue work was made most difficult by the limited means of communication, but the whole population of the town of Turenne turned out to help.

These people were headed by Gen. Paul Rollet, inspector of the Foreign Legion, and local authorities, who arrived in a special train late today. The train turned about and took the first of the injured who had been extricated from debris to Tlemcen.

The territory in which the wreck occurred is in the foothills of the Atlas Mountains which stretch from the Atlantic Ocean across northwestern Africa to Tunis on the Mediterranean Sea.

The district is devoid of railroad lines except for the Coastal Line from Morocco City to Algeria. The French Army authorities use the line for transportation of troops very infrequently, although it is the principal public conveyance medium along the northern African coast.

The Foreign Legion maintains headquarters in both Sidi and Del Abbes and Oujda, and it was presumed this was one of the regular troop movements that occurred.

Tlemcen or Tlemsen, is 70 miles southwest by south of Oran and is at an altitude of 2,703 feet, indicating the nature of the rise from the sea to the mountains.

All of this country is noted for its ancient masonry and rich farm lands, which yield figs and rich harvests of cereals.

The Queen Sylvia Band of Elkins gave a concert tonight.

AIRPORT IS OPPOSED TO RENDERING PLANT

Smokestack Would Become Intolerable, Officials Say in Opposition.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Opposition to establishment of a rendering plant of Norton & Co., for which a permit has been granted by the Board of Zoning Appeals of Arlington County, was strengthened yesterday by the support of officials of the Washington-Hoover Airport, the Ludington Air Lines, Eastern Air Transport Co., Pennsylvania Air Lines and Atlantic Seabord Airways, who voiced strong disapproval of the proposed site of the plant. The site upon which the plant is to be located is at Washington-Richmond highway and Columbia pike.

The county board will hold a special meeting today to consider the situation.

Members of the special committee appointed at the mass meeting in Virginia Highlands on Monday night met with officials of Norton Co. yesterday and failed to reach any agreement. Failing in this move, the committee will appear before the county board Saturday to see whether that body wishes to enter into the proceedings which are now being perfected to take the matter to the Circuit Court.

In opposing erection of the plant, airport officials claim construction of a smokestack 100 feet high would become intolerable.

It is claimed by the company planning to erect the plant that it would enrich the county treasury through payment of substantial taxes.

ROOSEVELT OUTLINES PROGRAM FOR FARM RECOVERY

G.O.P. TARIFF 'EVILS' ASSAILED AT TOPEKA

Cites New York Relief Work in Promising Market Revival in U. S.

Following is the complete text of the speech delivered by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt in Topeka, Kans., yesterday:

I have come here not alone to talk to you about farms and farming. I have come just as much and even more to listen and learn. On this whole trip I am seeking, as on many previous occasions, first-hand contacts with that section of the Nation which is responsible for the major part of the food supply of the Nation.

In my contacts here and in the discussion that I have, I want to hear from men and women of all parties and of all views on the question of farm relief. I am going to follow one simple principle of this discussion, and that is complete and absolute frankness. This question is too serious to be trifled with by empty political platitudes or specious and ingenious tricks of language or of thought. In dealing with this subject I want to avoid on the one hand political sky-writing, and on the other, political wise-cracking.

In keeping faith with this principle of getting down to business, let me say what I think we all recognize—that there is no single remedy that will by itself bring immediate prosperity to the agricultural population of all parts of the United States. You know that, and I know that, and it is a good point to start from.

I know this personally for four reasons. First, I have lived on a farm in the State of New York for 50 years. Second, I have run a farm in the State of Georgia for eight years. Third, ever since I went into public life I have made it a point to travel over this country, and in so doing I have maintained what I think modesty will permit me to say is a genuine and practical interest in the farm problems of the various parts of this country at first hand. Finally, as Governor of the State of New York, the farm products of which rank fifth or sixth among all States of the Union, I have in four years devoted myself to building a farm program of which the people of my State, regardless of party, have some reason to be proud.

Stresses Relief Given Farmers in New York.

In the campaign for the governorship in 1928 the fact was properly stressed that even though New York is often thought of as a State primarily urban, yet its own farm problem was of immediate and critical importance. Some of the distress that you and the Middle West have felt was present in parts of New York in the same acute form. Without indulging in excessive promises, I assured the farmers of New York that their problems would be met by practical and definite action.

In the creation of a State plan I recognized the principle of bringing more than one mind to bear on the problem and of putting more than one shoulder to the wheel. Not alone through the process of appointing commissions and calling conferences, but by the actual enactment of legislation we built our policies. In the years that have followed we have attempted a number of substantial things. They are set forth in the public record: Existing tax obligations of local communities were lightened to the extent of $24,000,000 a year. State aid for roads was redistributed on a mileage basis instead of on an assessment basis, so that the poorer communities could enjoy exactly the same assistance in the improvement of dirt roads as that given to the richer suburban communities.

The same principles of aid were applied to rural schools in order to guarantee a modern education for the children of farmers even in the most sparsely settled communities. The State assumed the entire cost of constructing and reconstructing roads and bridges in the State highway systems, thus lifting another heavy tax burden from farm property. The State paid all except a very small fraction of the cost of grade-crossing elimination so that safety might be afforded to the less as well as the more fortunate districts of the State. Appropriations for the safeguarding of rural health were increased. A provision for funds for a soil survey of the State was made and this is already paying a substantial dividend in more profitable farming, in its aid to our State reforestation program and in enabling farmers to get necessary road improvements, telephone lines and electric power lines. The cooperative corporation law and the laws regulating traffic in farm produce were revised and strengthened in the interest of the farmer. Very recently legislation was enacted to create a new system of rural credit organizations to meet the emergency created by the collapse of rural banks.

I cite these examples to illustrate the many angles that attended the building up of this program. The great lesson of it all is that there is no single cure-all, but that progress comes from a comprehension of many factors and a sincere attempt to move forward on many lines at the same time.

Describes Distress Of Rural Families.

I see no necessity for discussing in detail the acute distress in which the farmer finds himself. You all know that better than any one can tell you. You have felt it in your own lives and experiences. And you have seen it reflected in limiting the opportunities that you have wanted to give your families. This experience of yours is far more moving than any phrases of mine or of any one else. This distress has grown for more than eleven years over a radius of hundreds of miles from where I stand, in as productive and fertile a country as the world has ever seen. We have poverty and want in the midst of abundance. With incomparable natural wealth within the reach of these progressive farmers they struggle with poverty and unbelievably hard times. They try to hold their farms under conditions produced by corn hogs, cotton, wool and cattle and wheat selling on the farm at prices as low or lower than at any time in the history of the United States. There has been some slight rise from these low levels, but in spite of it, there remains in millions of farm homes continuing uncertainty and apprehension. This means that the farmer misses not only the things that make life tolerable, but those that made decent living possible. It means—and this is most important—that the farmers' children must suffer the denial of those chances for education that justice and fairness should assure to them. We all of us hoped that our children would have a "better break" than we had. But the economic turn has almost blasted that hope for the farm parent. This means nothing less than the shadow of peasantry.

There are six and one-half million families to whom this deepening shadow is a grim reality. These six and one-half million families represent 22 per cent of the total population of the United States. They are the people actually living on farms. It is fair to ask what percentage of the national incomes comes each year to this 22 per cent of the population. Let us remember these figures: In 1920, this 22 per cent of the population got 15 per cent of the national income. In 1925, it received 11 per cent. By 1928 agriculture's share had dropped to only just about 9 per cent and the most recent estimate, based on the figures of the United States Department of Agriculture itself shows that farm income today has dropped to about 7 per cent.

Remember well that during the past four years when he has been the Chief Executive of the Nation, and also as a member of the Cabinet during the previous six years, the dominant factor in our governmental economic policies has been the distinguished gentleman who is running against me.

But let us not stop at our six and one-half-million farm families. Let us remember that 50,000,000 men, women and children within our borders are directly and immediately concerned with the present and the future of agriculture.

Again, let us not stop there. Another fifty or sixty million people who are engaged in business or in industry in our large and small city communities are at last coming to an understanding of the simple fact that their lives and futures are profoundly concerned with the prosperity of agriculture. They realize more and more that there will be no outlets for their products unless their fifty million fellow Americans who are directly concerned with agriculture are given the buying power to buy city products.

State Interdependence Again Is Emphasized.

Our economic life today is a seamless web. Whatever our vocation, we are forced to recognize that while we have enough factories and enough machines in the United States to supply all our needs, those factories will be closed part of the time and these machines will lie idle part of the time if the buying power of fifty million people within our borders remains restricted or dead as it is today.

I pointed out in my speech of acceptance the interdependence of the people of the United States—the fact that we can not have independence in its true sense unless we take full account of our interdependence in order to provide a balanced economic well-being for all. Industrial prosperity can reach only artificial and temporary heights as it did in 1929 if at the same time there is no agricultural prosperity. This Nation can not endure if it is half "boom" and half "broke."

That word "interdependence" applies also to the relationship between the different parts of our country. If in the South a cotton-raising population goes into bankruptcy because the price of cotton is so low that it does not pay for the cost of production, you in the wheat belt or in the corn belt are directly affected by a tragedy a thousand miles away. If you who raise wheat or corn lose your homes through foreclosure, every other farmer in the East or in the South or on the Pacific Coast, and every factory worker in every part of the country is directly affected by your distress.

Interdependence within the field of agriculture itself is a vital fact. Every kind of farming is related to every other kind. A disturbance anywhere within the structure causes repercussions everywhere.

If we would get to the root of the difficulty we will find it in the present lack of equality for agriculture. Farming has not had an even break in our economic system. The things that our farmers buy today cost 9 per cent more than they did before the World War. The things they sell bring them 43 per cent less than then. These figures, as of August 1, which are authenticated by the Department of Agriculture, mean that the farm dollar is worth less than half of what it represenetd before the war. Remember this, my friends, the things that farmers buy, protected by Mr. Grundy's tariff, are 9 per cent above prewar; the things that farmers sell—and remember world prices fix domestic prices—are 43 per cent below prewar prices. The correction of this condition must in some way bring the purchasing power of the farmer within reach of the things that Mr. Grundy has protected. It means finding a cure for the condition that compels the farmer to trade in 1932 two wagon loads for the things for which in 1914 he traded one wagon load. This is as short a way as any to state the farm problem.

There are two undeniable historic facts of the past twelve years.

First, the present administration, and the two previous administrations, in all of which the President was an important member, failed utterly to understand the farm problem as a national whole, or to plan for its relief; and, second, they destroyed the foreign markets for our exportable farm surplus beginning with the Fordney-McCumber tariff and ending with the Grundy tariff, thus violating the simplest principle of international trade, and forcing the inevitable retaliation of foreign countries.

I can not forbear at this point expressing my amazement that in the face of this retaliation—inevitable from the day the Grundy tariff became law and predicted by every competent observer at home and abroad—not one effective step to deal with it or to alleviate its consequences has been taken or proposed by the national administration. In that attitude the Republican leadership, from the President down, shows an incredible disregard of facts, combined with stubborn indifference to the consequences of their folly.

Permanent Recovery Measures Suggested.

Of some steps which should have been taken and which should now be taken to meet this situation I have already spoken and I shall have more to say. At this moment I want to speak of other phases of the problem of permanent farm relief. Let us pause to take a look at the problem in the longer perspective. We must have, I assert with all possible emphasis, national planning in agriculture. We must not have, as now, the scattering of our efforts through the heterogeneous disassociated activities of our Government agencies dealing with the problem. On the other hand, we must avoid the present tendency to rush from one expedient to another. We need unity of planning, coherence in our administration and emphasis upon cures rather than upon drugs.

On my part, I suggest the following permanent measures:

First, I would reorganize the United States Department of Agriculture, looking toward the administrative machinery needed to build a program of national planning. I should be the last person in the world to become a harsh and thoughtless critic of a department that has done so many good things. But I know enough of Government and of the ways of Government to know that the growth of a department is often irregular, illogical and haphazard. It is always easy to add to a department; additions mean more jobs. But to cut away unnecessary functions, eliminate useless jobs or redirect routine activities toward more fruitful purposes is a task that must be undertaken.

Second, I favor a definite policy looking to the planned use of the land. We already have more than enough tilled land to meet our needs for many years to come, since our population has ceased to expand so rapidly and agriculture is becoming from year to year more efficient. We have in the thirteen original States of the East and a few others, great acres of relatively poor land hardly worth cultivation which provide either actual or potential competition with better land. This lowers the quality of farm products, depresses the prices of better farm products, creates great added expense because of the faulty distribution of the population and consumes public and private resources in attempting the development of means of living and communication that should not be needed. The sum total result of all this is waste and hardship. To provide the necessary guidance for the correction of this faulty distribution of farms and of farming energy there is need for an economic soil survey, especially in the Eastern States, to be carried on jointly by the Nation and the States through the initiative of the Federal Government. This soil survey should have a much broader scope than present surveys, and should be directed towards the problems of proper utilization of the land and future distribution of population along sound economic lines. It should lead to mapping and classification of land of all kinds, to determine which lands are best suited for agricultural production, which lands are marginal and which lands are suited only to growing tree crops.

Let me give you this simple example of something I have actually done. Remember, at the same time, that this does not apply to the wheat belt or the corn belt but does apply to most of the Eastern States. We in the State of New York have approved, by vote of the people, the expenditure of ten millions of dollarh toward the elimination of marginal lands from actual farming. This year alone we have bought over 200,000 acres of unprofitable marginal farm lands and have turned these acres into the growing of trees for lumber and pulp. I do not have to point out to you the fact that this Eastern program is not only good for the East but is also of value in that it removes the competition of marginal hill farms from your own crops in the West.

Agricultural Planning Benefits Pointed Out.

Such planning, designed primarily to gain a better and less wasteful distribution of agricultural productive effort, inevitably will point the way to readjustments in the distribution of the population in general. The pendulum is swingnig back from the intense concentration of population in cities. We know the possibilities for the greater ease and comfort of modern rural and small town living. This does not mean a "back-to-the-land" movement in the ordinary sense of a return to agriculture. It means definite efforts to decentralize industry.

It will effect cheaper and more wholesome living for much of our population To the farmer it will mean bringing a considerable part of his market closer to his own door yard.

A third process of permanent relief for agriculture can come through national leadership in the reduction and more equitable distribution of taxes. With respect to this I propose to exert, through the Presidency, as I have done through the governorship, such influence as I can, in favor of a national movement to reorganize local government in the direction of eliminating some of the tax burden which now bears so heavily on farms. There are too many taxing districts, too many local units of government, too many unnecessary offices and functions. The governmental underbrush which has sprouted for years should be cleared away. In addition we need a clearer separation of fields of taxation as between the Nation, the States and the localities. By so doing, we can lift some of the tax burden resting on land, and I mean to stress that objective by every means at my command. These three objectives are of the sort that will require slow-moving development. They constitute a necessary building for the future. In meeting the immediate problem of distress, however, it is necessary to adopt quick-acting remedies.

In the first place, there is the necessity for the refinancing of farm mortgages in order to relieve the burden of excessive interest charges and the grim threat of foreclosure. Much was done in the last session of Congress to extend and liquefy and pass on to the Federal Government the burden of debt of railroads, banks, utilities and industry in general. Something in the nature of a gesture was made in the direction of financing urban homes. But practically nothing was done toward removing the destructive menace of debt from farm homes. It is my purpose, if elected, to direct all the energy of which I am capable to the formulation of definite projects to relieve this distress. Specifically, I am prepared to insist that Federal credit be extended to banks, insurance or loan companies, or other corporations of individuals which hold farm mortgages among their assets—but that these credits must be made on the condition that every reasonable assistance be given to the mortgagors where the loans are sound, with the purpose of preventing foreclosure. These conditions must be enforced. Lower interest rates and an extension of principal payments will save thousands of farms to their owners. And hand in hand with this we must adopt the definite policy of giving those who have lost the title to their farms, now held by institutions seeking credit from governmental agencies, the preferential opportunity of getting their property back.

The second immediate necessity is to provide a means of bringing about, through governmental effort, a substantial reduction in the difference between the prices of the things the farmer sells and the things he buys. One way of attacking this disparity is by restoring international trade through tariff readjustments.

Scope of Democratic Tariff Policy Outlined.

The Democratic tariff policy consists, in large measure, of negotiating agreements with individual countries permitting them to sell goods to us in return for which they will let us sell to them goods and crops which we produce. An effective application of this principle will restore the flow of international trade, and the first result of that flow will be to assist substantially the American farmer in disposing of his surplus. It is recognized, however, that to take up the slack until international trade is sufficiently restored, we must devise means to provide for the farmer a benefit which will give him in the shortest possible time the equivalent of what the protected manufacturer gets from the tariff. You farmers put this well in a single phrase, "We must make the tariff effective."

In the last few years many plans have been advanced for achieving this object. None has been given a trial. The circumstances are so complex that no man can say with assurance that one particular plan is applicable to all crops or even that one plan is better than another in relation to a particular crop.

One fact I want to make clear, with all possible emphasis. There is no reason to despair merely because defects have been found in all of these plans; or because some of them have been discarded by responsible leaders in favor of new plans. The fact that so much earnest study and investigation of this problem has been made, from so many angles, and by so many men is, in my opinion, ground for assurance rather than despair. Such a wealth of information has been accumulated, so many possibilities explored, so many able minds enlisted, and, more important still, so much education on the subject provided for and by the farmers themselves, that the time has come when able and thoughtful leaders who have followed this development from the beginning are now focusing on the basic elements of the problem and the practical nature of its solution.

Within the past year many of our principal industrialists also have come to the conclusion that since the great decline of our export trade the chief hope for industrial rehabilitation lies in some workable method of dealing with farm surpluses.

Support for the trial of some plan to put the tariff into effect seems to be found everywhere except in the administration at Washington. This official lack of sympathy has probably done more to prevent the development of concrete, generally acceptable plans than any single force. To me it appears the administration takes a wholly unfair attitude. It says, in substance, that since a perfect plan has not been developed nothing can be done; and at the same time it takes a position wholly inimical to every effort made during the past eleven years to provide workable means of relief. This negative position taken by the administration is more than a mere failure to assume leadership. It is an absolute repudiation of responsibility. This negative, even hostile, position has included a disposition on the part of the administration to set proponents of one plan off against another; the apparent object being to create a situation in which it is possible for administration leadership to say, "how can we do anything for agriculture when it is not agreed within itself as to what it wants to do?"

It will be my purpose, my friends, to compose the conflicting elements of these various plans, to gather the benefit of the long study and consideration of them; to coordinate efforts to the end, that agreement may be reached upon the details of a distinct policy, aimed at producing the result to which all these efforts and plans are directed—the restoration of agriculture to economic equality with other industries within the United States. I seek to give to that portion of the crop consumed in the United States a benefit equivalent to a tariff sufficient to give your farmers an adequate price.

Demands of Farmers For Relief Approved.

I want now to state what seems to be the specifications upon which most of the reasonable leaders of agriculture have agreed, and to express here and now my whole-hearted accord with these specifications.

First: The plan must provide for the producer of staple surplus commodities, such as wheat, cotton, corn (in the form of hogs) and tobacco, a tariff benefit over world prices which is equivalent to the benefit given by the tariff to industrial products. This differential benefit must be so applied that the increase in farm income, purchasing and debt paying power will not stimulate further production.

Second: The plan must finance itself. Agriculture has at no time sought and does not now seek any such access to the public treasury as was provided by the futile and costly attempts at price stabilization by the Federal Farm Board. It seeks only equality of opportunity with tariff-protected industry.

Third: It must not make use of any mechanism which would cause our European customers to retaliate on the ground of dumping. It must be based upon making the tariff effective and direct in its operation.

Fourth: It must make use of existing agencies and so far as possible be decent in its administration so that the chief responsibility for its operation will rest with locality rather than with newly created bureaucratic machinery in Washington.

Fifth. It must operate as nearly as possible on a cooperative basis and its effect must be to enhance and strengthen the cooperative movement. It should, moreover, be constituted so that it can be withdrawn whenever the emergency has passed and normal foreign markets have been reestablished.

Sixth. The plan must not be coercive. It must be voluntary and the individual producer should at all times have the opportunity of nonparticipation if he so desires. I like the idea that the plan should not be put into operation unless it has the support of a reasonable majority of the producers of the exportable commodity to which it is to apply. It must be so organized that the benefits will go to the man who participates.

These, it seems to me, are the essential specifications of a workable plan. In determining the details necessary to the solution of so vast a problem it goes without saying that many minds must meet and many persons must work together. Such cooperation must of necessity come from those who have had the widest experience with the problem and who enjoy to the greatest degree the confidence of the farmers in this country. Without in any sense seeking to avoid responsibility, I shall avail myself of the widest possible range of such assistance. My willingness to do this is fully attested by the extent to which the development of our agricultural program in New York has been brought about through the assistance given to me on a nonpartisan, nonpaid basis, by the leaders of agriculture in the State of New York. This cooperation and advice which I received in New York came not only from those directly interested in agriculture but from the leaders in the Legislature as well. There were there, as ther are in the Congress of the United States, far-sighted and patriotic servants, Republicans and Democrats, who are willing to put the welfare of agriculture and of the country as a whole ahead of party advantage. To such leaders in all parties I shall look for guidance, good will and support.

After all, the farmer's hope for the future must rest upon the policy and the spirit in which his case is considered. His problem is one of difficulty. It is for him to decide whether he wants the solution of this problem to be committed to leaders who are determined to relieve the inequities which have caused his distress, or to leaders whose record clearly shows that they are determined to preserve a staggering subsidy for industry, but to give agriculture only a measure of words and more words.

Administration Record On Problem Attacked.

The essence of this question comes down to a matter of keeping faith with American agriculture. On my part, I can stand on my own record and on the policies I have just set forth.

On the opposite side, you have the long record of the present administration.

In setting forth that record you know better than I that the farmers' hope has had to rest upon the policy and spirit in which his case was considered by the Government. We can fully test the policy and spirit of the present administration. It runs back a long time, because those leaders have held public office before. In those offices they have had ample opportunity to demonstrate their attitude toward agriculture.

When the depression in agriculture began in 1921, Republican leaders first sought to belittle the plight of agriculture. They claimed that the old familiar tariff remedy would suffice; and they offered the Fordney-McCumber tariff act, passed (God save the mark) under the ironic label of farm relief. The Republican leaders in positions of national responsibility at that time—and this of course includes the then secretary of Commerce—either did not or would not realize the change in international conditions due to international debts. They closed their eyes to the outstanding economic fact. Prior to the war we had paid our interest on our debts to Europe by means of agricultural exports. After the war, because we had changed to a creditor, and Europe was in debt to us, it was necessary that we demand either goods or gold in return. The Fordney-McCumber tariff barrier shut off the normal tide of trade. Europe could not pay, so she could not buy. Specifically, she began to stop buying our surplus farm products.

To offset the harmful effect of this tariff situation, intelligent and responsible farm leaders worked out, in 1922, what they called a program for equality for agriculture. Plans to achieve this equality for agriculture were brought before members of the President's Cabinet at that time. They moved in the direction of a Republican agricultural conference to consider it. The conference met. It took the amazing position that production should be reduced to the demands of the domestic market by the cheerful means, it appeared, of "starving out" the farmers who had formerly exported to Europe. It is a matter of common knowledge that the President, then the Secretary of Commerce, was not without influence in the determination of this result.

In fact, the conclusions of that grim agricultural conference were strikingly similar to those voiced subsequently by the Secretary of Commerce himself. In 1925, for example, he said "continuance of overproduction means surplus, and that can only be corrected by prices low enough to make production unprofitable for some of the acreage in use." In plain English this meant "lower the price; starve out one-third of the farms; then see what happens." Throughout the whole agricultural agony of the ensuing three years the Secretary of Commerce set himself adamant against all relief proposals. Farm leaders suggested segregation of export surplus from the domestic market. With marked ascerbity he stated in a letter that such a step would "subsidize the British Empire." The McNary-Haugen legislation called forth violent and abusive veto messages. There was, to put it mildly, no protest from the then Secretary of Commerce.

The Secretary of the Treasury in 1926 well phrased the attitude of the administration. He insisted that any attempt to raise domestic prices was a "subsidy" and he stated that "if given to five agricultural commodities the Government could not logically refuse to give the same treatment to the textile, boot and shoe, coal and other industries"—sublimely disregarding the plain fact that the tariff was already giving those industries, in effect, the highest subsidy in history.

Limiting Farm Output To U. S. Market Hit.

Now to put forth, as the Secretary of Commerce did, the idea of limiting farm production to the domestic market was simply to threaten agriculture with a terrific penalty. Apparently either he did not see, or did not care, that this meant allowing wheat land in Kansas to remain idle, forcing foreclosure of farm mortgages, wrecking farm families, while our withdrawal from the world's markets principally benefited foreign producers. He did not ask the manufacturers to reduce their exports. As Secretary of Commerce he made no fight for American agriculture's share of world trade, though he could find time to assist foreign sales of every nonagricultural product. In his campaign speeches of 1928 he offered merely a program of cooperative marketing and self-help. This was to be developed through a farm board as a means of handling the surplus, although he should have known, as responsible farm leaders knew, that the cooperatives obviously could not undertake the burden of controlling the great surplus cut adrift by tariff barriers. He could and should have seen that they handled only a relatively small volume, and that it would be impossible for the members to shoulder the load and the cost. The idea of "stabilizing" through speculative operations was conceived and was written into the platform of 1928 and was vigorously supported by the candidate for the Presidency. You now know to your cost what stabilizing meant in practice.

Meanwhile, the familiar old song of the benefits to be derived from the tariff was heard. In 1928 in his acceptance speech, Mr. Hoover, said: "An adequate tariff is the foundation of farm relief." He and his supporters insisted in 1928 that we were importing $3,300,000,000 of farm products and that an adequate tariff laid on these would be sufficient for the relief of agriculture. It was a ghastly fraud. The principal items of "agricultural-imports" were rubber, silk, coffee, tea and the like—a long list of exotic and tropical goods, including such American farm products as elephants' tusks, skins of the Russian ermine and walaby, and elks' hides. The fact was that imports which competed with products grown in America amounted only to $460,000,000; and sugar represented over half of this figure. The truth was that our farmers do not produce the items proposed to be protected by a tariff—they consume them. The "remedy" handed the farmer was not to raise his selling price, but to raise his cost of living.

I take it that the process of education through hard knocks has gone far enough to make it unnecessary for me to comment further. The claim that the Republican discriminatory tariff methods are a benefit to the farmer is a cynical and pitiless fraud.

Shortly after his inauguration in 1929, the President assembled a special session of Congress. He went through the form of fulfilling his campaign promises by the passing of his agricultural marketing act and the Hawley-Smoot tariff. The decline of prices increased, a slump was apparent. The cooperatives could not meet the situation. This resulted in a tremendous undigested surplus overhanging the market; it put a millstone around the neck of the cooperatives. The effort resulted in squandering hundreds of millions of the taxpayers' money. Farm Board speculative operations must and shall come to an end.

President's Acceptance Speech Is Criticized.

When the futility of maintaining prices of wheat and cotton through so-called stabilization, became apparent, the President's Farm Board, of which his Secretary of Agriculture was a member, invented the cruel joke of advising farmers to allow 20 per cent of their wheat lands to lie idle, to plow up every third row of cotton and to shoot every tenth dairy cow. Surely they knew that his advice would not—indeed, could not—be taken. It was probably offered as the foundation of an alibi. They wanted to be able to say to the farmers: "You did not do as we told you to do. Blame yourselves."

Now, after the harm has been done, the President's acceptance speech of 1932 fully recognizes the futility of the stabilizing experiment and merely apologizes for the results. In order to avoid responsibility, he claims that the Farm Board departed "from its original purpose by making loans to farmers, cooperatives and to preserve prices from panic." It was his Farm Board. Why did he permit such a departure?

The President's acceptance speech, with its artful excuses and its empty promise, will bear careful reading by the farmers of this country, in the light of the promises of 1928. I wish that the Republican campaign organization would provide every farmer with a copy of the President's acceptance speech. I can imagine a farmer sitting on his doorstep meditating on the questions that have caused him so much concern, while he reads that speech.

The farmer asks the question: "How may we expect that our exports will be restored and some way provided by which our customers may pay for our surplus produce with goods which we farmers can use." He reads the answer in the acceptance speech: "I am squarely for a protective tariff."

"Does this," asks the farmer, "mean the Grundy tariff bill that you signed?" The acceptance speech is silent on that point.

Again the farmer asks, "Maybe the tariff can be made effective on farm produce consumed at home? Time after time the organized farmers of the United States and the friends of Agriculture have sought to do just that." The answer of the President in his acceptance speech is an attempt to close the door of hope on this subject: "No power on earth can restore prices except by restoration of general recovery and markets. Every measure we have taken looking to general recovery is of benefit to the farmer."

And that, if you please, is the record. That is what we have to expect from the present Republican leadership. More Republican tariffs. Implacable opposition to any plan to raise the price of farm products. A program of "starving out" a third of the present production. A splendid prospect, this! Reduced to lowest terms, the present administration asks farmers to put their interests into the hands of their bitterest opponents—men who will go to any and all lengths to safeguard and strengthen a protected few, but who will coldly say to American farmers: "One-third of you are not needed. Run a race with bankruptcy to see which will survive." It is no new theory of government. It has been reactionary policy since time immemorial. Help the few; perhaps those few will be kind enough to help the many.

This is unsound; it is unfair; it is unjust. Industry can never prosper unless the agricultural market is restored and farm buying power returns. Without tariff readjustment the President's program is hopeless; without active assistance, the Grundy schedules can break the farmer long before the farmer can find a market for his goods. It suggests that if industry revives, the farmer will be taken care of; though you all know that the boom of 1929 brought nothing but lower prices and more debts to the farm.

The situation challenges every responsible statesman in America to seek in agricultural circles an active remedial plan. The President has incated his attitude in advance. His laconic "I shall oppose them" closes the last door of hope in him.

I can not share his view. I will not believe that in the face of a problem like this we must merely throw up our hands. I have unbounded faith in a restored and rehabilitated agriculture. In this profession of faith I invite you to join. May those of us who intend a solution and decline the defeatist attitude join tirelessly in the work of advancing to a better ordered economic life. The time has come. The hour has struck.

Through Highway Urged by Chamber

Fairfax Group Is Informed Bridge Firm's Charter Has Expired.

The Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce, at its monthly meeting in Vienna, Va., received the report of a special committee in regard to the building of a proposed highway to connect with a bridge at Great Falls if such a bridge is constructed.

Herbert Williams, chairman of the committee, informed the trade body that the charter to construct the proposed Great Falls Bridge by a private company had expired and that efforts were being made to have the time on the charter extended.

The road committee was instructed to formulate a road program for the county for submission to the State highway department, particularly stressing the importance of a north and south highway through the county, passing through both Alexandria and Washington. It was suggested that the 6-mile piece of road from Pohick to Springfield be hard surfaced so as to act as a connecting link between the Washington-Richmond highway and the new Lee boulevard.

PRINCE GEORGES HAS SCHOOL BONDS CASH

Lower Sinking Fund Interest Sufficient to Retire Them as Due.

Although the interest rate on the sinking fund deposits of the Prince Georges County School Board was reduced during the fiscal year 1931-32, the lower rate is sufficient to bring in revenue to pay off the bonds as they come due, according to the report of Elmer L. Hatter, the auditor.

The bonds sold to build the Hyattsville High School are the first issue to come due, maturing in 1934, the report says. In spite of a reduction of the interest rate from 4 per cent to 3 per cent during the year, the interest on the funds already deposited will be sufficient to retire all the bonds. The sinking fund deposits amount to $49,956.

Mr. Hatter's report shows total receipts during the year of $666,968, and expenditures of $647,503, leaving a balance in the building fund of $19,465. Of the receipts, the county tax brought in $469,000, while State and Federal aid amounted to $171,510. Of the State and Federal aid, $91,948 is for the "school population and attendance" account, while high school aid amounted to $38,822. Payment from the State equalization fee was $14,031.

The disbursements were under the following headings: Control, $20,987; instruction, $492,283; operation, $47,857; maintenance, $39,153. There were other minor expenses which brought the total to $647,503.

Teachers' salaries were the largest single item, accounting for $444,988 of the budget. This comes under the "instruction" heading, as does an expenditure of $18,099 for books. Operation of the system took $24,108 for janitors' wages and $19,764 for fuel. Under the maintenance heading $23,089 was spent for repairs and $15,910 for equipment repairs. The capital outlay was made up of $8,545 for land, $833 for new buildings and equipment and $275 for alterations.

Road Plans Off In Prince Georges

Four Routes Disapproved Because They Are Not the Most Direct.

Plans to build four roads in Prince Georges County out of funds lent by the Federal Government have been dropped, it was learned yesterday, because the routes are not the most direct. The county commissioners will recommend four other projects to the State Roads Commission.

The routes which were first suggested but have been disapproved are: The Fort Foote road, one mile of macadam from Huntt's corner. The Old Powder Factory road, one mile of concrete from the Washington end. The Glenn Dale-Marlboro road, one mile of concrete from Kolbe's corner. The old Colesville road, one-quarter of a mile of gravel, from the Baltimore boulevard to the new cut road. Of Maryland's share of $1,019,000 of the Federal fund, Prince Georges County will direct the spending of $49,750. The money must be repaid within 10 years.

A Genuine* Super-Powered Frigidaire
(Two cylinders instead of One) is now offered with 1/4 Greater food space
in the same sized cabinet

Yes, thanks to a revolutionary development, this low price now buys a genuine 2-cylinder Frigidaire with Super Power to freeze more ice, to keep foods fresher, to operate at lower cost.

And that's not all. With ¼ more food space in the same sized cabinet, you can now have a roomy refrigerator even though your kitchen may be small.

You are invited to see a demonstration of the revolutionary development : : : to compare this Frigidaire point by point with any other refrigerator. Nothing has been "cheapened." It's the same Super-Powered two-cylinder Frigidaire with the Cold Control, the waist-high shelves, the one-piece porcelain interior and many other Frigidaire conveniences. And with the low price, terms are so liberal that it is cheaper to install Frigidaire in your home right now than to go another day without it.

Frigidaire has not lowered its standards to make the new price possible. It is passing on to the public the economies that have been made possible in the last few months. Be sure you get a genuine Frigidaire. Unless the refrigerator you buy bears the "Frigidaire" name-plate, it is not a genuine Frigidaire.

THE policies of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in distributing $300,000,000 to relieve unemployment and suffering this winter will be outlined by Atlee Pomerene, chairman of that body, in a special program to be broadcast (WMAL, 1:15 p. m.) today, from the Mayflower Hotel, in connection with a meeting of the Welfare and Relief Mobilization Conference called by President Hoover.

During the same period an outline of the plans for State and community cooperation will be given by Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., who is also president of the New York Charity Organization Society.

Bowie Field, at Bowie, Md., one of the intermediate landing fields which are located every ten miles along the airplane route from New York to Washington, now has all its lights automatically controlled by a Weston photronic cell, so as to be switched on at dusk.

The photoelectric control turns on the 1,000-watt, 1,000,000-candlepower beacon light, starts the electric motor which drives its 36-inch reflector, switches on the two 500-watt code signaling lamps which transmit the field's designation continuously in Morse characters, and also turns on the 50 small marker lights which inclose the field.

The operation of this entire equipment is automatically started at twilight and stopped at dawn. No human supervision is given to the apparatus, the only check on its operation being the attention given by a nearby farmer who looks out of his kitchen window a couple of times each evening to see whether the lights are on.

SIR ARTHUR EDDINGTON, leading exponent of the theory of the expanding universe, and one of the world's best-known astrophysicists, will talk on "The Finitude of Space" at 8 o'clock tonight over WRC. Eddington's talks—this is the second in a series of three—have been arranged by the National Advisory Council on Radio in Education, in cooperation with the N. B. C.

Willard Karn, champion contract player, will begin a series of talks on bridge over WMAL at 4:45 o'clock this afternoon. Karn's first talk will include a discussion of the psychic bid and the forcing-two bid.

"Penthouse Five Four," a symphony in the modern manner depicting life on the rooftops of a vast city, written by Freddie Rich, will be heard for the first time anywhere when the composer conducts the Columbians in the interpretation of it tonight (WMAL, 9 o'clock). Special continuity for this first performance has been prepared by Charles Speer, of the writing staff at C. B. S.

Three girls will sing about "Three Kisses" when the Boswell Sisters are heard during Chesterfield's "Music That Satisfies" (WMAL, 8 o'clock) tonight. Connie, Martha and Vet will offer "Love Is the Big Idea" and "Somebody Loses, Somebody Wins," and Nat Shilkret and his orchestra will contribute special arrangements of "Song of India" and "Some Happy Day" to the program.

"THE Wise Spending of One Billion Dollars" is the title of the broadcast to be heard over the WJZ-WBAL network at 7 o'clock tonight. An appeal to State, county and city governments to assist business and industry by purchasing their supplies for the coming year immediately, will be made by speakers representing the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the National Association of Manufacturers and the American Federation of Labor.

The true love story of Robert Schumann, celebrated German composer, and his wife, Clara, a noted pianist of her day, will be dramatized during the broadcast of Famous Loves (WRC, 2:15 o'clock) this afternoon.

A variety of selections, including "South in My Soul," verses of "Auf Wiedersehn," in German and English, and the popular ballad, "You Didn't Know the Music" will be presented by Wilfred Glenn, bass (WJZ-WBAL, 9:15 o'clock) tonight.

MAX TERHUNE, of Station WLS, Chicago, is a man of many voices. He has a perfect imitation of a train, a massage machine, a bee, a chicken, a dog, and a mule, produced entirely by his throat. In addition to this he can whistle 20 different varieties of bird calls, and is a ventriloquist.

NEW BUILDING LIST ANNOUNCED BY U. S.

Outlay of $20,810,000 Is Involved, Making Total of $74,508,000.

(Associated Press.)

Additional public building to cost $20,810,000, authorized under the relief law enacted by the last Congress, was announced yesterday by the Treasury.

The action makes a total of $74,508,000 worth of projects named under the act which permits the construction of $100,000,000 worth of new buildings to aid employment throughout the Nation. The previously announced projects were those costing more than $300,000, while those listed yesterday included structures to cost between $100,000 and $300,000.

The announcement, made by Secretary Mills and Postmaster General Brown, said that the list of projects to cost less than $100,000 would be made public in the near future.

The construction is in addition to the huge public program inaugurated in 1926, for which Congress has authorized to date $496,463,942, exclusive of the $100,000,000 carried in the relief act.

Whether the Treasury will be permitted to spend the entire $100,000,000 is a question that has not been decided. Comptroller General McCarl ruled that Congress, in ordering a 10 per cent cut in the limit of cost of all public buildings not already under contract, included the relief program, but the Treasury contended that the relief appropriation did not come under the 10 per cent cut and asked McCarl to revise his decision. If he refuses, only $90,000,000 will be spent.

As soon as the Treasury announces the remainder of the projects to be constructed under the relief act it will call for bids for sites and four or five special committees will work daily opening those bids and preparing to speed the work to completion.

The public building program which has been rushed in the last two years to relieve the unemployment situation has been the completion of 230 buildings costing $71,400,219, and the placing under contract of 382 buildings which will cost $324,588,323. A large number of projects also are in the drawing stage and soon will be placed on the market for bids.

The cities and towns which will receive new postoffices as announced yesterday include:

Virginia, Charlottesville; West Virginia, Bluefield; North Carolina, Fayetteville, Gaston, Reidsville, Wilmington.

County Volunteer Firemen Convene

Rescue Squad Separation From Association Is Discussed.

Regulation of gasoline tank wagons and separation of the rescue squad from the fire association were the chief topics discussed at the meeting last night of the Prince Georges County Volunteer Fire Association at Mount Rainier. The fire inspection board was instructed to draw up a model code to cover the tank wagons and decide whether the problem could be better met by local or State legislation.

After a suggestion that the county should keep up the squad and buy its ambulances, a committee was appointed to investigate the proposed separation. It consists of George Finger, chairman; V. A. Simmel, Earl Wyvill, Karl Young and T. W. Veneman.

William J. Tierney withdrew as a member of the fire inspection board but was immediately reappointed. Wesley Kerr was appointed to it in place of L. V. Moxley, who gave up this post some time ago.

HYATTSVILLE FINES ROADHOUSE MATRON

Collateral Is Forfeited by 39 Dancers; Five Others Are Guilty in Rum Cases.

The operator of Chillum Manor, a roadhouse on the Riggs road, was fined $50 for running a disorderly house, and 39 persons who were dancing in the place on Sunday forfeited collateral of $4.50 each in Hyattsville Police Court yesterday.

Judge J. Chew Sheriff decided that Mary Burch, who said she lived at 2014 O street northwest, was the proprietor of the roadhouse, and dismissed disorderly house charges against Mildred Fauchon. Lawrence Rooks, a musician, forfeited collateral of $4.50 on a charge of working on Sunday at the place, while another musician, Carl W. Hoffmeyer, asked for a postponement of his case.

Five Liquor Convictions.

Five persons were convicted of possession of liquor yesterday in the same court. Charles Burgess, of Fairmont Heights, was released on possession charges when Rose Cole, of Fairmont Heights, pleaded guilty to owning the contraband. The Cole woman was fined $50.

Baltimore Men Fined.

Joseph Tinsley, of Baltimore, drew a fine of $125 after his conviction on liquor charges. He was arrested at Muirkirk with a load of alleged whisky. The fifth prisoner was Ann Mitchell, who said she lived in Washington. She was fined $50 for possession and $1 for disorderly conduct.

An old law was invoked to convict Palmer Wilson of shooting at a target without a permit, which resulted in his being fined $50. This sum is the minimum for this offense under the little-used law. Palmer, who lives near Landover, was arrested with Mildred Thacker, of the same community. The girl was also charged, but the case against her was nolle prossed.

Edith S. Coale, of 800 Sixteenth street northwest, won a continuance of her case on charges of assault and battery on H. L. McCormick, chief of police of Colmar Manor. The policeman said she struck him when he tried to arrest her for failing to give the right of way to pedestrians. She will be tried on both charges on September 21.

Schools Crowded In Prince Georges

Five Elementary Buildings Declared by Orem to Be Insufficient.

Five elementary schools in Prince Georges County are badly overcrowded, Nicholas Orem, superintendent of schools, said yesterday. In two of them, at Surrattsville and Maryland Park, the attendance is one-third greater than it was at this time last year.

The high schools in the county are also overcrowded, but arrangements have been made to take care of the larger classes without extra teachers. In general, however, the enrollment is not much larger than was expected.

This time last year Surrattsville had 108 pupils, while now it has 140. Maryland Park's enrollment, last year, was 80, but now is 120. Other crowded schools are Bowie, which had 172 last year and now has 215; Laurel, with 404 last year and 431 now; and Suitland, with 120 last September and 137 now.

Odds Two to One on Spider In Death Fight With Snake

Insect Swings About Its Web, Repairing Damage Here and There, as Battle Passes Twenty-fourth Day; Crowds of Curious Visit Scene.

St. Charles, Ill., Sept. 14 (A.P.).—The odds were two to one in favor of the spider over the snake tonight in their battle to the death.

But the snake—a reptile 10 inches long of the "garden" variety—was battling just as gamely as ever. His tail thrashed violently, his forked tongue speared viciously; but the spider swung lithely about its web, repairing damage and weaving the net more strong.

For 24 days to the public's knowledge the insect and the reptile have battled. Crowds of curious visited today at the city-owned brick shack where the snake entered through a drain pipe.

"I'm betting on the spider," said Mayor I. G. Langum, who has decreed the fight shall be to the death. "Brains will win in the end—and that spider has brains."

As custodian of the keys to the brick shack, Mayor Langum allowed all who wished to enter and view the spectacle. He even took a group of newspaper reporters and photographers from Chicago to his home, where they viewed a hen who has adopted six motherless kittens.

On the floor of the battling arena lie several dead spiders, victims of the snake's lashing tail. A half-dozen others spin their webs a few feet away from the battle, but only one little fellow has entered the fray to assist the insect that began the fight. The little one makes minor repairs to the web.

Mayor Langum declared tonight the spiders had killed a larger snake which entered to assist the one ensnared in the web.

"I saw the larger snake trying to help the captured one last Sunday," the mayor said. "When I went back Monday morning he was dead. The spiders must have killed him. Maybe one of the spiders got in his windpipe and choked him to death—that's what I think.

"Anyway, the snake went in there to eat the spiders. He got fooled, and now he can figure his own way out."

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

Red crocodile on a red tweed fall frock is the latest trimming, and the most colorful ever! (Seen on Fifth avenue).

Ah, secret places! Secret places of the mind, secret places of the soul, secret places of thought. More mundane, but none the less intriguing, secret places of material things.

A box with a secret compartment sends even a sophisticate into ecstasies. A house with a secret door that might lead to a princess asleep for a thousand years—or a dungeon dark and heavy with tortured air—ah, secret places!

Is there a woman or a man, either one, who denies a thrill upon the discovery of a secret and hidden thing? That's why the new purses are sending women into rhapsodies—and men into hysterics. Because the new purses have secret pockets, my deahs! And how many and how secret, you have to go bag hunting to discover—and spend hours hunting out after you have discovered them. Miladi simply can not live without one, that's all.

Nor need she. 'Tis about time she gave up having the dol-dum-dee-dlees about things, isn't it? And what a more subtle defiance of the depression than buying a new bag!

Under-arm bags continue to be the most stylish for daytime wear, with broad bases. And the limper they look the newer they are—a rigid bag is simply dated—or antidated, my deah! Frames are usually covered with the leather, and if any inside pockets or whatevers have frames, they are very limp little frames.

And fabric bags are more and more in demand for daytime—but as yet the bag manufacturers are moving slowly in this direction, hoping to be more sure of the fabrics that Madame will be wearing before they put a lot of fabric bags out.

And—all new bags have secret places! A place right in the bag for cards, concealed and so arranged that the cards will not bend; another for the hankie to slip into and peep out of—and still others for everything but a lock of his hair.

Out of ribbons and a little clever finger work, make your own fall hats—according to this week's illustrated leaflet, which tells you how to exactly go about it! Berets, they are, in this leaflet, and not too hard to make, if you have patience. The more patience, the more the Parisian look, you see. A square one that looks like the sweet girl graduate—a round one that looks like the smartest Parisienne, and a tiny one for Sunday night frock—all three of these are in this leaflet. Address your envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post, and better do it before you forget!

Maybe those new Congo movies are responsible for the red crocodile! There just ain't no sech animule, I know—but now there is, if you see what I mean!

'Tis the latest big game craze of Miladi—to trim her tweeds and sports frocks with supple crocodile dyed a bright red! And very colorful it is, too—if you please. I sketched a tweed street frock trimmed thusly, even if you can't get the flash of bright color of the trimming—red crocodile, believe it or whatever.

Mole gray—a new fall favorite! It's a color, and you might guess what it looks like, for once—from its name.

Au revoir.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

SERUM IN INFANTILE PARALYSIS.

THERE are a few new points in the care of infantile paralysis.

Serum from convalescents appears to have some value in the treatment of the disease and also as a vaccine for its prevention. There are some who do not accept this as proved, but they do not think it does any harm and they admit a possibility of good. On the other hand, many who used it last year are fairly enthusiastic about the results obtained. Its value is limited to use in the earlier stages of the acute disease. Nothing is gained by using it during convalescence, when the muscles are paralyzed and wasting.

Laboratory work indicates that this discovery may be broadened and put on a more practical basis in the near future. In these tests it appears that the blood serum of normal adults who have never had an attack that was suspected of being infantile paralysis, or who have no recollection of having been in contact with a case of that disease, can be used as a cure and a vaccine as well.

If bedside testing proves the laboratory trials to have been correct an ample supply of the serum for all purposes becomes everywhere available. It will no longer be necessary to buy the serum of convalescents and to keep a supply on hand in the ice boxes of health departments and hospitals.

The basis of this suggestion is the discovery that babies are born with no resistance to infantile paralysis, but that by the time maturity is reached immunity to the disease has become almost universal. A small part of the immune are so because they have had the disease in typical form. A larger part have had the disease only in its atypical, or non-paralytic, form, and very much the larger part are made immune by exposure which caused no illness and which was never thought of.

It is possible to test this immunizing power in a well adult. Therefore, it may be that when we want to vaccinate or to give a curative serum we may select a parent or some other healthy appearing adult, test his blood for freedom from venereal disease, and for immunizing power against infantile paralysis, and if these tests are satisfactory use the serum on those we wish to cure or protect.

It is thought that infantile paralysis enters the body through the digestive tract and passes from there to the lymph system. Therefore, the disease starts as a digestive disorder, a diarrhea or constipation with fever. Careful examination may show enlargement or tenderness of the lymph glands. Most cases never go beyond this stage; the spinal cord is never involved, and paralysis and wasting never occur.

Therefore the very great importance of closely studying children who get digestive upsets with fever in the infantile paralysis season. Therefore, also, the importance of watching the sources of food supply of children during this season.

If the child is particularly apathetic, has expressionless eyes, and seems to be sicker than one would suspect from a simple bowel disturbance the family and physician should suspect infection with this disease. Careful palpation is liable to show that the abdominal glands and other glands are sore.

This symptom should increase suspicion. If the infection is getting beyond the glands and into the cord the child's skin becomes sensitive, he does not want to be held, if his back is bent even slightly he cries with pain. It is not until later that muscle weakness appears. Wasting comes still later. The disease may stop at any one of these stages.

TRY TO SLEEP TOO LONG.

S. N. writes: I am 15 years of age and go to bed about 9:30 and rise about 8. I seldom fall asleep before 11. I continue to wake up about 3 o'clock in the morning and stay awake for about an hour. I do not eat before going to bed. What is the cause of this and how can it be prevented?

REPLY.

My guess is that you are trying to sleep too much, and nature rebels. You are in bed nearly eleven hours, and you need only eight hours' sleep. Readjust your schedule.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

MORE and more people and particularly more and more women are realizing what an important part teeth play in the matter of health and in the beauty picture. Types may differ, artists may disagree in their conception of feminine loveliness, brunettes may continue to admire their blonde cousins and vice versa, but all must concede that a lovely smile flashing a healthy, beautiful set of teeth is an enviable asset.

Look at your magazine covers, look at your pictures of screen stars, look at the advertisements. Tooth paste ads are not the only ones that feature a smile and row of teeth like white jewels.

Screen Stars' Teeth Sparkle.

The screen stars know what an important feature beautiful teeth are. They do not have to be reminded to visit their dentist twice a year to check up, to guard against an incipient infection. They do not wait for a toothache to force them to make a dental appointment.

A fortunate few are born with perfectly beautiful teeth, or at least have the permanent set that usually comes after one's seven, grow in perfectly. Marion Nixon and Peggy Shannon, two of filmdom's celebrities, have such perfect teeth, even, white, sparkling like jewels, that they are often accused of having false teeth. It would take a very expensive and expert dental mechanic to mold a set like theirs.

The Eskimos don't need dentists. Their strong, healthy, white teeth are characteristic of the race, and attributed to the rough, raw food they eat and the thorough chewing necessary to masticate these foods. Americans, on the other hand, with their soft delicacies, the fancy desserts that melt in your mouth (which are fine for the palate, but not sufficient exercise for the teeth), do need the biannual trip to the dentist for thorough going over.

Most modern dentists X-ray the teeth in order to make sure that not the tiniest cavity or sign of infection has escaped them. And after your dentist has done the important ground work, do follow his instructions for cleansing the teeth, brushing them properly, and brushing the gums as well as the teeth to give them the necessary massage and stimulation. Also follow diet instructions including plenty of leafy vegetables, roughage, and foods that need thorough chewing. Also if your dentist should tell you that your diet is deficient in calcium, be sure to include foods rich in calcium, as it is very necessary toward preserving strong, healthy teeth.

THE ILLUMINATING DOUBLE.

PENALTY Doubles are among the most powerful weapons in the possession of the defending players in the game of Contract. However, there is no declaration more abused by many players than this. When the decision is a close one as to whether to double or not to double an adverse contract, it is generally wise to follow the advice of the old proverb, "When in doubt, don't."

A close Penalty Double often furnishes to an alert Declarer the clew which permits the fulfillment of the Contract. The hand below is an example of that fact.

North—Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

	♠ K 7 4 ♡ K Q 9 8 ◇ A K 2 ♣ Q J 4
♠ Q 10 9 ♡ 6 ◇ 10 9 8 5 4 ♣ 3 2 ♣ A 10 8	N W E S	♠ 5 3 2 ♡ J 10 7 5 4 3 ◇ Q J ♣ 5 3
	♠ A J 8 6 ♡ A 2 ◇ 7 6 ♣ K 9 7 6 2

The Bidding.

South	West	North	East
		1♡	Pass
2NT	Pass	4NT	Pass
6NT	Double	Pass	Pass
Pass

The eventual Slam contract should never have been reached, as North, while he held 4 honor-tricks, had extremely barren distribution, but when North made the Slam invitation bid of four notrump, South, with the extra length in clubs and the fact that he held the Ace of his partner's bid suit, was justified in accepting the invitation. West's Double, holding only 1 trick, was particularly atrocious. In the play, it furnished to the Declarer the opportunity to make his contract.

The diamond 10 was opened, won in the Dummy, and the club Ace driven out at once. West then cleared the diamond suit, and South proceeded to cash 3 club tricks, discarding a spade from Dummy. The last club was not played at this time because South did not know whether West held four hearts or a stopper in spades. The next trick was won with the heart Queen in Dummy, and a small heart returned and won with the Ace in the closed hand. On this trick it was disclosed that West had held originally a singleton heart. Following this, the last club was led, and a heart discarded from Dummy. The Declarer then won a trick with the spade King, and laid down dummy's high heart. West was hopelessly squeezed, the deuce of diamonds effectively playing the role of the squeeze card. West bared the Queen of spades, but finesse was refused, and the last trick won with the spade Knave.

If there had been no Double, the Declarer at this point would have been faced with a guess, pure and simple, and West would have had at least an even chance of defeating the contract.

Tomorrow's Hand.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

South—Dealer.
North and South vulnerable.

	♠ 8 7 4 2 ♡ 9 7 ◇ Q 8 3 2 ♣ J 7 4
♠ K Q 10 3 ♡ Q 8 5 4 2 ◇ A 9 ♣ K 9	N W E S	♠ J 6 ♡ A 6 3 ◇ K J 6 5 ♣ Q 8 6 2
	♠ A 9 5 ♡ K J 10 ◇ 10 7 4 ♣ A 10 5 3

Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

What Today Means to You

"VIRGO."

IF September 15 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from noon to 2:15 p. m., from 5 p. m. to 6:50 p. m., and from 9:30 p. m. to 11 p. m. The danger periods are from 9 a. m. to 11:10 a. m., and from 7 p. m. to 8:50 p. m.

Some unexpected change will happen on September 15, according to astrological indications, which will affect the family circle. It may breed dissension and engender strife. Business conditions promise to be good, as a result of recent changes in organization. Professional activities will be productive of success, although it may only be short-lived.

Children born on this September 15 will, during youth, be long on character, but short on physical strength. On attaining adolescence, they will develop normal health conditions. Their dispositions will be cheerful and their mannerisms pleasing. Imbued with ambition, and always hopeful, they will be persistent pluggers, and failure will never dog their steps.

You, if born on September 15, bear all the earmarks of leadership. Your vision is clear and your mind is not cluttered up with worn out shibboleths. Your powers of concentration are far above the average, your judgment is wise, and, above all, you possess a winning personality. Subordinates never look to you in vain for advice or encouragement. As a consequence, you can always count on their whole-souled support and cooperation.

Your habits are regular, your thinking is done along practical lines, and you never waste time on Utopian dreams. You do your job with the tools at your command, and never try to do that which experience has taught you is outside the range of practical politics. Admired and respected by all those who are brought under your influence, you must always be on the guard against adulation going to your head. Once this happens, your sphere of helpfulness will be destroyed. The chief danger that confronts you is the belief that you are indispensable or that you are infallible.

You are capable of a strong and an enduring love, but, regardless of your sex, you will always be, by your force of character, although not obtrusively, the dominating factor in your home.

Successful people born on September 15:

Daniel Alden Reed, congressman.

William Howard Taft, twenty-seventh President of the United States.

George Hollister Campbell, railroad official.

James Fenimore Cooper, novelist.

Richard Olney, Cleveland's Secretary of State.

Horatio W. Parker, composer.

(Department of Agriculture.)

Haven't you known families that always served potatoes in exactly the same way? Plain boiled, perhaps, or mashed or baked. All of these ways of cooking potatoes are simple, wholesome and easy for the homemaker, but a little variety in flavor and appearance will help make the frequently appearing potato seem less monotonous.

Whichever way you finish off potatoes, if you can boil or bake them first in the skins you will retain more of the valuable minerals that come close to the outside, and waste less in peeling. Need you be reminded of baked potatoes "on the half shell," hashed brown potatoes, chips, German fried potatoes, or French fried? Or creamed potatoes in a white sauce, with or without cheese? Do you know potatoes cooked in a tomato sauce?

Scalloped Potatoes.

2 tablespoons flour
6 tablespoons butter or other fat
1 teaspoon salt
1 pint hot milk
A sprig or two of parsley, chopped.

Wash the potatoes, cook in boiling salted water until half done, skin and slice or cut in cubes. Grease a shallow baking dish, place in it a layer of potatoes, sprinkle with some of the flour and salt, and dot with fat. Continue until all the potatoes are used. Pour in the hot milk, cover, and bake in a slow oven for about 1 hour, or until the potatoes are brown on top and soft throughout. If they become dry add more milk. Serve the potatoes in the baking dish, and just before it is sent to the table sprinkle the chopped parsley over the top.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

It is, of course, looked upon as one of the inexorable laws of the theater that, "the show must go on." While many of the problems of show business are distinctly apart from those of other commercialized enterprises, this has always seemed to me one of the theater's sillier and, at times, more tyrannical axioms. Not infrequently circumstances arise in which it would be a boon to all concerned if the show did not go on.

Jean Harlow.

Fred Stone did more to strengthen the public esteem in which he already was held as one of the more human of the mimes, by suspending his engagement at the Belasco not so many months ago, while he performed the filial duty of affectionate last rites for a beloved deceased, than he possibly could have done by observing the crazy fetich that no performance must be interrupted.

A contrary view, nevertheless, is prevalent in the playhouse and in many instances is adhered to at sacrifices of personal preference that are no less than heroic. Two such instances have only recently occurred. Billie Burke resumed the making of the picture which had been interrupted by the sudden death of her husband, Florenz Ziegfeld, immediately the obsequies had been held, and Jean Harlow, more recently, has displayed the same Spartan spirit.

"Bill of Divorcement," the camera drama in which Miss Burke was playing a pivotal role when tragedy overtook her, is reported from its West Coast previews as reflecting the greatest work John Barrymore has ever done for the films, plus a sterling performance by a startling newcomer, Katherine Hepburn, and another by Billie Burke, who troupes through a triumphant performance. Miss Burke's performance is further described as "a magnificent piece of acting in a role which gained greatly by her playing of it."

Under conditions even more tragic, Jean Harlow is reported to have resumed work on the M-G-M production of "Red Dust" as soon as the late Paul Bern's last rites had been held. For one of her intensely nervous organization and delicate sensibilities it will be an almost incredible feat if she is able to lose herself in the intricacies of a fervid role played opposite even so helpful a costar as Clark Gable. "Red Dust" will be awaited with sympathetic interest by an army of Miss Harlow's well wishers who thoroughly resent the gratuitous implications of an overzealous segment of the country's inflammatory press.

Grapevine reports from Pittsburgh, where the new Schwab and De Sylva production of "Humpty Dumpty," with which the National Theater will open its season next Monday night, is currently passing through the throes of its premiere week, are to the effect that the collaborators who gave the world two such musical comedy hits as "Good News" and "Follow Thru" again seem to "have something."

The first night's performance, to be sure, ran well past midnight, but is reputed to have embodied such a wealth of entertaining material that it is only necessary to decide what may best be deleted to bring the piece down to normal running time. This will allay the anxiety caused in many minds yesterday by an unfounded rumor that "Humpty Dumpty" was not ready and had not opened in Pittsburgh as scheduled.

And speaking of incoming attractions, next week's line of march for the picture parade will be approximately as follows: Metropolitan, Lee Tracy and Mary Brian in "Blessed Event," opening with midnight performance tonight; Palace, the Barrymores, Greta Garbo, Joan Crawford, et al., in "Grand Hotel," first time at popular prices; Earle, Barbara Stanwyck in "The Purchase Price," and "Whispering" Jack Smith headlining the vaudeville; Loew's Fox, Edmund Lowe in "Chandu, the Magician," and in person; Columbia, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson's "Congorilla;" RKO-Keith's, Dolores Del Rio and Joel McCrea in "Bird of Paradise," second week.

Probably all squabs! With maybe an occasional old hen!

THREE FORMER CHAMPIONS SURVIVE IN AMATEUR

Tigers Slam Brown at Start to Triumph Over Nats, 8 to 3

Detroit Lead Is Held by Whitehill

Nats' Hits Scattered After First; Errors Aid to Tigers.

Stone and Walker in Star Roles; Lose Ground to A's.

Special to The Washington Post.

NAVIN FIELD, Detroit, Sept. 14.—If the first three innings could have been eliminated today, the opener of the set between the Nationals and Tigers would have been a real ball game, but the rules provide that all nine rounds be used in figuring out the score and that is why the home team was declared the victor, 8 to 3. Two of the Nats' markers and seven of those credited to the Bengals were packed in the first three innings. The loss dropped the Capital Cityans two and a half games behind the second-place Mackmen, who won.

The Nationals started well enough, threatening to knock Lefty Earl Whitehill out of the box in a two-run splurge in the opener, but the Tigers did even worse damage to Lloyd Brown in this round and then hopped aboard his offerings in the third to send him to the showers and to become 5 up.

Whitehill Settles Down.

Whitehill settled down after the first session and performed well over the remainder of the route, but Manager Walter Johnson called on Dick Coffman, Luther Thomas and Monte Weaver after yanking Brown. Both changes were due to the use of pinch hitters, however, for the only other Tiger run was molded in the eighth with Weaver toiling.

With one dead, Myer started the Washington rally as the game opened with a double to center. After Manush walked, Cronin singled, scoring Myer and sending Manush to third, and a wild pitch let the second run score. It was at this stage that Whitehill tightened up and the only other run he granted was a useless one registered in round 6, the result of Reynolds' triple and Bluege's double.

The Nats' lead lasted no longer than it took the home folks to come in from the field. Errors by Brown and Harris, together with singles by Stone, White, Walker and Rogell, did the damage. Brown had no troubles in the second, but it was different in the third.

After Gehringer and Stone had singled and White had walked, Coffman relieved Brown. He immediately cut loose with a wild pitch, scoring one, another tallied after Manush's catch of Walker's foul and a third was singled home by Rogell.

Cronin and Reynolds, with two hits each, led the Washington attack, while Stone and Walker, with three apiece, accounted for half of the bingles credited to the Tigers.

Londos Here Tonight for Garibaldi

Greek Champion and Italian Rival Meet at Stadium.

EVEN wrestling seasons must have their peak, and this state of affairs will be reached tonight at Griffith Stadium when some 10,000 God-fearing citizens will dust the seats at the ball park to witness Jim Londos, generally conceded to be the champion of the several champion matmen, meet Gino Garibaldi, burly head man of the local rassling fort.

Londos came East Monday night and celebrated his return to civilization, in usual fashion, by dumping Pat O'Shocker in 22 minutes with an airplane spin. The Greek, perhaps the handsomest figure in sports, from a torso standpoint, is said to be in customary form.

Garibaldi, who seems to me to be about a 30 per cent better wrestler and about a 70 per cent better rassler than Londos, has been bowling over Promoter Turner's Chosen People in great style this summer. First he made a hamburger out of Rudy Dusek, Londos' favorite playmate here last year, and then added the thick scalps of Fred Grobmeier, Jim McMillen, George Zaharios, Frank Brunowicz and Pat O'Shocker to his belt.

Tonight's contestants "for the world's championship" are superb figures of men. They do much less leering and growling than their nondescript brethren. Garibaldi has won three of his fights (Dusek, Grobmeier and Zaharias) with honest-to-goodness haymakers to the jaw. He used to be a coal miner before they unearthed him, and if he wilts against Londos tonight, as do most of the "challengers," the only illusion left in the world will be the Easter bunny legend.

Supporting the two high-priced boys will be the following matches: Rudy Dusek vs. Herman Hickman; Fred Grobmeier vs. Milo Steinborn; Son Jennings vs. Nino Dinaldi, and Pat O'Shocker vs. Dick Stahl.

Women, this time, will not be admitted free of charge with escorts, but the price scale remains the same.

Brown Loses Decision to Champion

Rosenbloom Wins All Rounds in Feature at Laurel.

Bowen Stops Haverlack; Debeve Is Easy Winner.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH
(Sports Editor of The Post).

MAXIE ROSENBLOOM and his world light heavyweight championship paused at the Laurel Arena last night long enough to fashion a 10-round decision victory over Natie Brown, before leaving for other parts and other one-night stands on the outer fringe of big-time pugilism to harvest the shekels necessary to maintain his entourage of managers, trainers and sparring mates.

A meager gathering of 1,000 saw Rosenbloom win every round of the ten and were recompensed for their attendance only by the stirring action in the preliminaries. Brown was outclassed like the Honduranian navy and that he went the limit is attributable only to the fact that Rosenbloom couldn't punch his way out of an eggshell, comparatively speaking.

Rosenbloom in Front From Start.

Rosenbloom was out in front like Jimmy Durante's beak from the opening bell, hitting Brown with everything but the good Marquis of Queensberry himself; but Brown showed no tendency to waiver, and by keeping inside Maxie's long-range attack, he dealt out enough punishment on his own account to halt the match from a rout.

The fans' lust was appeased in the semifinal, when Ray Bowen, of the fighting Bowens, stopped Freddy Haverlack, one of Rosenbloom's stablemates, four seconds before the end of the second round.

Bowen shot 'em too straight and hard for Havelack and the finish was almost weird. Stung by a straight left and taking a count of nine, Haverlack arose to run into another stinging right. Haverlack turned his back to the battle, sauntered to a neutral corner, and sat down. He was dazed beyond reasoning power and Referee Charley Short humanely stopped the battle.

They put Arthur (Frenchy) Debeve in against Sailor Leonard, of Boston, in a substitute preliminary, and Debeve it was who carried off the honors of the night. The 40-year-old former lightweight champion of France, who has forgotten and still retains more skill than Leonard will ever acquire, galloped to the decision in four rounds. It was a march—left, right, left, right—on Leonard's head and body.

Sailor McKenna won a close decision over Roy Manley, Arkansas lightweight, and Jack Quigley, although groggy in the last round, won a four-rounder from Tommy Hogan.

District Netwomen To Play Baltimoreans

An intercity women's tennis match, between a six-place Washington team and a similar Baltimore combination, will be held at Columbia Country Club September 24. It is the first time in many years that such a match has been played in Washington.

Four of the six local women have been chosen, Mrs. Ruth Martinez, Clara Tabler, Mrs. Frances Stone and Frances Walker. Two more will be chosen, by means of round-robin play, from among Mrs. Dorette Miller, Marion Butler, Peggy Keyser, Sara Moore, Mrs. Lee D. Butler and Helen Philpitt.

Reba Kirson will head the Baltimore team.

Twenty Grand Starts Today as 4-Year-Old

New York, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—Twenty Grand, rated by many as the greatest American thoroughbred since Man o' War, returns to the turf tomorrow in a 1-mile race at Belmont Park.

In his first appearance as a 4-year-old the star of Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greentree Stable will pack 125 pounds, giving from 9 to 24 pounds to his three rivals—Masked Knight, Americana and Pintail.

GIANTS DOWN CUBS ON 2 HOMERS

Lindstrom's Slam in 10th Wins, 4 to 3; Ott Hits 35th.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—A pair of New York home runs wrecked a ten-inning pitching duel between Carl Hubbell and Pat Malone today and gave the Giants a 4-to-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

The defeat did no serious damage to the Cubs' hold on first place, as Pittsburgh also was defeated by Boston, 5-2.

Mel Ott gave the Giants an early lead by clouting his thirty-fifth homer of the season in the first inning behind singles by Hughey Critz and Bill Terry. After that, Malone didn't give more than one hit an inning, while the Cubs got back a run at a time to tie the score at 3-3.

Then in the tenth Freddy Lindstrom, who had been out of action for three days because of a wrenched ankle, hit Malone's first pitch into the left-field stands for a homer that won the game.

Mark Koenig hurt his wrist sliding into second base in the ninth and Bill Jurges finished up at short.

El Lagarto on Scene For President Cup Race

George Reis, hefty Californian, who drove his El Lagarto to victory in the President's Cup regatta last year, brought his glistening charge to Washington yesterday, dispelling published reports in New York papers that the regatta officials had been unable to secure the entries of any of the nationally know Gold Cup boats.

Interviewed last night, Reis said that both of Horace Dodge's boats, the Delphine IV and the Delphine V, were expected today, and that Miss Columbia, 7-year-old veteran of Gold Cup racing, recently overhauled and made 5 miles an hour faster, would certainly be on hand in time for the regatta.

SHORE BEATS WILLIS IN TOURNEY

Reba Kirson Extended; Mitchell-Latona Play at Wardman Today.

THE series of upsets which young Rickey Willis has been effecting in the Wardman Park Hotel invitation tennis tournament came to a sudden and exciting end yesterday when he himself was ousted out of the tournament by Frank Shore, 6—4, 3—6, 6—4.

Reba Kirson, City of Washington champion and favorite to win the women's tournament, all but found herself eliminated yesterday in face of the vigorous play of Mrs. Dorette Miller. Mrs. Miller, who has played only on the fringes of the elect this year in District women's tennis, looked like a topnotcher yesterday as she nearly upset Miss Kirson. The scores were 7—5, 3—6, 8—6.

This afternoon Dooly Mitchell will meet Anthony Latona at 3:30 o'clock in men's semifinals, while an hour and a half later Frank Shore will take on Upshur Moorhead. Mitchell and Moorhead are favorites to come through to the finals, but may fall prey to the determined play of the city's two most confident players.

Semifinal men's doubles also are on today's card.

OUIMET DEFEATS NOYES, 1 UP; VOIGT VICTIM OF RECORD CARD; EVANS AND GUILFORD WINNERS

25-Foot Putt on 18th Triumphs for Defending Champ.

Somerville, Fischer, McCarthy, Goodman Blaney Win.

the hopes of Charlie Seaver, in what many critics considered a distinct upset. The diminutive Nebraskan, who in the morning put out the 1904-05 champion, Chandler Egan, took advantage of several bad holes encountered by Seaver on the incoming journey to triumph over the Walker Cup star by 2 and 1. Seaver, who had been groomed for a place in Stanford's backfield, was on even terms at the turn, blew up with a 6 on the tenth, lost the twelfth with a 5, the fourteenth with a 6, won the sixteenth, but his try for a birdie on the seventeenth to prolong the match failed as they halved in threes. Seaver's opening match resulted in an easy 6 and 4 victory over Johnny Robbins, of Portland, Oreg.

With his putter working to perfection, Ouimet startled the gallery gods in the morning by sprinkling the greens of Five Farms with five birdies on the first nine to negotiate the distance in 30 strokes, cracking the all-time national amateur record of 31 made by Bobby Jones in the finals against Chick Evans in 1927 at Minikahda, and eclipsing a brilliant 34 which his opponent, Voigt, threw at him. Four up at the turn, he played the next four holes in one under par, climaxing the match on the thirteenth with a spectacular deuce. Eight under even fours for the match, he was six under par for the thirteen and five under for the nine.

Noyes and Ouimet All Even.

Noyes, battling the champion with the fighting spirit of a collegian, was even with Ouimet going to the tenth. Then followed some of the finest playing of the day. Noyes started with a birdie to become 1 up. Ouimet sank in a 12-footer for the eleventh for a birdie to square things. A beautiful approach gave the youth a birdie three on the twelfth, and again Ouimet retaliated with a 15-foot putt on the short hole to even the match. They halved the fourteenth in 5s. Ouimet won the fifteenth; they halved the sixteenth, and Noyes balanced the score with a par 3 to Francis's 4 on the seventeenth.

Two thousand swarmed around the home hole and saw the collegian strike a tree with his second shot and recover beautifully, only to get down in the face of uncanny putting by the steady veteran.

Chick Evans, who back in 1920 soundly whipped Francis Ouimet for the amateur crown, came back with a flash of his old form in toppling Perry Hall, of Philadelphia, 2 up, and M. P. Warner, of New Haven, 5 and 4. Chick fired in a birdie 2 on the seventeenth and won with a par on the eighteenth in his morning match with Hall.

Guilford Plays Good Golf.

Another former title holder, Jesse Guilford, victor over Eddie Held, of St. Louis, 2 and 1, in the morning, eliminated Bill Chapin, Rochester, 4 and 3, after being 3 up at the turn. Chapin put up a stern fight, but could not match Jesse's 36 on the first nine.

Blaney, of West Newton, Mass., a stocky auburn-haired golfer who celebrates his twenty-seventh birthday tomorrow, won the most thrilling match of the day to upset the title hopes of Gus Moreland, the Dallas, Tex., star. Even at the turn they waged a ding-dong struggle through the twenty-first, until Moreland missed his putt by 2 feet on the twenty-second for a 4 to Blaney's par 3 Blaney, in the morning, licked Francis Brown, of Honolulu, 2 and 1, while Gus eliminated Emmett Spicer, Southern ace from Memphis, 4 and 3.

Brawner, D. C. Youth, Bows, 5 and 3, to Somerville.

Wins in Play-Off to Qualify With 4 on First Hole.

Special to The Washington Post.

FIVE FARMS CLUB, Baltimore, Md., Sept. 14.—After winning a one-hole play-off from William Turnesa, Elmsford, N. Y., youngster, for the last qualifying position early this morning, Johnny Brawner, of Columbia Country Club, the District's lone hope in the national amateur tournament, was eliminated in his first round match by 5 and 3, at the hands of Ross Somerville, four times Canadian champion.

Brawner, who shot a 73 yesterday, made an heroic effort to stave off defeat after being 4 down to Somerville at the turn. His play from the tenth through the thirteenth was brilliant, as he flashed subpar golf to cut down the Canadian's lead. Then Brawner cracked as Somerville stroked the fourteenth and fifteenth in orthodox figures.

D. C. Boy Nervous At Start.

The District golfer appeared nervous as he started the match with Somerville, although halving the first hole in fives. It was the first time he had ever played in a national tournament.

In the play-off with Turnesa, the District player went but one hole, winning with a four to his opponent's six. Brawner's iron was short of the green, while Turnesa, trapped, came out to within 15 feet of the hole. Brawner approached about 4 feet from the cup and rammed in his putt. Turnesa took three putts.

GEORGETOWN, G. W. AND C. U. SQUADS IN SCRIMMAGE DRILLS

Mills Drives Players at Hilltop

Russo Named Guard; Colonials Feature With Aerials.

Holbrook, of Cards, Hurt; Snyder Missing at Maryland.

THE moulding of a 1932 Georgetown University football team went ahead steadily yesterday when Coach Tom Mills sent his squad through its hardest workout of the training season, with a long session of scrimmaging.

As a whole the team performed in creditable fashion under fire, and a glimmer of hope is beginning to pervade the rocky Hilltop practice field, when once gloom over 1932 prospects held sway.

Gildo Russo, 205-pounder, was definitely placed in a guard's position yesterday. The 1931 Freshman has shown first class form since joining camp, and Hoya experts are predicting a long reign for him in the post he has won.

Tom Carolan and Ed Sawaya, missing end and tackle, are expected in camp today, completing the squad.

Old Man Injury, who was kicked out of George Washington's football camp yesterday, moved into Brookland Stadium later in the day and in no time Catholic University's football squad produced its first casualty—a torn ligament in the brawny leg of Irvine Holbrook, 200-pound guard, who learned his football at Gonzaga.

The Cardinal squad, in which there is more talent than C. U. has had in the past 10 years, went into hard work yesterday for the first time. There was an hour of scrimmaging, at the conclusion of which Coach Dutch Bergman expressed satisfaction with the blocking and defensive work of the team.

Three full teams, with frequent substitutions, saw action. It was difficult to choose the first squad.

Bob Snyder, the Hagerstown (Md.) boy, who is a regular on Maryland's University football, basket ball and lacrosse teams, has failed to put in an appearance at the grid training camp, and there is a touch of gloom at College Park in three coaching departments.

Snyder is a 168-pound half back. Coach Curley Byrd was counting on him heavily this year to help fill up the numerous gaps left in the Terrapin team by the graduations of regulars.

Byrd will send his squad through their briskest workout of the training season this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, with really honest work scheduled. It will give him his first real line on the 1932 prospects, which at this moment are not especially bright.

Camp Letts, Md., Sept. 14.—Today was a banner day in this verdant fortress of George Washington University football—nobody was hurt. The injuries which have dogged the team since the start of active scrimmage work suddenly ceased to be, as the four teams waged one of the most satisfactory drills of the training season.

The highlight of today's drill was the work of the first team in the last twenty minutes of their scrimmaging against the freshmen, when Johnnie Fenlon, sterling quarter back, unleashed George Washington's potent forward pass attack into the sure-catch arms of Capt. Wayne Chambers and Fred Mulvey and found that the Colonial aerial offense was as good as ever.

Fully recovered from influenza and a bruised head, respectively, Mulvey and Chambers speared the beautiful passes of Fenlon almost without trouble in the midst of weaving freshmen to provide large gains for the varsity.

JOE AND ASBESTOS

(Watch Sunday's Post for New Secret Code) —By Ken Kling

Seths Ballot was scratched again yesterday for the ninth straight time. This is turning out to be an endurance test, but let the stable keep scratching him. The boys will keep picking him. The bank rolls remain the same, Asbestos, $24.68; Joe, $133.47.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: LINCOLN FIELDS, CHICAGO, SEPT. 14.

Managed to give you a couple of winners today and many others in the money, still that amounts to little. There's only one answer and you are sure to get it if you try to beat this circuit.

The jockeys as a rule are not worthy of the name, many bush jocks appearing on the board for each race. The horses, as you can see, are lacking in class and form is at a discount. Be patient, old top, they will soon be off at the 'Graw.

If you can't wait, try Smitty's, the barber's, new system. He called it the "seven-dollar system." The idea is to get seven dollars winner each day and quit. It would be great if it would work, however. He has never been able to quit, due to the fact that he can't get the seven dollars. He has a lot of company, too. Yours, BILL.

FIRST RACE—Here are our "maidens" again. CHAT EAGLE, IL TROVATORE and MISSIE seem as good as any.

SECOND RACE—NUSAKAN may forget to stop. MARTY FLYNN is the contender. INFINITY for what's left.

THIRD RACE—HUEU is better than rated. MISS MELODY and MONK'S DUDE for place and show.

FOURTH RACE—FLYING, on recent form, is "in." ELIZABETH FOX is showing a return to form. PLUCKY GIRL should show.

FIFTH RACE—JIMMY MORAN should grab this heat. PRINCE HOTSPUR and MERRILY ON for the balance.

SIXTH RACE—CHIP, SCIMITAR and GALLAHAD are evenly matched. I like them in the order named.

SEVENTH RACE—CHUM should repeat his last winning effort. SEARINGTON and QUIBBLER for the balance of the purse.

EIGHTH RACE—It is a toss-up. I like BILLY CHAMP, DEEMSTER and LOW GEAR.

Yanks Beat Chisox, 3-2; Stars Take Rest

Chicago, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—Joe McCarthy, who won a National League pennant in Chicago a couple of years ago, brought his new American League champions, the New York Yankees, here today and managed to escape the deluge of congratulations long enough to lead them to a 3-to-2 victory over the White Sox.

Walter Brown, making his second appearance as a starting pitcher, recorded his second victory, outlasting Ted Lyons and Urban Faber. Up to the ninth he gave only six hits.

Girl Plays for Celtics Against St. Joe Team

Evelyn Lynch, rated the best girl baseball player ever developed here, will play with the St. Mary's Celtics when they meet St. Joseph's Athletic Club Friday at Griffith Stadium in a game arranged for the benefit of Harry Hall, long a sandlot figure here, who is ill.

Miss Lynch used to play with the old Linworth Nine and often proved herself capable of holding her own in the best of male competition. She plays infield and outfield with equal skill, and has played on the same team with Hall in past years.

Miss Lynch called the manager of the St. Mary's Celtics yesterday and offered to play in the benefit game, and her offer was speedily accepted.

Seven Games Listed For St. John's Eleven

St. John's has arranged its football schedule for the year, through the work this week of its new coach, Jack Dunn.

Central High will be met in the first game of the season, September 27, at Central, followed by October 1, Mount St. Joseph's at Baltimore; October 15, Calvert Hall, at Baltimore; October 28, Alexandria, home; November 11, Gonzaga, home, and November 18, Georgetown Prep, home.

Pilots Triumph, 9 to 5; McDonald, Suttles Star

The Pilots last night defeated the Detroit Clowns in a well-played game at Griffith Stadium, 9-5, although outhit by the visitors. Manager McDonald pitched a masterful game, while "Mule" Suttles favored the fans with a home run in the fifth which scored O'Bryant and Creacy ahead of him.

The Pilots will meet the "House of David" nine at the stadium Friday evening at 8:30.

Opening of Portner's Delayed Till Sept. 26

The opening of Portner's Arena, Alexandria's boxing abattoir, was put back another week, from September 19 to September 26, last night by Matchmaker Mann, who received word that Joe Banovic, who was to meet Sam Weiss in the feature bout, had cracked his hand while applying them to the sturdy jaw of Max Schmeling, in an exhibition bout.

The entire card for Monday was demobilized.

For the opening of the arena, September 26, Mann will present Benny Schwartz, Baltimore bantam, against Frankie de Angelo, local Italian glove swinger. It will be a 10 rounder. De Angelo yesterday agreed to make 120 pounds at 2 o'clock in the afternoon before the fight and no more than 2 pounds heavier that night.

GRID DRILL TONIGHT.

The Mercury unlimited football team will practice tonight at 7:30 at Sixth and B streets southwest. All members of last year's team and any new candidates are asked to report.

St. Louis, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—The Philadelphia Athletics smashed out eight runs, including a homer by Dykes, in the ninth today to break a tie and give the Athletics a 13 to 6 triumph over St. Louis. A home run by Goslin had evened the count in the sixth.

There were two out and the bases were loaded when Dykes hit his circuit clout. Four more runs were added on a double by Freitas, Bishop's single, a triple by Haas, Cochrane's double and Simmons' two-bagger.

Earlier in the game Burns and Cochrane knocked home runs.

Braves Beat Pirates, 5-2; Triple Play Helps

Boston, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—The Braves executed the first triple play made in Boston in several years today, while taking the second straight game of the final series with the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5 to 2.

The "grand slam" came in the fifth inning. Lloyd Waner opened with a single to center and his brother, Paul, hit safely to right, bringing up Comorosky. He hit a hard smash over second which Bill Urbanski nailed with a running catch. Urbanski touched second to double up Lloyd and his throw to first base caught Paul off that bag.

Bobby Brown, the Braves' young right-hander, pitched his fourteenth victory of the season.

Stock Decline Gains Speed In Spite of Short Rallies

Volume of Trading Drops to 3,252,854 Shares in 3.6-Point Loss.

New York, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—Stocks broke into new low ground for the current reaction today, accompanying a 2 cent drop in wheat.

Short covering prompted by better electric power figures and a small gain in steel production gave leading issues a moderate lift in the morning, but this advance was very leisurely and the market soon tired.

Selling which began to appear shortly after noon gained momentum, and in the last hour became active, pushing important stocks down 1 to 8 points. Approximately 1,200,000 shares changed hands in the final fifty minutes, bringing aggregate volume to 3,252,854 shares.

Farm implement equities broke sharply, Case losing 8¼ net and International Harvester more than 5. Offerings, however, were general and such favorites as U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Consolidated Gas, North American, Westinghouse, American Telephone, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, Southern Pacific and American Can reacted from nearly 3 to more than 4 points. In many instances yesterday's minimums were violated.

Wall street was somewhat at a loss to explain the setback. Whereas the market a fortnight ago was eagerly looking for favorable straws in the business wind, it appeared to get but feeble support from today's offering.

THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

What the Stock Market Did

	Wed.	Tues.
Number of advances	126	67
Number of declines	504	645
Stocks unchanged	117	91
Total issues traded	747	803

Stocks.

Declines gained speed in a lighter turnover of 3,252,854 shares. The rate of loss increased to 3.6 points. Wall street was unable to explain drop, except to point out that business had not backed the rise in shares.

Bonds.

The market dropped two-tenths lower after a valiant battle to rise. The trading volume declined to $10,224,000.

Curb.

A late rally was nipped by a severe relapse, and sales dropped to 440,000 shares. Utilities failed to sustain former bullish tendencies.

Wheat.

Values sank almost 2 cents at close under selling pressure. At one time the loss per bushel was 3 cents. European bargaining for 50,000,000 bushels of wheat was reported.

Cotton.

An early advance of nearly $1.25 per bale was followed by $2.75 drop, representing the lowest level in the present downward movement.

BONDS SINK LOWER AFTER HARD BATTLE

Loss Trimmed by Gains to Two-Tenths in Sale of $10,224,000.

New York, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—The bond market made a valiant effort at recovery today, but a last-minute burst of selling transformed most of the hard-earned gains into losses.

Until the final hour trading generally verged on dullness, with most of the previously depressed issues showing rallying tendencies. The speculative rails suffered a late relapse, however, and the remainder of the list eased sympathetically.

Sales totaled only $10,224,000, par value, and the average for 60 corporate securities was off two-tenths of a point.

Most categories displayed early resistance. The market was moderately cheered by a substantial increase in electric power output for the week ended September 10.

The most active of the speculative railway bonds, which recorded losses of 1 to 3 or more points after earlier rallies, included Allegheny Corporation 5s, Baltimore & Ohio 4½s, St. Paul 5s, Chicago & Northwestern 4¾s, Erie 5s and Missouri Pacific 5s. Most of the higher-grade carriers held to a steady position.

While industrials were uncertain, moderate advances were retained by Armour & Co. 5½s, Chile Copper 5s, Texas Corporation 5s and Warner Bros. 6s. Rubber company loans were erratic.

German government bonds firmed and Berlin municipals improved. The Rhine-Westphalians also advanced and Kreuger & Toll 5s rallied for a gain of 1⅜ points. The Argentines reacted around a point and the Chileans were weak.

The United States Government section was fractionally firmer.

Electric Power Output Rate Of Week Best Since March

New York, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—Electric power output last week made the best comparison with 1931 of any week since last March, the weekly tabulation of the National Electric Light Association showed today.

Production totaled 1,443,977,000 kilowatt hours for the week ended September 10, which, owing to the Labor Day holiday, was a substantial drop from the 1,582,267,000 kilowatt hours reported in the preceding week.

That week, however, was 10.4 per cent under 1931, and the preceding week, 12.3. Labor Day occurred in the corresponding week of last year, so the drop of only 8.7 per cent was construed favorably.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—A fair recovery from yesterday's depression was registered on the stock exchange due to the improvement in commodity prices. Oil shares were a feature on the rise in the price of petrol, while repurchases advanced quotations in other directions. Transatlantic issues were uncertain until the opening in Wall street and then hardened. The market closed steady.

Paris—Encouraged by the better tone in London, particularly in metal prices, and despite heaviness in Wall street, quotations on the bourse showed a better disposition. Most of yesterday's losses were recovered and the closing was firm.

Berlin—Prices on the boerse improved and the market closed firm.

CURB RALLY NIPPED BY HEAVIER LOSSES

Turnover in Trading Drops to 440,000 Shares; Aluminum Plunges.

New York, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—The curb market tried to rally for a time today, but suffered a severe relapse in the last hour. The turnover of 440,000 shares was 310,000 less than yesterday's large volume, but stocks were actively sold in the late trading.

Electric Bond and Share, recent bull favorite, was again sold in large volume, breaking more than 6 points to 24 3-8, which is about half of its recent high. Losses were less severe in other utilities, but American Superpower, United Light "A," and Niagara Hudson lost about a point, and American Gas and Electric, 2.

Aluminum Co. again plunged widely in the industrial group, closing at 53, a net loss of 10 3-4. This compares with the year's high of 90, and a low of 22. Deere held up relatively better than farm implements on the big board, losing little more than a point, although wheat dropped 2 cents a bushel.

Gulf was a soft spot in the oils, off 3 1-2, keeping within a couple of fraction, keeping within a couple of points of the year's high. In the investment trusts, Atlas lost nearly a point, and Mayflower Associates, 2.

Pig Iron Market Improves.

New York, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—It is reported that large users are showing more interest in the pig iron market.

Steel Ingot Production Is Increased One Point

New York, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—An improvement of one point in the steel ingot production ratio, bringing it to 15½ per cent of total capacity, was reported today by the Iron Age.

The principal gains were in Youngstown, Pittsburgh and Chicago districts, although these advances were partly offset by losses at Cleveland and Buffalo.

Canadian Wheat in Demand.

New York, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—Dow, Jones & Co. said that demand for Canadian Manitoba wheat today was the largest in several years.

WHEAT VALUES DROP ON SELLING DRIVES

Decline of 3 Cents Is Cut to Almost 2 at Close; Other Grains Are Off.

Chicago, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—Plunging downward 3 cents a bushel from an early high point, wheat today made a ragged finish at almost the bottom level reached.

Attention of traders during the late dealings became focused on uncertainties regarding an address delivered by Gov. Roosevelt this afternoon touching the agricultural situation. The contents of the address were not known until after grain trading had ended, and with many stop-loss selling orders dislodged the pit was almost bare of buying orders toward the last.

Wheat closed unsteady, 1⅞ to 2¼ cents under yesterday's finish; corn, ½ to 1 down; oats, unchanged to ⅛ to ¼ off, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to a rise of 7 cents.

Late hesitancy to purchase wheat was ascribed in various quarters to a general disposition to await definite knowledge regarding the agricultural policy sponsored by Gov. Roosevelt as the Democratic presidential candidate.

Selling Pressure Develops.

Broadening of selling pressure quickly developed when it was apparent that the market was without any aggressive buying support. Much of the selling appeared to have an Eastern origin, and was associated with breaks in securities and cotton.

Big export sales of North American wheat, about 2,000,000 bushels, chiefly Canadian, but said to include some hard winter wheat from the United States, did a good deal to lift values in the first half of the day. Cable advices of bargaining for 50,000,000 bushels of United States Farm Board wheat by a European cartel also were given widespread notice.

The market, however, failed to attract sustained new speculative demand in the face of a continued flood of wheat from rural points in Canada, as well as increased receipts in the American Northwest.

Corn and oats mainly followed wheat. Export business in white corn for immediate shipment was noted, but as a rule exports bids were 2 cents out of line. Provisions averaged higher, responsive to action of hog values.

COTTON PRICES DROP ON NEW CROP SALES

General Market Closes 18 to 24 Points Down; Bombay Buys.

New York, Sept. 14 (A.P.).—Cotton felt the weight of new crop offering today, and after an early advance of about $1.25 per bale values experienced an almost perpendicular decline of about $2.75 per bale, which carried the market to the lowest levels so far experienced on the present downward movement.

The December position closed at 7.30, a net loss of 21 points, while the general market closed steady but with net losses of 18 to 24 points. The opening was 16 to 21 points higher in response to unexpected firmness in the Liverpool market.

The South was a conspicuous seller throughout the day and the opinion was expressed that hedge selling against the new crop was the heaviest so far this season.

Selling Becomes Heavy.

Eventually the selling became very heavy and prices broke rapidly with little resistance.

The decline was not checked until near the close, when trade buying and covering resulted in a rally of about 10 points from the lowest.

The Census Bureau reported consumption of lint cotton in the United States during August at 402,601 bales compared with 278,656 in July and 425,030 in August last year.

Liverpool cabled that the early advance there had been due to local and Bombay buying and covering and said that there was an increased cloth demand from India. Exports today, 4,909, making 759,248 so far this season. Port receipts, 20,473. United States port stocks, 3,355,574.

Washington Surgeon Purchases Ilsley Farm

Special to The Washington Post.

Middleburg, Va., Sept. 14.—The Ilsley farm, near Middleburg, containing about 200 acres, has been purchased by Dr. Thomas E. Neill, Washington, D. C., surgeon, from the estate of the late Agnes Boeing Ilsley, who, with her maid, Mrs. Mina Buckner, was found brutally murdered in her cottage in Middleburg January 13.

The farm formerly belonged to Dr. Neill's father and was purchased from the Neill estate by Crouch Bros., who sold it to the late Spencer Ilsley shortly before his death, which occurred one year previous to his wife's tragic death. It is reported that Dr. Neill paid $50 per acre for the farm.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

THE ancient building, a miniature castle, in a public park in Lemmon, S. D., boasts an age of centuries, even though it was built only a few months ago. Material used in the building includes bones of prehistoric monsters, fragments of petrified trees, fossils of grass, ferns and other ancient material.

In Utah a condemned man has his choice between facing the firing squad and being hanged. Utah is the only State in the Union that has the firing squad as a means of execution. There are, in all, four kinds of execution in the United States—hanging, electrocution, lethal gas and the firing squad.

Colors give added realism to strange things and happenings illustrated by John Hix on a full page in The Sunday Post.

HOOVER WILL GREET WELFARE DELEGATES OF 29 GROUPS TODAY

Newton D. Baker, Leader of Relief Mobilization, Will Open Conference.

Nationally prominent finance and welfare leaders today will address the Welfare and Relief Mobilization Conference of 1932.

President Hoover will meet with the delegates at 10 o'clock this morning at the White House and deliver a charge to them of "Citizens' Responsibility for Human Welfare." The conferees will then go to the Mayflower Hotel, where all sessions of the meeting will be held.

Newton D. Baker, chairman of the National Citizens Committee of the Welfare and Relief Mobilization, will open the conference at the Mayflower with a response to the President's charge.

Baker's Statement.

"The conference here," Mr. Baker said yesterday, "will start the informative campaign which the 29 social service organizations behind the mobilization have planned for the fall and winter months. It is hoped that this conference will stimulate communities in attacking their welfare and relief problems and so encourage them that the funds needed to carry on necessary social service projects will be raised. If each community can solve its own welfare and relief needs this winter, it will go a long way toward restoring national confidence and aiding business recovery."

Speakers at the luncheon and afternoon sessions of the conference will include J. Herbert Case, chairman of the New York Federal Reserve Bank; Atlee Pomerene, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation; Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Strategy Is Studied.

During the afternoon F. R. Kellogg, first vice president of the Association of Community Chests and Councils, will speak on "Strategy of Local Campaigns and National Reinforcement for the Fall in View of Special Problems in Money Raising."

At the evening session, beginning with a dinner in the ballroom of the Mayflower, Mr. Baker will speak, as will Harvey D. Gibson, president of the Manufacturers Trust Co. of New York; Fred Eiske, of Indianapolis, and Joseph Scott, president of the Community Chest of Los Angeles.

Vandals Strip Many Lawns of Blooms To Provide Stock for New Enterprise

The Tenth Precinct front last night resembled a flower store front after police had unloaded more than $200 worth of shrubbery stolen in the Northwest section Tuesday night. Mrs. Jennie Paxton, 3501 New Hampshire avenue, points out one of her plants to Policeman J. B. Patton, whose work resulted in the return of the plants and the arrest of three negroes charged with the robbery.

VETERAN OF CIRCUS ISSUES INVITATION

Great - Grandmother Hunt Bids Contemporaries to Be Her Guests.

Greetings, great-grandmothers who think time is creeping up on you. Grandma Hunt, a great-grandmother, 78 years young, invites you through The Washington Post to come out to her show—Hunt's Three Ring Circus.

Grandma Hunt is as active and optimistic today as many a good many years her junior. She thinks circus life is responsible. And she wants to meet other great-grandmothers and talk to them.

A special section will be reserved for great-grandmothers at the performances today and tomorrow at both matinee and evening shows.

One hundred and sixty-five strong, the combined children of St. Vincent's School and St. Joseph's Home and School last night agreed that they had a bang-up time yesterday afternoon.

The children took in Hunt's Circus as guests of The Post. The Kiwanis Club, of Washington, provided transportation and saw that the youngsters had plenty of peanuts to munch as the circus spectacle was spread before them.

This afternoon children of the German Orphanage on Good Hope road southeast will attend the matinee performance of the Hunt show, which takes its stand at Massachusetts avenue and Eighteenth street southeast. A large group of Post carrier boys will also be on hand. The Rotary Club is taking care of transporting the orphans and will provide them with peanuts.

Wine Bricks Bring Indictment of Two

Grand Jury Acts on Raid Upon Store Last Winter; Nine Counts Listed.

Arrested last winter in a police raid on an alleged wine brick store, William Golway and Ira Thorp Byram, jr., yesterday were indicted by the District grand jury for alleged possession of wine bricks and other paraphernalia intended for the illicit manufacture of liquor.

The men, arrested February 24, were charged in an indictment that contained nine counts. The first eight counts charged them with possession of wine bricks on various occasions, and the ninth count accused them of having a large quantity of grape bricks, concentrates, malt and malt syrups, flavoring, labels and the like.

All of these, the grand jury declared, were intended to be used in violation of the prohibition laws.

Princess Erdlitz to Sing.

Princess Va-les-ta Erdlitz will be heard in a program of songs at 8 o'clock tonight at the Epiphany Home, 1221 Massachusetts avenue northwest.

Police Recover Strange Loot and Three Men Are Accused of Theft.

Guns and nightsticks were discarded by police of the Tenth Precinct last night and, by order of the commanding officer, sprinkling cans and hose were issued to the personnel.

The entire station forced turned florists. It all began when two patrol loads of flowers and shrubbery, uprooted from the lawns of scores of residents throughout the section, were recovered and brought to the station.

Early yesterday morning calls began pouring in from irate citizens. Each one reported that all flowers, small trees and shrubbery were missing from yards and gardens and front lawns had been wrecked by vandals, who apparently visited the neighborhood Tuesday night.

Astonished home owners along upper New Hampshire avenue, just east of Georgia avenue, awakened to find their yards and flower boxes devoid of growing greens, which had been so carefully watered and pruned the night before.

When the flood of calls swamped the Tenth Precinct, Private J. F. Patton was assigned to investigate. Later in the day he learned that a number of garden tools had been stolen from the home of Bennett Wilkerson, 4120 Seventh street northwest.

Mr. Wilkerson said he had engaged three colored men to do some landscaping on his yard. The men, he said, promised to return and finish their work. The tools were missing when their labors were finished Tuesday night.

Policeman Patton decided to wait and ask the trio a few questions. When they arrived he promptly marched them to the police station.

Several hours' questioning brought results. The men, Patton learned, had recently organized a landscape gardening company. They were badly in need of material to start business, Patton declared, so decided to help themselves.

The policeman was taken to a lot near the home of one of the men. There, piled high, was found the missing shrubbery.

Valued at more than $200, the greens were brought to the station house, where at a late hour last night tired policemen were applying water to keep them fresh until claimed.

The prisoners said they are George Washington Davis, 40 years old, of 2 Woodburn place northwest; his brother, William Henry Davis, 42 years old, of 909 Barry place northwest, and Alvin Queen, 30 years old, of 1342 W street northwest.

New Merchants' Group Addressed by Bollmer

M. R. Bollmer, of the Federation of Business Men's Associations, addressed the third meeting of the new Macomb Street and Wisconsin Avenue Business Men's Association, held last night at 3715 Macomb street northwest. M. P. Freeman, president of the association, presided.

A resolution was adopted to the effect that the organization will hold its meetings the first and third Wednesdays of each month, and that all members coming into the association before the next meeting be made charter members. Officers elected were Ralph L. Simmons, second vice president, and Miss Constance Consolo, corresponding secretary.

C. U. TO REGISTER NEW CLASS TODAY

Reception Will Be Given to Freshmen Tonight at Gibbons Hall.

The wheels of education at Catholic University will begin to turn again this morning as the incoming class of approximately 150 freshmen assembles for registration at McMahon Hall, ready for the new term, which officially commences next Monday.

Following registration, the entire class will gather in Maloney Auditorium, where the roll will be called. The class will be welcomed by the Right Rev. Mgr. E. A. Pace, vice rector of the university.

A reception will be given the freshmen by the Right Rev. James H. Ryan, rector of the university, in Gibbons Hall reception room, tonight.

During the ensuing week, termed Freshman Week, the newcomers will hear lectures on university customs and regulations, will meet members of the faculty and will become acquainted with the campus and buildings. They will be required to take a number of achievement tests to enable the faculty board to advise them concerning their work, and placement tests so that they may be assigned to the proper classes and divisions in accordance with their previous training.

Monday night will bring Freshman Week to a close, when the senior class presidents will act as hosts at a reception and smoker in honor of the class of 1936 in Gibbons Hall.

R. L. Schreiner, Banker, Indicted

Embezzling by Brightwood Institution's Former Head Charged.

Raymond L. Schreiner, former president of the Bank of Brightwood, yesterday was indicted by the District grand jury for allegedly embezzling thousands of dollars from the bank.

The indictment specifically sets out thirteen alleged acts of embezzlement which total approximately $15,000. Schreiner, who arose from a minor position in the bank to that of head of the institution, resigned his position shortly after an examination of the bank was begun.

At his preliminary hearings he pleaded not guilty through his attorney, Harvey S. Cobb.

Bank Employe Indicted On Embezzling Count

Robert Feild, formerly employed as a utility man in the Anacostia Bank, was indicted for embezzlement by the grand jury yesterday.

Feild is alleged to have embezzled more than $6,000 from the bank.

ROPE, TAPE, GLOVES TRACED IN THEFT OF $61,000 IN JEWELRY

Police Learn That Salesman Victim Was Robbed on Two Prior Occasions.

A length of rope, a role of adhesive tape, a pair of white cotton gloves and some soiled wrapping paper were being traced by detectives yesterday as the only clews in the $61,000 jewel robbery Sunday night in which two salesmen were victimized at the Harrington Hotel.

Representatives of the company which insured the jewelry against theft, arrived here yesterday from New York to aid police in a search for the thieves. Benjamin M. Epstein, whose loss was estimated at about $60,000, had been robbed on two previous occasions, it was said.

In 1928 he was robbed of a large quantity of jewelry by a thief who bound him and used adhesive tape as a gag. Local police found a notice of the robber's escape from the penitentiary in Montgomery, Ala., and communicated with the Department of Justice, who informed them that the robber had been recaptured.

The local robbery was discovered by a maid when she was sent to clean a room, which had just been vacated by two men who had registered under the name of Blackburn and as brothers. They had left the hotel refusing to allow any one to aid them in carrying their baggage. Their room was found to contain seven empty jewelry cases, and the rope, tape and gloves. Epstein's brother reported his loss at $1,500.

Insurance Employe Is Indicted in Theft

The District grand jury yesterday indicted Jacob A. Kamerow, an insurance employe, on charges of embezzling several hundred dollars from Edward S. Brashears, an insurance broker. The indictment mentions six various dates on which Kamerow allegedly took money.

The dates and amounts were: October 14, 1931, $60.74; same date, $60.74; October 21, 1931, $75 (check); October 27, 1931, $57.52; November 31, 1931, $123.32, and December 2, 1931, $65.85.

Jury Indicts Four Alleged Yeggmen

Bedell and Three Others Accused of Looting Three Safes.

Four alleged "safe crackers" were indicted on three charges of housebreaking and larceny by the District grand jury yesterday. The men are William E. Bedell, William F. Cush, August Pagliocchini and James E. Grove.

They are charged with having broken open a safe in the warehouse of the M. E. Horton Co., 620 C street southwest, where they obtained $2,000 on July 11. The second charge relates to the "cracking" of a safe in the Carpel Corporation offices at 2155 Queens Chapel road northeast on August 3. At that time $2,000 was said to have been taken from the safe.

The third accusation is that on July 26 the four went to the Breyer Ice Cream Co. warehouse at 1850 Bladensburg road northeast, where they seized a night watchman, tied him up, and then looted the safe of stamps and $979. Bedell has figured in other cases. He was the object of a Nation-wide search following the attack upon a foreign diplomat here last year, and when he was apprehended in New York City, he fought extradition for months before he was formally brought back here.

St. Paul's to Celebrate Requiem Mass Saturday

Anniversary requiem mass will be celebrated at 9 a. m. Saturday in St. Paul's Catholic Church, Fifteenth and V streets northwest, in memory of the late Rev. William J. Carroll.

Father Carroll will be remembered by many Washington friends as assistant at St. Patrick's and St. Paul's, this city, and later as pastor of the Church of the Assumption, Congress Heights, D. C., and the mission at Oxon Hill, Md.

$50,000 Crash Damages Sought.

Two $25,000 suits yesterday were filed against Mr. and Mrs. William J Friedrich, of 545 Kentucky avenue southeast, in the District Supreme Court. They were filed by Attorneys Hubert G. King and Arthur J. Hilland on behalf of Lilian E. Hills, of the Miramir Apartments because of an automobile accident in which Miss Hills was seriously hurt. The accident occurred September 19, 1931.

RITCHIE AT BRIDGE OPENING

RITCHIE AND OTHER LEADERS DEDICATE NEW SLIGO BRIDGE

3,000 Attend Exercises as $70,000 Span Is Opened; Officials Lauded.

Political differences were laid aside yesterday while Gov. Albert C. Ritchie and prominent Maryland and District of Columbia officials dedicated Takoma Park's new $70,000 bridge over the Sligo Creek on Carroll avenue. Republicans and Democrats alike lauded the efforts of officials of both communities toward the realization of the ideal of a Greater Washington.

The exercises were held under auspices of the Takoma Park Chamber of Commerce and were attended by nearly 3,000 persons.

The exercises were opened by Gordon W. Bonnette, president of the Chamber of Commerce, who introduced the chairman, Dr. H. H. Votaw, after invocation by the Rev. R. Paul Schearrer, pastor of Takoma Presbyterian Church. The speakers were introduced by Dr. Votaw.

Says Many Benefited.

Gov. Ritchie in his address said good roads promote understanding and good feeling between sections and he was glad to be present and to dedicate the bridge as a part of the Maryland State roads system because of the large number of Maryland citizens who would be benefited.

He assured his audience he had always favored equitable and adequate appropriations for the Maryland suburbs so that they would compare favorably with Washington proper. He called attention to the fact that he had been instrumental in bringing about automobile reciprocity between Washington and Maryland to promote better feeling between residents of the two communities. He pledged his continued interest and support of the highway, school and park systems of suburban Montgomery and Prince Georges Counties.

Maj. Lee Also Speaks.

Maj. E. Brooke Lee, of the Maryland State Roads Commission, said the bridge stood in the middle of the general public improvement program authorized for the Takoma Park section by the county and State administration. He pointed out that the county already had spent $44,000 helping to widen Carroll avenue, main arterial highway of the town, and that the State had taken the avenue over for State maintenance.

With completion of the Avenel-White Oak road, also called the New Hampshire avenue route, Takoma will have another route to Baltimore, Maj. Lee said. He said the proposed plans for road, school and park improvements in the Takoma section will represent an outlay of approximately $1,500,000, to be accomplished by the State and county without increasing taxes.

Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, said the bridge is a monument to one case in which political promises have been put in concrete form.

Welcomed by Mayor.

Dr. Frederick L. Lewton, mayor of Takoma Park, welcomed the guests and urged subjunction of factional disputes to the development of Takoma Park. Lacy Shaw, president of the Montgomery County Commissioners, pointed out that campaign promises made by the Democratic organization in 1930 have been fulfilled now in the road and bridge program even though the organization had lost the town in the election.

The party then proceeded to the center of the bridge, where Gov. Ritchie and two Takoma girls, Miss Dorothy Skinner, of 49 Sycamore avenue, and Miss Marian Wildberg, of the Washington Sanitarium and Hospital, severed the tape which barred the bridge to permit the governor's car to pass over first.

Gov. Ritchie and the other officials present, who included the mayor and council of Takoma Park, the Montgomery County Commissioners, State Senator Robert G. Hilton, chamber officials, and Chief Engineer Irving C. Root, of the park and planning commission, then proceeded to the Washington Sanitarium and Hospital, where they were guests at dinner after a tour of the plant.

Wireless Hookup Arranged For President's Cup Regatta

Three Sets of Apparatus and Six Operatives Provided by Members of Washington Radio Club for Potomac Races Tomorrow and Saturday.

Constant wireless telephone communication between the judges' boat and the shore will be maintained during the President's Cup regatta in the Potomac tomorrow and Saturday through the efforts of the Washington Radio Club.

Members of the club have provided three sets of apparatus and six operators, according to Roy C. Corderman, of 4401 Leland street, Chevy Chase, president of the club. One of the sets will be on the Coast Guard boat carrying the judges, one will be at a boathouse in the Washington Channel, and the third will be at the Navy Yard where competing boats will stay between races.

The sets used will operate on five meters, and are the most modern short-wave sets available. The one on the Coast Guard cutter is owned by Richard F. Lane, of 7525 Morningside drive, who operates station W3BJA. The boathouse set is owned by Walter J. Swenson, 2043 Rosemont street northwest, station W3PN. The third set, which will be placed at the Navy Yard, is the property of Miss Elizabeth Vandonini, of 3633 Everett street, whose station is SW3CDQ. While transmitting tomorrow and Saturday, all three sets will operate under portable licenses which were granted yesterday.

Operators of the apparatus will be Mr. Lane; Woodward S. Williams, of 635 Dahlia street northwest, W3OZ; Elliott Valentine, of 3805 Kansas avenue northwest, 3AWS; Jules P. Bernd, of 6300 Connecticut avenue, Chevy Chase, W3BEJ; John Stetson, of 219 Rosemary street, Chevy Chase, W3CFP; and William Dunne, W3ASE. Mr. Corderman will supervise the transmission on Saturday, while tomorrow Harry Strang, of 6151 Thirty-first place northwest, W3IL, will supervise.

Judge Mattingly Is 44 Again And Ice Cream Is Plentiful

Two men entered the editorial offices of The Post yesterday afternoon. Each bore a gallon freezer of ice cream. All eyes turned toward the calendar. Sure enough it was September 14. Judge Robert Edgar Mattingly, dean of the District Police Court, was again celebrating his "forty-fourth birthday."

The judge apparently believes it is "more blessed to give than receive," for on each anniversary he hands out gallons of ice cream and asks that everyone join in the celebration. Court attaches, District employes and newspaper offces share alike when the veteran judge's birthday rolls around.

A notation on a card sent with Judge Mattingly's gift read "44 today." To watch him in action around Police Court it could be easily believed. But here's a little secret. Records show he was born in Washington September 14, 1871. He has been on the Police Court bench since 1919. Figure it out.

18-Hour Parking Law Is Ordered Enforced

A strict enforcement of the eighteen-hour parking limit and the regulations prohibiting the parking of commercial vehicles in front of private dwellings was ordered by Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Enforcement of the regulation, it was declared, would reduce the number of automobile thefts and aid movement of traffic in congested areas.

Former Richmond Police Clerk Held

Fraud Suspect Says Shot by Rumrunners Injured Foot.

George C. Mullins, 39, former chief clerk of the police department of Richmond, Va., was returned to that city by local detectives yesterday who arrested him on a warrant charging him with grand larceny from the police department while in office at the Virginia city.

The former clerk, his right foot encased in bandages, due to injuries which he said he suffered when he was "shanghaied" aboard a rum boat and shot when he attempted to escape, is said to have admitted the embezzlement, shortly before he left police headquarters here.

According to dispatches from Richmond, Mullins left the city on a 30-day furlough which he asked to have extended, and when this was denied, he failed to return. A checkup of his accounts revealed the larceny, it was said.

The pluck of Benjamin Zarin, 32-year-old taxicab driver, of 604 Irving street northwest, last night saved him from being robbed by two passengers.

Zarin said he was hailed by two colored men, and, as he drove near First and M street northeast, was suddenly struck on the head. He turned and grappled with the men, Zarin reported, and one of them fled. He held the other until police arrived. The man said he is William Jackson, of 66 L street northwest.
